Asquith, British Statesman.
Trade-Rat and Man.
Edison, Ford, for Hoover.

HODGE, Cal., Feb. 15.

HERBERT ASQUITH, called in his old age Lord Oxford and Asquith, now dead in England, represented in his life and work Britain's best type of statesman. Well educated, with high ideals, free from mean personal ambition, devoted entirely to his country's welfare, Asquith was one of a long line of able men that have built and maintained the British nation. Britain will mourn his death, and honor him as he deserves. Fortunate is that nation served by so many men of ability, and unselfish devotion.

ON THE Mojave desert, where this is written, the "trade rat," queer little man-like creature, collects all sorts of things useless to him. He brings odds and ends into your shack, taking other odds and ends away, hence his name.

HAVE you considered the collecting habits of your fellow man? The most powerful, at this moment, collect surplus millions of dollars, and think money in bank makes them great. It only makes them nervous.

OLD rulers collected dwarfs, half idiots, strange animals, and "jesters," often wiser than they. One of the richest Rothschilds collected all known varieties of fleas, including the one that bites the Arctic fox. That was not time wasted. Fleas carry the plague, science wants to know them.

FREDERICK THE GREAT'S father collected the tallest men he could find for his Potsdam regiment. Frederick collected victories, to flatter one kind of vanity, and collected great men, like Voltaire, about him, to flatter his intellectual vanity. Thousands of Americans collect "antiques," thus promoting an active modern industry—only the few choose with knowledge.

LIKE all human passions, however, collecting is necessary. The beaver and ant, unlike the trade rat, collect usefully. Some men collect knowledge, statistics, others fine works of art that inspire later generations to good work.

Even the collectors of dollars are useful, building up vast industrial

SENATE TO PROBE STRIKE

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—An investigation of conditions in the bituminous coal fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia was ordered today by the Senate.

The Senate refused to order an investigation of coal freight rates in connection with the proposed inquiry of conditions in the bituminous fields.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Immediate passage of his resolution calling for an investigation of the mine strike in the bituminous coal fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia, was asked in the Senate today by Senator Johnson (Rep.), of California.

The resolution won the support of Senator Reed (Rep.), Pennsylvania, who described the problem facing the bituminous industry as one of the most "insoluble" in the nation.

REED URGES ACTION

Senator Reed told the Senate that Pennsylvania was at "its wits ends" in the strike situation. He declared there were three miners for every job and three times as many mines as were needed to meet demands.

"You can't compel men to work who are on a strike," he said, and "you can't compel operators to pay wages that the market price of coal won't permit. If the Governor of Pennsylvania were a mint he could not cure this situation.

"There are too many miners, too many mines, the competition is severe from the southern states, the taxes are high and lastly the is the ever present problem of the freight rate structure."

Replying to Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, Senator Johnso said it was not his purpose "to stifle competition and transfer this distress

2nd Pgh. Vote Box Empty

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—A second ballot box has been found empty in the Senate's recount of ballots cast in Pennsylvania's 1926 senatorial election, it was announced today by the Waterman elections sub-committee.

The empty box was supposed to hold the ballots cast in the Tenth Distict of the Sixth Ward of Pittsburgh. The tally sheet showed that 131 ballots had been cast in the division, but all the ballots were missing. The first empty box was found in the Fourth Ward of Pittsburgh, with 105 ballots missing.

The representatives of Senator-elect William S. Vare, Republican, whose seat is being contested by William B. Wilson, Democrat, were to return to the recount today after having threatened to bolt. The Vare forces were angered when five missing ballots were located, carefully creased, beneath a table at which representatives of the Reed

2nd Dies Of Food Poison

Ptomaine poisoning, said to have been caused from eating fish, claimed the second victim here within 48 hours, at 6 o'clock this morning, when Mrs. Hilda Freseman, 47, of 720 Lockhart street, succumbed in her home a few hours after being stricken ill.

The case was reported to the coroner by I. Willison & Son, undertakers, 600 Cedar avenue. Dr M. H. Phillips, 614 Chestnut street, was the attending physician, according to the report.

As the report was recorded at the coroner's office, deputies were preparing records in the investigation of the death of Mrs. Mary Thaner, 60, of 404 James street, Verona, who died Tuesday morning from poisoning at the Pittsburgh Hospital. A report to the coroner said the poison came from tainted fish. Funeral services will be held tomorrow from St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Verona.

2 DEPUTIES FOUND SLAIN

Gone Week; Dead

By International News Service.

FOSTER, Ind., Feb. 16.—The bodies of the two missing deputies kidnaped by two prisoners more than a week ago, from Lafayette, Ind., were found upon a farm here this afternoon, bound hand and foot.

The bodies were discovered on the farm of Charles P. Abdill.

The hands and feet of both men had been tied. The bodies were badly decomposed. The deputies, John P. Grove and Wallace McClure, were taking two prisoners, Samuel Baxter and John Burns, to the State Reformatory at Pendleton in an automobile. Nothing had been heard of the four until today, when Sheriff Samuel Cole was notified to rush to the farm of Abdill, one-quarter of a mile north of the Dixie Highway.

The manner in which the two men met death is unknown, pending the arrival and investigation of Coroner Van V. Hamilton.

The men were bound with heavy ropes. From the appearance of the bodies it is believed they met death shortly after they started for the reformatory.

The bodies were covered with a blanket.

The automobile in which the deputies had started for Pendleton was discovered in a Decatur, Ill., garage. The car was bullet-riddled, indicating that the policemen had put up a desperate battle with the two criminals before they were killed.

No trace of the convicts has been found.

CLEAR OHIO SUSPECTS

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Fingerprints of two youths held here as suspect in connection with the disappearance of two Indiana deputies, do not check with those of John Burns and Samuel Baxter, the Indiana fugitives, authorities announced today.

Fingerprint comparisons were made by Capt. Bucey of the Wheeling (W. Va.) Police Department upon authorization of Indiana authorities.

Sheriff Hardesty said he would release the boys to Columbus police should the Columbus authorities want to prosecute them for auto theft. Otherwise the prisoners will be prosecuted here for discharging firearms. The machine in which the youths were riding when arrested was alleged to have been stolen in Columbus.

EDDIE FOY DIES IN HOTEL ROOM; HERO OF CHICAGO THEATER DISASTER

Risked His Life in Effort to Avert Panic in Iroquois Fire.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—When fire in the Iroquois Theater here killed hundreds, 24 years ago, Eddie Foy, who died today in Kansas City, was the last person to leave the stage.

Foy was appearing in "Mr. Bluebeard" when a gauzy bit of stage drapery caught fire during the bargain matinee on December 30, 1903. The flames shot out over the heads of the audience and into the gallery and in a moment a wild stampede for exits was under way, with the hoarse shouts of men and the screams of women and children mingling with the crackling of the flames.

HALTS STAMPEDE

Foy, the comedian, rushed to the front of the stage with the flames roaring above his head. As burning embers fell about him he pleaded with the audience not to give way to panic.

The comedian in his tights, smock and wig, stood, a grotesque figure amid the blazing scenery and his appearance apparently arrested for a moment the mad scramble for doors. He urged the orchestra to play and eight girls on the stage at his direction went on with a dance. Those on the stage, directed by Foy, continued to try to attract the attention of those hurrying for doors until the curtain was lowered, but before this could be done the flames had shot into the audience, killing hundreds by suffocation, burning and trampling.

When the fire started Foy entrusted his son, 6 years old, to the care of a stage hand, and when he at last left the stage, he rushed from the stage door, uncertain whether the lad had been carried to safety. He found the boy safe with the stage hand.

The Weather

Cloudy tonight and Friday, possibly rain Friday, with not much change in temperature. Lowest temperature tonight about 30 degrees.

Policeman Held in Death

Patrolman John Scanlon, of the South Thirteenth Street Police Station, was held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter today by a coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of Peter Wonchowsky, 35, of 142 South Twenty-fifth street.

Wonchowsky was shot by Scanlon on February 7, after the officer had been called to the home by Mrs. Wonchowsky, who reported that her husband was beating her. Scanlon said that he had fired in self-defense.

According to his testimony, Wonchowsky knocked him down, and then started to run, drawing a revolver as he fled. Scanlon, believing the man was about to stop and shoot, drew his own revolver, he said, and fired at the ground, the bullet glancing from the street and hitting Wonchowsky in the back.

A revolver, said to have been found on Wonchowsky, was exhibited at the inquest. Mrs. Mary Wonchowsky, the wife, testified that she did not believe her husband had a gun.

King of Stage Clowns Succumbs to Heart Attack in Kansas City.

By International News Service.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 16.—Eddie Foy, 71, one of the veterans of the American stage, died suddenly in his suite at the Baltimore Hotel here today. At his side were his wife and a bellboy. A coroner was called.

Foy appeared last night at the Orpheum Theater here in a singing and dancing sketch and seemed to be in the best of health before he retired at midnight.

"I will be an actor until I drop dead," were Foy's words in an interview late yesterday before he appeared for his last act.

He jokingly referred to a "feeling of sickness" which he declared "would soon wear off." After the performance of his sketch—"The Fallen Star"—he went to his hotel suite, pausing in the lobby to exchange greetings with a few friends.

HEART ATTACK CAUSE

Foy died following a heart attack, it was announced later from his suite after the coroner had made an examination.

Arising at 7:15 o'clock after an apparently restful night, the actor suddenly gasped for breath and complained about an uneasy feeling in the chest. The hotel physician was called and two hypodermics failed to relieve him. He died shortly before 9 o'clock.

Just before Foy died, Mrs. Foy called Hal Munnis, one of Foy's assistants in his vaudeville act. Munnis left the room shortly before the end came to summon medical aid.

Munnis declared the veteran actor played his role last night without any noticeable fatigue.

WINS BY A FIRE DEPT. (MOTORIZED)

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—A rousing letter from the Gallipolis (O.) Chamber of Commerce changed the tune in the convention of the Guild of Pipe Organ Pumpers in session here, and as one man the delegates swung to the Ohio city as their 1929 meeting place.

Up to that time the first assemblage of the guild in this country had been deadlocked between Gallipolis and Two Dot, Mont., (on the Yellowstone). Sixty-seven ballots had been taken.

Samuel Taylor Moore, of Springfield, Mass., author and toastmaster of the organization which counts among its members sons of clergymen, baseball players, artists, writers and newspapermen, led the victorious fight with a sonorous "33 votes for Gallipolis" on each ballot.

The guild is described as the only "non-profit, non-coupon sharing and non-essential service club of its kind in the world."

Just before the taking of the last ballot the letter from Hugh Wynne, secretary of the Gallipolis Chamber of Commerce, was read. The letter recited that Gallipolis was not only the center of culture of that portion of Ohio and the second largest center of brick manufacturing (artificially colored) in the country, but by 1929 the city would have a motorized fire apparatus Bess and Dan, the Gallipolis fire department's hay burners, would be retired to the Kiwanis horse farm on the outskirts of the city, the letter said.

The announcement rocked the convention and the 100 men rose as one to cast their vote for Gallipolis, the Two Dot backers being loudest in their choice.

Mr. Moore was elected permanent chairman of the organization and presented with a gold medal bearing crossed pump handles and the motto "pump for the wind is fleeting" as the convention broke up shouting "on to Gallipolis in 1929."

2 COAL COMPANIES READY TO ENTER GIANT CONSOLIDATION

BERTHA CONSUMERS' CHIEF O. K.'S REPORT

John H. Jones, president of the Bertha Consumers Company, confirmed today the report from New York that his company plans to enter a great merger of coal concerns operating in the Clarksburg, Morgantown and Fairmont districts of West Virginia.

Mr. Jones added that the Consolidated Fuel Company, in which Bertha Consumers is a heavy stockholder, plans to join a combination of operators in the Hazard (Ky.) district.

OTHER MERGERS PLANNED

Still other mergers are in prospect—one of 30 companies in the Southern West Virginia-Virginia field, one in Ohio and one in the Clearfield (Pa.) district.

"These mergers," said Mr. Jones, "have been made absolutely necessary by existing conditions in the coal industry. Coal is being sold at less than cost. The combinations will result in the closing of out-of-date or obsolete and high-cost mines and steadier operation of the more efficient and more profitable mines. This will make it possible to produce coal at lower cost and will assure greater continuity of employment. It will be beneficial to the miners as well as to the operators."

Consolidation of the smaller units in the coal industry into a comparatively few companies was urged by John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, in an interview here recently, as one way in which the problem of over-production of coal might be solved. It was also advocated in a recent magazine article by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis.

Mr. Jones said the merger in which the Bertha Consumers Company is to participate was to become effective as soon as companies with producing capacity of a total of 22,000,000 tons a year had agreed to join. That tonnage, he said, was equal to the combined output of any two companies last year.

MERGER SEEMS SURE

The merger was discussed yesterday at a meeting in the New York office of C. W. Watson, formerly United States senator from West Virginia, said Mr. Jones, and assurance was given that companies with combined capacity of 22,000,000 tons were ready to go ahead with the plan. Meetings in furtherance of the project will be held next week in Morgantown, Clarksburg and Fairmont. There is some expectation that by the time the new company, for which no name has been selected, is formed enough component companies will have assembled to give it a potential annual production of 30,000,000 tons.

The Hazard district merger, Jones said, would become effective as soon as companies with total output of 6,000,000 tons had agreed to join.

Mr. Jones is the only operator in the Pittsburgh district who attended the conference in Washington called by Secretary of Labor Davis in December in an effort to settle the coal strike.

25 CONCERNS IN LINE

Twenty-five companies are expected to enter the merger in which the Bertha Consumers' Company is to figure. Among the others which have approved the project are the Purse Glove Mining Company, Clark Coal and Coke Company, Delmar Coal Company, Consolidation Coal Company and the Hines interests. V. L. Highland, Republican national committeeman from West Virginia, is the prime mover in the project.

Thirty companies have agreed to join the merger in the Pocahontas and New River fields of Southern West Virginia and Virginia, and the appraisers already are at work. Isaac T. Mann, president of the Pocahontas Fuel Company, is chairman of the committee engineering the deal. Among the larger concerns involved are the Massachusetts Gas Company, American Coal Company, Gulf Smokeless Coal Company, Pond Creek Pocahontas Company, Berwind-White Coal Mining Company, General Coal Company, Diab Fork Coal Company and the Crozer Pocahontas Company.

Petitions Out for Morin

Politicians today were discussing the appearance in a half-dozen counties of nominating petitions for Congressman John M. Morin as a candidate for United States Senate.

It is pointed out that Morin himself would have to sign his formal affidavit of candidacy before the petitions, circulated from Harrisburg by friends, would become official.

Meanwhile, some political leaders look for a deal with Republican State Chairman W. L. Mellon through which Morin will decide not to run against Senator David A. Reed. The counties where the petitions are reported circulting are Blair, Center, Clinton, Erie, Lehigh, Luzerne, Montgomery and Schuylkill.

EDISON, celebrating his eighty-first birthday, with Firestone the tire man, for company, said, "the country needs Hoover for President. He is a real executive, a great engineer. Engineers are what we need, they build the country."

Edison's friends, Firestone and Henry Ford, are for Hoover. The three men among the leaders of a nation of engineers, industrialists and scientists naturally favor one of their kind.

In advocating the choice of Herbert Hoover, they support a man who has proved that he understands this country's problems, which are problems of industry, engineering and common sense. Mr. Hoover's candidacy, as Mr. Will Rogers wisely remarks, will let the country know whether a record of ability and accomplishment is an asset or a liability in America.

ONE of our admirals, supposed to have called Lindbergh's achievements "ninety-five per cent luck," says he was misunderstood. Lindbergh's "luck" was like that of Captain Paul Jones, and General Grant—a mixture of perseverance and brilliant courage.

THERE is reason to believe, unfortunately, that some of our Navy men, very comfortable on big battleships and afraid to fly, belittle real flying systematically, and discourage government aviation. For Uncle Sam, that is distinctly "unlucky."

COTTON fields of Arizona and California are menaced by the southern boll weevil and Mexican pink worm, according to Dr. Bartlett, Arizona's state entomologist. Itinerant cotton pickers, carrying pink worms and weevils with them, spread the cotton plague—as railroad trains formerly spread mosquitoes all over the nation. The mosquito flies only a few hundred feet from its birthplace, but trains provided safe, warm transportation.

Some day the itinerant picker danger will be ended by a perfected mechanical cotton picker, passing the picked cotton through rollers strong enough or hot enough to crush and destroy the weevils, worms and eggs.

Mrs. Freseman suffered no ill effects at the time, it was said. After the evening meal she was seized with severe nausea and head pains. Medical attention proved of no avail.

Relatives today scouted the official statement as to cause of death and expressed the opinion Mrs. Freseman may have succumbed from a cerebral hemorrhage. Mrs. Isengard had not been affected by eating the salmon, they said.

Dr. Phillips, who attended the woman twice, said the symptoms were those of ptomaine and he felt certain that was the cause of death. Mrs. Freseman lapsed into unconsciousness early today, from which she did not recover.

KING OF STAGE CLOWNS

the heart attack as angina pectoris.

By Associated Press.

A benefit performance for the Chicago Newsboys' Home in which he did a clog dance was Eddie Foy's stepping stone to the professional stage. Once there he continued to entertain American audiences for more than 50 years and thus made a record which few stage folks have ever equaled. He was only 15 when he offered to do his bit for the Chicago newsboys in 1869, but his number was so well received that numerous offers for professional engagements quickly came to him.

For several years, however, Mr. Foy continued to do his dancing in what might nowadays be termed cabarets. In 1878 he had an engagement with Cosmopolitan Vanities in Chicago and two years later, paired with a partner named Thompson, toured the Central West in blackface sketches, songs and acrobatic dances. After a season with Emerson's minstrels he returned to the variety circuit until 1884, having by that time played in nearly every city of importance in the United States.

TOURS COUNTRY

Mr. Foy's reputation as a versatile performer and comedian led to his engagement for a part in the Kelly and Mason company playing "The Tigers," with which he toured the country. For nearly 20 years thereafter he was in the casts of some of the most successful comedy productions, in many of which he was billed as the star. Among these were "Jack-in-the-Box," "Over the Garden Wall," "Ali Baba," "Sinbad, the Sailor," "Cinderella," "Bluebeard," "Off the Earth," "Robinson Crusoe," "The Strange Adventures of Miss Brown," and "Topsy Turvy," which had a run of 150 nights at the Herald Square Theater, New York.

Some of the later successes in which Mr. Foy played leading parts were "The Strollers," "Piff, Paff, Pouf," "The Earl and the Girl," "The Orchid," "Up and Down Broadway," "Mr. Hamlet of Broadway," "Over the River," and "Slumwhere in New York."

During the latter years of his career Mr. Foy devoted himself almost exclusively to the vaudeville circuits. He appeared for several seasons with his seven children, billed as "Eddie Foy and the Little Foys."

THRICE A WIDOWER

Eddie Foy, whose real name was Edwin Fitzgerald, was born in New York, March 9, 1854, the son of Richard and Ellen Hennessy Fitzgerald. He was thrice a widower, having married Rose Howland in 1879; Lola Sefton in 1886, and Madeline Merando in 1895. The first two were actresses and the third a famous danseuse from Italy. She was the mother of his seven children who had appeared on the stage with him.

In January, 1923, Mr. Foy married as his fourth wife Mrs. Marie Combe, a widow of 29, whose home was at Sadalia, Mo. She had never appeared on the stage, but after the wedding the comedian confided to friends, "I'll fix that."

Volunteering a reason for his marriage, Mr. Foy said:

"I don't intend to be alone in my old age. I see my children growing up and dawing away from me. I love children and I'm going to make my friend Dr. Coue proud of me."

Mr. Foy was playing at the Iroquois Theater, Chicago, when it was destroyed by fire December 30, 1903, and which resulted in the loss of 602 lives. The actor barely succeeded in saving himself from being one of the victims.

BANDIT GUNS DROP ONE IN BEAVER FALLS

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Feb. 16.—Bandits, trapped while in the act of holding up the Silk Service station at Sixth avenue and Twenty-second street here last night, shot their way out, robbed the place of $200 in cash, wounded H. V. Javens, one of the gasoline station attendants, and made their escape after a running battle in which bullets and buckshot shattered the windows of surrounding dwellings.

State police and the local authorities are following the trail of two men in roadster who were identified as bandits who robbed the same place on December 22 last and at the same time held up two other service stations and a grocery, getting more than $1,600.

One bandit appeared at the station early last night, and bought a gallon of gasoline, leaving a dollar bill with the remark that he would return later for his change. Javens related the incident to Frank Garvin, the proprietor, who became suspicious and concealed himself in the washroom, armed with a revolver and double-barreled shotgun.

The stranger soon returned in his car, which he left in the street with another man at the wheel. Drawing a revolver, he ordered Javens to walk into the washroom, which contains a cash register.

"Drop that gun," commanded Garvin, as he sprang from his place of concealment. Instantly pressing his revolver against Javens' stomach the robber pulled the trigger but the gun jammed. Almost at the same instant Garvin attempted to shoot, but his revolver also failed to discharge. Javens then knocked the weapon from the bandit's hand and leaped upon him.

A terrific battle followed. The bandit's outcries brought his confederate to his aid. The second man began shooting as soon as he entered the place and a bullet struck Javens in the right leg, toppling him over. Javens then yielded and told the men to "go ahead and take the money."

Seizing cash and checks from the cash drawer, the bandits pocketed the money, scattered the checks on the floor and ran to their car. Garvin started in pursuit, pumping buckshot after the retreating automobile. The bandits returned the fire, and in the fusillade windows in the home of Mrs. D. B. Jobe and surrounding dwellings were shattered.

State police and Beavey Valley motorcycle officers started in pursuit on all roads leading out of the city. Both bandits are said to be young men, neatly attired and of good address, and drove a new car.

from one coal field to another." He added that the action of "certain men in Pittsburgh one week ago," who contributed to the relief of miners' families showed "that something has already been accomplished."

(This reference was to the mine relief organization effected by leading Pittsburghers.)

NEELY, REED CLASH

Senator Neely, of West Vrginia, challenged a statement by Senator Reed that Pennsylvania coal mines were paying heavier freight rates on coal than the more southern coal states.

On the contrary, he said, "Pennsylvania and Ohio have had influence enough with the Interstate Commerce Commission," to get better rates on their westbound coal than West Virginia.

Neely indicated he would raise the question "Why Mr. Esch" of the Interstate Commerce Commission changed his vote in the August rate fixing when the Esch reappointment came up for confirmation by the Senate.

Senator Willis (Rep.), Ohio, held it was "indelicate" to interject matters "now pending before the Interstate Commerce Committee" into Senate debate.

ASSAILS WATSON

Senator Norris (Rep.), Nebraska, said the "inconsistency" of Senator Watson (Rep.), Indiana, would aid in adoption of the Johnson resolution.

"If we had had the leadership of the Indiana Senator yesterday we might have won our fight on the resolution then before the Senate, just as we are going to win today," he said.

"But yesterday he was opposed to the idea of having a Senate committee secure information necssary to legislation. To say he thinks it a good idea."

The resolution before the Senate yesterday was the Walsh measure for a Senate investigation of public utilities.

Senator Reed asked for a vote on his amendment to the resolution to provide for an inquiry into coal freight rates applying in the central bituminous fields.

The amendment was rejected by the Interstate Commerce Committee, with a recommendation that it be embodied in a separate resolution. Senator Reed modified his amendment to have the rate investigation made after the coal fields study had been completed, and a final report made.

An early vote on the resolution was forecast by Senator Johnson in obtaining an agreement to go ahead with its consideration while the alien property bill was held up temporarily.

BRAND PAY PROBE TOO PERSONAL

"How much do you spend each year for clothing? For food? For other things? What is your salary? What is your income from other sources?

Questions like these put to teachers in the public schools of Pittsburgh have aroused considerable comment and in many instances have caused resentment. The queries are part of a questionnaire sent to the teachers by the Citizens' Committee on Teachers' Salaries, headed by Marcus Aaron, president of the Pittsburgh Board of Education.

Dr. Charles Reitteil, of the University of Pittsburgh faculty, has been commissioned to make a study of teachers' salaries and is said to have compiled the questionnaire. Every teacher in the city was given one of the question blanks to fill out and send in to Dr. Reitteil. Yesterday was the last day for the blanks to be returned.

The chief objection to the questionnaire, according to a number of teachers, is that the questions in some particulars are too personal. For instance, the teachers resent being asked how much they are able to earn outside of the school. They resent this question and also object to being questioned on how much they spend for living.

The question blanks were sent to principals in the city grade and high schools and every teacher was expected to send in an answer. In many instances the teachers refused to answer queries they considered objectionable.

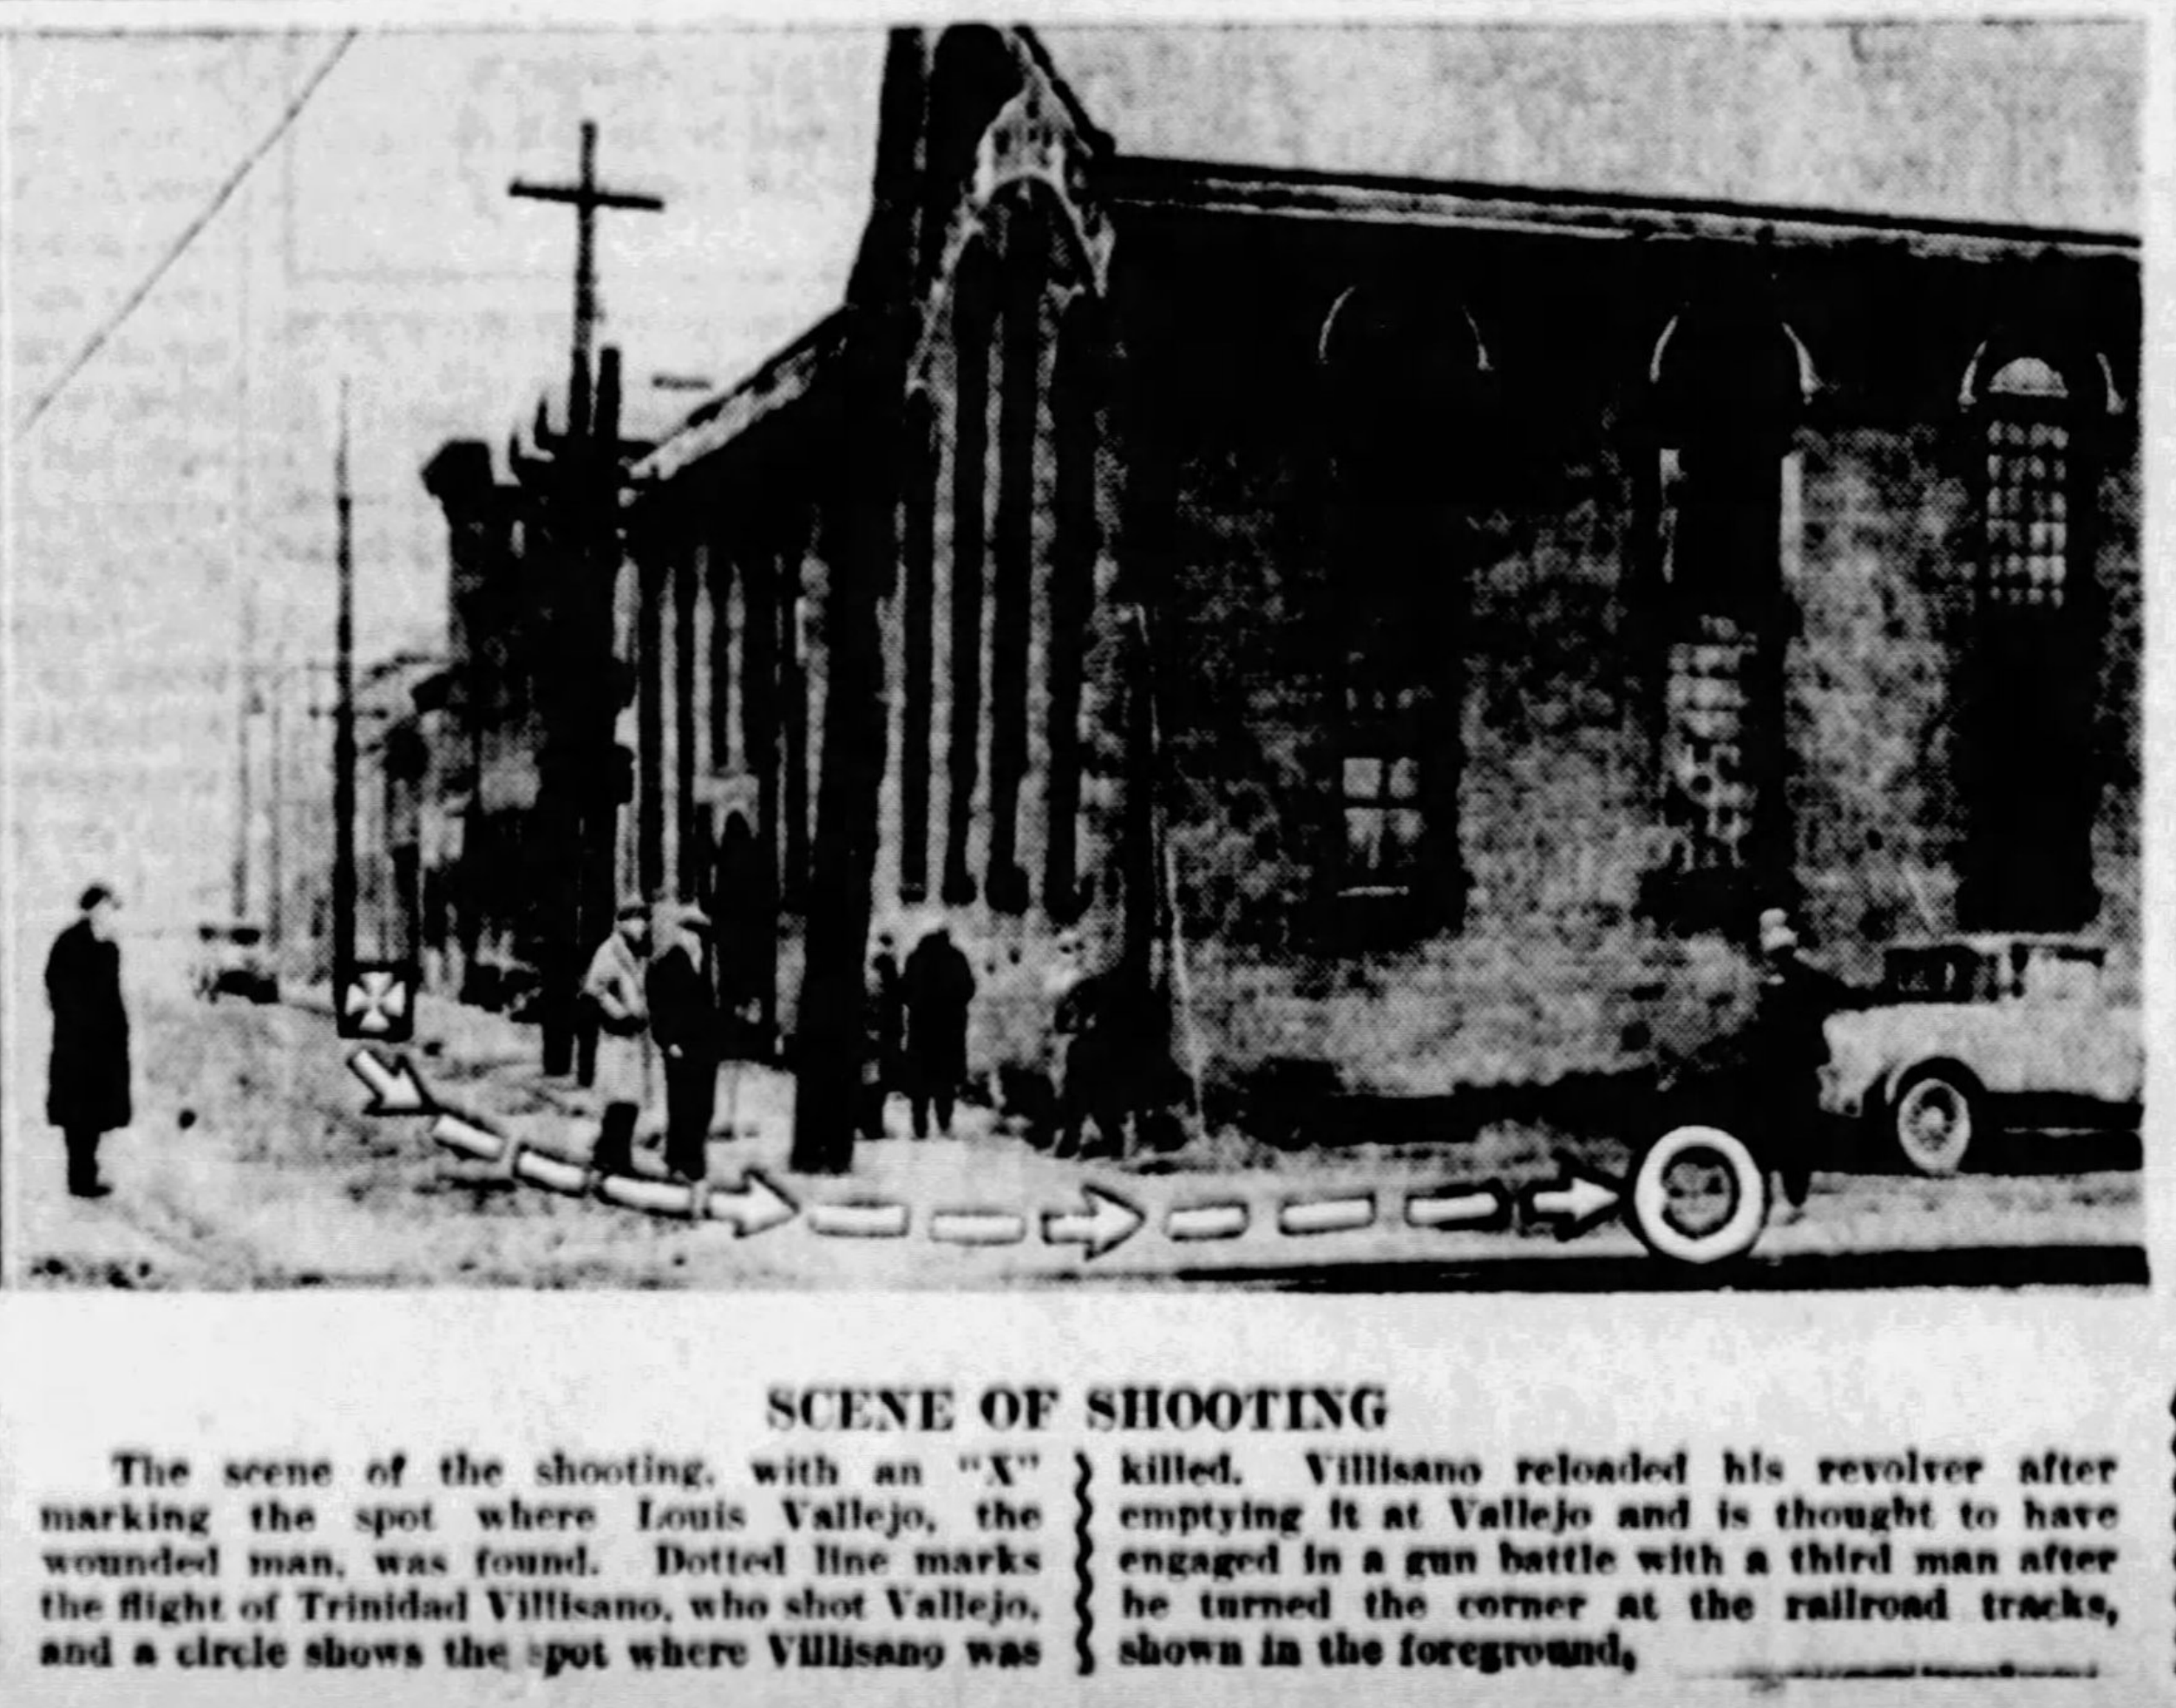
slush-fund committee were working. No charges were made against the Reed men, who were members of the Philadelphia committee of 70, and known to be friendly to Wilson's candidacy.

The Vare forces, however, secured a ruling that the Reed men should not examine any ballots, except in the presence of Vare supervisors. The five ballots were missed originally from the box, containing ballots of the Twenty-fifth District of Pittsburgh's Fifth Ward, and gave credence to Wilson's charges of fraud in that district. When the ballots were found beneath a table the fraud charges were withdrawn.

ONE DEAD, ONE SHOT, AS GIRL WATCHES

JENNIE GONZALES

Jennie Gonzales, aged 18, of 32 Bridge street, Sharpsburg, narrowly escaped injury in the mysterious shooting affray near her home in which one man was killed and another wounded.



SCENE OF SHOOTING

The scene of the shooting, with an "X" marking the spot where Louis Vallejo, the wounded man, was found. Dotted line marks the flight of Trinidad Villisano, who shot Vallejo, and a circle shows the spot where Villisano was killed. Villisano reloaded his revolver after emptying it at Vallejo and is thought to have engaged in a gun battle with a third man after he turned the corner at the railroad tracks, shown in the foreground.

MISSOURIAN TO START TOUR TOMORROW

By FRASER EDWARDS,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Senator James A. Reed of Missouri will leave the capital Friday to carry his cause as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination to the country in the old-fashioned American manner.

Some of the cities in which the brilliant Missourian will speak and the dates of the meetings remain to be settled, but Reed undoubtedly will go to the Pacific Coast and in all probability will make a swing through the Northwest.

Reed's decision to make the most extensive tour in a personal campaign for the presidency attempted in recent history was reached after a conference with Samuel W. Fordyce of St. Louis, manager of the Reed-for-President movement.

It means that Reed has abandoned the role of a receptive candidate conducting a rocking-chair campaign and that from now on he will be the hard-hitting advocate who has thrilled his followers for years.

The first stop on Reed's itinerary is Dallas, Tex., February 20. A monster mass meeting has been arranged by his followers in Texas, and arrangements already have been made to open Reed headquarters in the Lone Star state. Many Democratic leaders in Texas have boarded the Reed bandwagon and his managers make it plain that he will fight for the 40 delegates from Texas.

The next stop is in Tulsa, Okla., February 21, followed by a Democratic rally in Topeka, Kan., on Washington's birthday. Kansas is regarded as already in the Reed column. Denver is the next city to be invaded. From that point on the itinerary is still in the making, but arrangements are being made for speeches in New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and California.

Reed will make his campaign without a special train, a blare of trumpets or an entourage. In the words of his friends, "his campaign will be under his hat." He will meet the people, deliver his message and declare himself on the issues and leave the decision to the Democrats of the country.

Link G.O.P. Gift With Sinclair

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—A winding trail was followed today by the Senate Oil Committee to show that Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man, gave the Republican National Committee $75,000 of the Continental Trading Company's mysterious $3,080,000 Liberty bond fund to pay a 1920 campaign debt.

Two witnesses told the committee of selling $75,000 in Liberty bonds for the Empire Trust Company of New York. Many of them have since been traced as the original property of the Continental Company. The next step of the committee will be to prove these bonds were turned over to the bank by the Republican National Committee and that they represented a $75,000 gift to the Republican campaign fund by Sinclair.

TELLS OF BOND SALE

Joseph F. McMahon, an assistant cashier for Potter & Co., New York brokers, told of selling the bonds for the Empire Trust Company on November 30, 1923. He gave the numbers of the bonds handled. Many of these were found by committee agents to correspond with the numbers of bonds originally owned by the Continental Company.

McMahon told of paying $74,718.57 the proceeds of the sale, to the account of Senator T. Coleman Dupont (Rep.) of Delaware, then chairman of the board of the Empire Trust Company.

This testimony was only one link in trailing the Continental bonds.

'PATCHES' ON SPAN AIRED

Investigation of the concrete work on the Mt. Washington roadway bridge, which was criticized by James F. Malone, president of Council, yesterday, likely will be made, despite assurances of Chief Engineer Charles M. Reppert, of the Department of Public Works, and John D. Stevenson, chief bridge engineer of the city, that the work was "exceptionally good."

Reports of excessive "patch plastering" on the new bridge reached Council's ears, and for fear a recurrence of the Bigelow boulevard wall type of concrete would appear, Reppert was asked to investigate and make a report to the committee of Council which met yesterday.

Engineers described the patch plastering as in no way weakening the structure, rather being caused by the use of a more lasting mixture than one in which large quantities of water were used. Where the sand and cement do not fill the fissures between the stones, engineers explained, patching is a necessary and common custom.

BOULEVARD TO CLOSE

The Boulevard of the Allies will be closed from Seneca street to the Forbes street junction beginning Monday morning at 7 o'clock. This section probably will remain closed until about November 1, while important work is being done for the extension of the boulevard. From time to time different sections of the boulevard will be opened and closed, although Forbes street will remain open practically all that time.

RENEE DENNERT

All this rumpus about Renee Adoree, of the movies, being married to and divorced from one Julius Dennert, Reno, Nev., farmhand, is now explained. Dennert's wife, Renee, left him and went to California to enter the films just about the time Renee Adoree first flashed across the screen horizon. It was Dennert's idea that his wife had become Renee Adoree. The real wife was located yesterday in a Los Angeles laundry, admitted her identity and abolished a perfectly unnecessary and unwanted husband and past for Miss Adoree.

SEE COOK FOREST GOAL NEAR

Spurred by desire to have state guards in charge when the rhododendron is in blossom, to save the shrubbery from spoliation, the Cook Forest Association announced today that it would redouble its efforts to end, before the arrival of spring, its campaign for the purchase of the property from which it takes its name. There remains $17,885.48 to be raised.

This is the present status of the project: The owners of Cook Forest offer to sell it to the commonwealth for preservation as a park for $650,000. The Legislature has appropriated $450,000 for the purpose. The Cook Forest Association has collected $164,114.52 in cash. There remains to be collected $35,885.48, of which $18,000 has been pledged.

Recent contributors to the fund include the Somerset Sportsmen's Association, whose 38 members gave $76; the Daughters of the American Revolution of McKeesport, $15; the Flood Commission of Pittsburgh, $25; Wilmer M. Jacoby, $25; the Thursday Club of New Wilmington, $20, and a Titusville contributor of $1,000, whose name is withheld. There have been received 1,800 contributions of $10 or less.

"Forty thousand persons visited the Cook Forest last summer," said Thomas Liggett, secretary of the association, "and the number of visitors will be greater this year. To save the woods from depredation there should be guards. The Cook Forest Association is in no position to employ them, and it is hardly fair to ask A. W. Cook to shoulder the burden. It is desirable on that account that the property shall be turned over to the commonwealth and state employes placed in charge before the blossoms are out to tempt vandals. Guards are needed, also, to protect the forest from fire."

Mr. Liggett said the Cook Forest Association would not be dissolved after its present task is completed, but would devote itself to conservation work. It will undertake to "clarify" the Clarion River, which is almost a sewer in the neighborhood of Cook Forest because of the defilement it receives from paper mills up stream.

The construction of the Allegheny highway, the preservation of the forest known as Heart's Content, the planting of trees and the education of the people in matters of outdoors housekeeping, by which is meant keeping parks, forests and highways tidy, were mentioned as among the subjects to which the association would address itself.

The Cook Forest has an area of 7,234 acres. It lies in Forest, Clarion and Jefferson counties and has a frontage of seven miles on the Clarion River. It contains the largest stand of virgin white pine east of the Mississippi River.

SAW IN SLAYER'S VALENTINE

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Hack-saw blades concealed in valentines have been discovered in mail addressed to Charles P. (Country) Carey, who is in the death house of the Maryland penitentiary, it was learned today.

The valentine was a pasteboard model of a locomotive. When Warden Brady opened it he found a 10-inch saw, broken in half, glued to the inside under a strip of fancy paper. He immediately went to Carey's cell, where he found in the prisoner's pocket a similar saw, also broken in two pieces.

Carey, with Benjamin F. Spragins, is under death sentence for the murder last year of Alfred H. Walker, a guard at the penitentiary, and is awaiting a hearing by the Court of Appeals.

This Snake Grows Like Fish in Stories

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 16.—The snake story from Derry, near here, has grown from 16 inches to 16 feet. It was first reported that a 16-inch reptile had been found in the railroad yards there, but an investigation proved that it was a 16-foot constrictor, dead. It is believed that it escaped from a circus.

TAX FIGHT LOST BY HARMAR CO.

A petition of the Harmar Coal Company for a refund of $6,080 from Collector of Internal Revenue D. B. Heiner, which had been assessed and collected as capital stock excise taxes for the years 1921-22-23, each ending June 30, was denied in an opinion handed down yesterday by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson.

The coal company claimed exception because it was not engaged in its business of mining and other operations during the taxable years. The court, in its opinion, held that the tax was justly collected, as the company held directors' meeting and maintained its corporate existence.

LIBERTY BRIDGE EXTRAS O. K'D

Extras amounting to $5,000 for building conduit forms on the Liberty Bridge to cover electric wires underneath the span were approved by the County Commissioners today.

The forms were built after the span had been erected and the Commissioners wanted to know why they were built at so late a date. County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong asked if the building of the forms could not have been foreseen earlier and included in the bridge contract. Director Norman F. Brown, public works department, and engineers for the county controller, declared that it would have been impossible to have included the item when the contract was let.

WOMAN ATTACKED BY GUNMAN

ASSAILANT FLEES AFTER STRUGGLE

Brutally assaulted by a giant Negro who threatened her with a revolver after he had stopped her in Maurice street early this morning, Mrs. Emma Kreirmin, 40, of 115 Maurice street, is confined in her home under the care of a physician. The attack occurred in a vacant lot off Maurice street near the woman's home.

The Negro escaped. A good description of the Negro was given police.

Mrs. Kreirmin told police that the man, dressed in a dark suit and wearing a cap, stepped from behind a pole and thrust a revolver in her face.

She struggled with him, but was dragged into the lot where the attack occurred. The Negro ran, leaving the woman on the ground and, neighbors, hearing her cries, found her a short time later.

EVICTION SUITS COST MINERS $22,000

It cost the United Mine Workers of America approximately $22,000 to settle the claims of the Inland Collieries Company and the Consumers Coal Company against the union, it became known yesterday following the filing of the settlement action in the office of Prothonotary John Vogt.

The Inland Collieries Company received approximately $9,000 and the Consumers Coal Company $13,000, by adjusting 235 claims of various kinds against the union. These grew out of appeals taken by the union to the Superior Court, when bonds were filed by the union to prevent ejectments of strikers occupying company houses.

The basis of the union settlement was the payment of rent from the time appeals in ejectments were filed, until the decision of the court was handed down. It was stated that in some cases attempts were made to collect rent from miners who had been in arrears, but these payments were refused by the union.

"FREE PORTS" PLAN TO BE INVESTIGATED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Shipping Board and War Department engineers will make an investigation of American port facilities to determine if "free ports" should be established to encourage reshipments through American ports, it was announced.

Under the proposal, foreign products would be permitted to enter American ports and be reloaded on other vessels for foreign ports without paying customs duties.

Being kept in with a cold is no joke

THERE are two other people who don't think it's so funny either. His mother who has to stay home with him and take care of a cross and disappointed young son. And his teacher who has to help him catch up with the lessons he is going to miss.

The worst part of it is, he's one of maybe half a million children who are right now staying indoors for the very same reason. And a whole lot of them could avoid most of these colds if only their resistance was built up ahead of time. If your children seem to "catch everything that goes around", try giving them Nujol.

For Nujol not only prevents any excess of the body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but also aids in their removal. It certainly would do no harm, anyway, to try Nujol, would it?

Try Nujol for, say the next three months. Then compare their report cards with those they had last year. See how the absences from school have dropped—how the school marks have jumped. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey).

See for yourself if Nujol doesn't help build up healthy resistance to colds and resulting ills—as thousands of other mothers have discovered. Keep a bottle of Nujol handy and give it to them regularly. Contains absolutely no drugs or medicine. Be sure you get the genuine.

22 RUM SELLERS TRIED, FINED IN HALF HOUR

An exhibition in speed in the disposition of bootleg liquor suits was given at noon yesterday in the Federal District Court, when Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, with rapid fire assistance from Assistant United States District Attorney Ralph H. Smith, imposed fines on defendants at the rate of $111 per minute.

During a 25-minute period, from 12:05 p. m. to 12:30 p. m., fines aggregating $2,775 were imposed on 22 defendants and another was ordered committed to jail. Without any lost motion on the part of the government attorney the defendants were kept moving swiftly before the court, with their signed pleas to complaints charging violations of the national prohibition law.

With great rapidity Attorney Smith cited the charges in the complaints, the court was just as quick in passing the sentences and attorneys were not permitted to take any unnecessary time in defense of their clients. The fines collected at noon were further increased in the afternoon session when fines totaling $2,000 were imposed on six defendants in liquor cases.

Robert Kitzinger of Hays borough, who pleaded guilty to manufacturing 35 gallons of moonshine whisky, was sentenced 30 days to jail. Those fined were: Raymond Wesolowski, Abe Handelman, Steve Hegedic, and Peter Grano, $500 each; Charles Kosich, $300; W. S. Dunn and Harry Barron, $250 each; Harry Wasserman, Joe Levy, Anthony Grigaitis, Paul Osinesch, Thomas Greco and Harold S. Jones, $200 each; S. D. Bominsky, Christ Chorist and George Vauce, $50 each, and John Rossi, $25.

LINK G. O. P. GIFT

In 1924, the committee was told by Will Hays, then Republican national chairman, that Sinclair had given the Republicans $75,000. Shortly afterwards, Leon W. Baldwin, president of the Empire Trust Company, testified his bank had received $75,000 in 3½ per cent Liberty bonds from Hays as payment on a $100,000 debt. These were the bonds the committee traced today.

"An order was given by the Empire Trust Company to sell 75 3½ per cent bonds," said McMahon. "The bonds were sold to C. F. Childs & Co. for more than $74,000. The proceeds were deposited to the account of T. Coleman Dupont."

McMahon produced a letter written the Empire Trust Company by his company, telling of the sale and deposit.

"JUST AS USUAL"

"We acted as brokers for the Empire Trust Company," said McMahon.

"Why was the money deposited to T. C. Dupont's account?"

"I don't know—I think we had oral instructions to do that."

"It was entirely satisfactory to the Empire Trust Company?"

"Oh, yes sir."

"Did you handle other bonds for T. C. Dupont or the Empire Trust Company?"

"Yes, quite frequently for the Empire Trust Company."

"How often?"

"Almost every day for 10 years," said McMahon, "but not always in Liberty Bonds."

James Bernieri, an employe of C. F. Childs & Co., New York brokers, told of buying the bonds from Potter & Co. He gave the number of the bonds, which corresponded to McMahon's list.

Walsh read into the present record the testimony given the committee four years ago by Hays and Baldwin. Hays testified to getting $75,000 from Sinclair and applying it to the Empire Trust Company's debt. Hays said the gift was in cash.

The committee then adjourned, subject to a call by the chairman, Senator Nye (R.), of North Dakota.

EVER PRESSING ONWARD, BLAZING NEW TRAILS

"Institutions . . . like clocks, must be occasionally cleaned, and wound up, and set to true time", wrote Henry Ward Beecher. Here—in the new Gimbel store—are evidences on every side that this institution has been set to "true time".

We are making new paths, trying new ways, cultivating new faiths. It is the indomitable spirit of Youth. For, though seasoned be the guiding spirits of the Gimbel store, ever behind them flows a stream of youth, freshening and rejuvenating an organization determined to keep abreast of the times.

WCAE—GIMBEL BROTHERS STATION BROADCASTING THE HOOVER SENTINELS TONIGHT AT 8:30 P. M.

GIVEN ONLY $5 A WEEK, WIFE SUES

Virginia Lee Swanton, in her bill of particulars in divorce filed in Common Pleas Court against her husband, John J. Swanton, sets forth that when they lived in Washington, D. C., her husband pushed her against a door while she had their 4-year-old child in her arms and injured the child's arm. That when they lived in Avalon and Bellevue, the husband threw a broom at her, called her vulgar names, hit her with his fist and blackened her eye.

She also alleges that her husband was dictatorial and refused to permit her to have any voice in the management of her home, and that he selected her wearing apparel, decided what she should wear, when she should purchase it and what price she was to pay for it. She charges that although her husband earned $500 per month, he only allowed her $5 a week for incidental expenses, out of which she had to pay home linen laundering, the child's hair cutting and her husband's personal laundry, and that she had to render an account to him of money she spent.

She is now living at Elizabeth street, Avalon.

COUNTY HEADS, FUGASSI CLASH

Supt. John A. Fugassi, county road maintenance department, was rebuked yesterday by County Commissioners when they disapproved the superintendent's action in purchasing 237 tons of limestone without consulting them. McLaughlin Contracting Company submitted a bill for $570 for the stone.

The Commissioners could not recall letting a contract for such an item and summoned Fugassi to explain. The superintendent said that on completing a job on a road near Carnegie the contractor had the stone left over. Needing the material to finish a job his department was doing nearby, Fugassi said, he purchased the stone from the contractor below contract price.

"It was an emergency job," Fugassi said. "I intended to tell you about it, but it slipped my memory."

Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong said that the superintendent might have been justified in purchasing the stone for emergency, but his system was not a good one. "Hereafter, let us know before closing a deal in the future," said Commissioner Armstrong. The bill was ordered paid.

A. & P. BANQUETS ITS EMPLOYES

Fifteen hundred employes of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company made merry at the William Penn Hotel last night in an affair that was unusual in several respects. It was the second annual dinner-dance of the Pittsburgh units under the supervision of Vice President James Fitzsimmons, which include about 600 stores, two warehouses and offices.

A seven-course dinner was served, but there were no after-dinner speeches of any kind. The affair was handled with clock-like precision, but the guiding mechanism was withheld from view. A large and efficient committee was required to plan and carry out the program smoothly, but the names of its members were not disclosed.

The Managers' Benefit Association, composed of A. & P. store managers, and the Iona Social Club, which draws its membership from the company's office and warehouse force, arranged the entertainment. It was strictly a company affair. Employes were permitted to bring members of their immediate families as guests, but no "outsiders." This made for a degree of intimacy which it was felt could not have been attained in so large a gathering if there had been no restrictions as to the guests that might be invited.

The entire seventeenth floor of the William Penn was engaged for the affair, and special cloak rooms had to be set up in the lobby on the first floor as well, to accommodate the throng.

The dinner was served at 200 tables. The menu cards were unique, since they were in the form of the company's trade mark and served not only as bills of fare but also as dance programs. To prevent confusion in looking for partners for dancing it was arranged that women whose surnames began with the same initials should await their partners at tables marked with the letter in question.

Art Giles' Everglade Orchestra and Marty Schramm's Monte Carlo Orchestra played alternately from 8 o'clock until 1 a. m.

Helping boys to Learn what to do....

Allegheny County Council of the Boy Scouts of America

In medical schools all over this country there are young men whose interest in medicine was first aroused by the first-aid work they did as Boy Scouts.... In observatories are young astronemers whose love of the stars was first awakened as they tramped through country nights with some kindly scoutmaster.... In architecture there are rising young men who never knew they could plan or build until they helped to build some crude log cabin in a scout camp.... And so, in chemistry, in forestry, in electricity, in business and in hundreds of walks of modern life....

Scarcely any other single agency in this country has had so profound an effect in shaping and guiding the lives of the Men of Tomorrow as the Boy Scout movement. It is helping thousands of boys to do that most difficult of all things that boys must do.... that is, find their niche in life.

We at The Colonial Trust Company believe that the future of such an organization as this should be made certain. Therefore, we have established by a Declaration of Trust, recorded in the Office of the Recorder of Deeds in Allegheny County, a permanent Trust Fund for the Allegheny County Council, Boy Scouts of America that will enable the public to prepetuate this organization and its work beyond the chance of human failings.

Any person is privileged to deposit any sum of money in that trust fund; or any securities; or real estate. That money or property will be ably managed and invested. The income will be used, in perpetuity, or if you prefer, the principal in installments, to finance the work of the Boy Scouts in molding the lives and characters of the youth of Allegheny County.

You can put into that fund any sum you wish, large or small. You can put it there in lump sum, in installments; by bequest in a will; by life insurance; or by any other means.

And that trust fund will give you the means of participating in a work which will probably go on and on and on as long as young life matures.

Would you like to leave your influence for all time on such a work as this?

* * * * *

The trust fund arrangement now made available to the general public is the favorite method used by men and women of wealth to perpetutate their interest permanently in some movement they are interested in.

Cuticura Heals Itching Burning Salt Rheum

"My mother had salt rheum. It broke out on her hands, wrists, neck, face, under her arms and around her knees. It was in a rash and blisters, and was very painful, itching and burning like fire. "Other remedies were used but only temporary relief was given. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment so purchased some, which completely healed her." (Signed) Miss Cleo D. Henness, Box 116, W. Fulton, N. Y.

The Toughest Old Cough Can Now Be Stopped

Obstinate, lingering coughs,—the kind that hang on and hang on and rob a man of his sleep—the kind that makes him peevish and all worn out.

Those are the breed of coughs that prove that common sweet cough syrups are about as useful as a bottle of ginger pop.

The quickest and surest way to get rid of a persistent, contrary, die hard cough is to take a teaspoonful of Bronchuline Emulsion four times a day.

This REAL cough medicine is made to stop the old-timers—the tough ones—the obstinate ones—and it does it without any loss of time.

And, remember, there is no chloroform—no sugar—no dope in this grand cough medicine. It is a prescription for stubborn coughs and that's the kind it speedily conquers.

For ordinary coughs—two doses is usually enough. May's Drug Stores will gladly supply you, so will dealers everywhere.

EXPECT PLEAS TO SPEED ELECTION FRAUD TRIALS

UPHOLDS INTERVENTION

COL. HENRY STIMSON AND WIFE

Before sailing for his new post as governor-general of the Philippines, Col. Stimson vigorously defended the United States' policy in Nicaragua. He insisted Marines had been sent there at the earnest request of all factions, and predicted that this country would take any necessary measures to protect its interests in the Canal Zone, were they endangered by Central American disturbance. He was President Coolidge's special envoy to Nicaragua during the Sacasa rebellion.

FIRST SENTENCE IN 25 YEARS IMPOSED

Disposition of charges of wholesale frauds growing out of the September primary, involving nearly 200 election officials, is expected to be hastened by the speedy termination yesterday of the case against the board of the Twentieth District of the Tenth Ward, when four officials entered pleas of guilty on one count after their trial had started and Jacob Steine, 61, who acted as judge of election, was sentenced to jail for seven months by Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff. Sentence of Ex-Captain Charles Golden is listed for tomorrow.

It was planned to list about two election cases weekly for trial but there is a pronounced sentiment in court circles that pleas will be entered in a number of cases on grounds of neglect or failure to perform election duties by officials who claim they were not guilty of criminal intent.

First Assistant District Attorney Andrew T. Park, in charge of the election prosecutions, said the sentence yesterday was the first imposed in probably 25 years in a case of election fraud, the only other sentence in that time in connection with an election being imposed several years ago on a charge of stealing a ballot box.

Park issued this statement:

"The disposition just made of the case against the election board of the Twentieth District, Tenth Ward, indicates the attitude of the district attorney's office. It is insistent that those guilty of deliberate fraud or gross negligence be punished. It is not bent, however, upon sending to jail individuals who through coercion or ignorance of law have been led to irregularities at polling places, provided such persons render aid to this office in the prosecution of the responsible parties. We will welcome the assistance of innocent members of boards in bringing to justice the real offenders."

This statement was issued by Attorney William H. McNaugher, of the special committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association assisting in the prosecution:

"The Bar Association committee is altogether satisfied with the manner in which the district attorney's office and the court have disposed of the case against the election board. The responsible members have been given what under a plea of guilty amounts to a substantial sentence. The others are kept under the eye of the court for two years. The sentences serve notice on all election boards under indictment that in the future proper leniency will be shown where pleas of guilty are entered."

STEALS AUTO TO VISIT GIRL

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 16.—Because he wanted to see his girl, Harry Richter, 19, stole the auto of his former employer, drove to Altoona and on the return trip abandoned the car on the highway when it ran out of gas.

Police testified to all that when Richter was held for court on a larceny charge by Alderman J. E. Wallace.

According to testimony, Richter not only took the car from the garage, but bought gasoline there and charged it to the owner, Lloyd Martin.

ROB SALESMAN IN STORE

Looking up while he was unlacing a shoe of a customer who had entered the Douglas Shoe Company store, 417 East Ohio street, last night, George J. Smith, a salesman, stared into a revolver. The stranger commanded him to throw up his hands. Smith complied, after which the holdup man robbed him of $55 and then took $104 from the cash register. The robber ran from the store and escaped in an automobile in which an accomplice had been waiting.

AUTO CRASHES INTO SIGN

An automobile in a wild dash in East Ohio street today did a "fade-out" for a crowd of street witnesses when it crashed through a large billboard at Ravine street.

The machine was wrecked, but Carl Ristick, 18, of 2816 Wenger street, the driver, was unhurt. He was arrested, charged with reckless driving.

Two months ago, on the opposite side of the same corner, two men were killed when their car plunged into the dining room of Mrs. Pearl Feskon's saloon.

Defying Volstead Act, Ilse Marvenga Serves Beer To Students of Heidelberg

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

KATHI, the idol of Heidelberg, is studying Russian between the acts of "The Student Prince." There's an entire act in this most popular of operettas when she has almost nothing to do, and she has a Russian maid, so Ilse Marvenga, which is Kathi's real name, puts in the time acquiring another language. She knows only six, and seven is a sacred number—so she's studying Russian. Besides English she knows German, French, Italian, Spanish and Portuguese.

"Why does anyone learn Portuguese?" I asked her, "unless they wish to read Camoens or move to Brazil? What was your reason—and where did you learn it?"

"A woman doesn't need to have a reason," she said. "I just learned it because I like to learn languages—and I learned it in the most prosaic place, in the Berlitz school at Bremen, the city where I was born."

Miss Marvenga is a good friend of Captain Paul Koenig, the famous navigator who made the first submarine voyage to America, bringing a cargo of German dye-stuffs and medicines from Bremen to Baltimore during the early years of the war. She had some thrilling experiences herself, being in school at Lausanne, Switzerland, when war broke out. Her mother, who is now visiting her, started for Switzerland in an automobile to bring Ilse and her sister home. But they had not calculated on the shortage of gasoline, and found it necessary to buy benzine in small bottles at drug stores from village to village, in order to get to the Swiss border and back again to Bremen.

"We bought hundreds of bottles of benzine," said Miss Marvenga's mother. "And finally we got home. We could have walked home almost as easy."

Kathi, or Ilse, is a great walker. In fact, she is an all-round gymnast and athlete—a great admirer of Father Jahn, the patron saint of the Turners. Next week she'll be in Cincinnati, where the first American Turnverein was founded in 1848, and while there will lay a wreath on the monument of Father Jahn in Inwood Park. Over 2,000 Turners of Cincinnati, Covington, Newport, Norwood and Dayton will welcome her on that occasion. Jahn was the first man to start physical training on the Hasenheide in Berlin in 1811, and his monuments are all over the world. Cincinnati has a very imposing one.

Besides being a linguist and an athlete, Miss Marvenga is the most popular barmaid in the world, having sung the role of Kathi in "The Student Prince" 1,220 times. She originated the role at the first performance in Atlantic City, October 27, 1924. A few weeks later the operetta opened in New York and scored a tremendous hit. When the Boston company was launched a few months later, Miss Marvenga was sent to Boston to create the role there. When the London company was launched, she was sent to London to open the season there. When the western company was launched, she was ordered from London to San Francisco, and within 15 days she opened there and toured the entire western coast. She is the only barmaid in America who hasn't been put out of business by the Volstead act. She is the most vivacious soubret we have had since Lotta, but she has a voice—well, she sang in the operas of Lortzing, Offenbach and Mozart—in Bremen, Berlin, Munich, Vienna—before she came over here.

WOOER SLASHES WOMAN FOR BREAKING DATE

KNIFE WIELDER ESCAPES

Because she failed to keep an appointment last night, Mrs. Mary Doyle, 35, was slashed on the face with a penknife at Sixth avenue and Forbes street, police say, by the man who had chased her from her home at 1310 Forbes street. The cutting was witnessed by a score of pedestrians. The man escaped.

According to Patrolman M. J. Walsh, who removed Mrs. Doyle to the Allegheny General Hospital, the man was a boarder in the Doyle home, had fought with the woman because she failed to meet him at an appointed place and time. He then drew a knife, police say, and chased the woman from the house, along Forbes street for four blocks to Sixth avenue, where he overtook her.

Mrs. Doyle was cut three times on the face, the wounds requiring seven stitches. Leo Hirsch, 22, 1107 Bluff street, ran toward the struggling couple and frightened the man away. He ran up Shingiss street and outdistanced Hirsch. Patrolman Walsh arrived soon after the cutting and took the woman to the hospital.

Police are searching for Charles Wheeler.

Gave Nothing at Havana, So U.S. Won--Will

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 16.—See where the Pan-Amer. Conference is to break up next Monday. A lot of people feel discouraged that there was no more accomplished. But I tell you the United States did mighty well. They didn't give up anything, and any time we can attend a conference and come out as good as we went in, why we are ahead. They will quit holding conference the minute they find we are not going to give any more than any other nation. A conference is a place where countries meet and find out each other's shortcomings and form new dislikes for the new conference.

Turn Hair Dark With Sage Tea

By JEAN MACON

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

HOLDUP VICTIM NEAR DEATH

Beaten by three thugs with whom he fought when they attempted to rob him early today in Tokio street, near Fahnestock street, Robert Henderson, 42, of 6 Calistoga street, is in the Pittsburgh Hospital suffering several deep lacerations on the head. His condition is serious. An examination will be made today to determine the extent of his injuries.

The three highwaymen, after knocking Henderson to the street, evidently were frightened away, as they made no attempt to search his clothing as he lay in the street.

IF RHEUMATIC EAT NO SWEETS

Says glass of salts help to overcome Rheumatism acid.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry, avoid exposure, and above all, drink plenty of good water and avoid eating sweets of all kind.

Rheumatism is caused by body waste and acids resulting from food fermentation. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this waste and acids, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste matter, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus often ridding the blood of rheumatic poison.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

McKEESPORT TO TAKE OVER WATER COMPANY

East McKeesport borough is planning to take over the ownership of the East McKeesport Water Company, according to the provisions of an ordinance that already has passed two readings by Borough Council. This is done as a result of complaints from citizens that they were not being properly supplied with water, Borough Solicitor Francis Baker announced.

TEAR BOMBS SUBDUE SUSPECT IN SHOOTING

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 16.—Police used tear gas bombs to break down the barricade Joseph Keith, 45, of Park Hill, made of his home after he was suspected of having shot his housekeeper, Nore Eisenhuth, in the ankle. Keith was eventually escorted to the county jail.

Now! meal time is a happy event

"IT is all so wonderful, I can hardly believe my eyes. When I think how badly you used to feel—didn't want anything to eat—perhaps sometimes a little grouchy and miserable, and just driving yourself by main force, I almost shudder. I know it worried you, too. You seemed to feel as though you were slipping. Then one day you brought home a bottle of S.S.S. and told me you were going to give it a trial. That was only a few weeks ago. Today you look like a new person. Your appetite is keen, your flesh is firm, and your whole being seems to radiate happiness and I am happy too, because you are well and strong again."

Loss of appetite only a symptom

It is a known fact that when one's system gets "run-down," they haven't the resistance to ward off disease. Loss of appetite is only a symptom. General weakness pervades the entire body. There is no desire to work or play.

Rich, red blood builds and sustains

Your physician will tell you that lowered vitality is the result of an insufficient supply of red blood cells—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there can be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

—purely vegetable

When you get your blood cells back up to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, loss of appetite, rheumatism, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again; sleep soundly; solid flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You fell strong; and your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. proven record over 100 years

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain their strength and charm. Thousands of users have testified to its benefit in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

Made only from the fresh vegetable drugs gathered at the proper season of the year, S.S.S. gives to Nature what she needs in making you yourself again.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. Get the large size. It is more economical.

SEEK 3 BOGUS COIN PASSERS

A well-dressed girl and two male companions have been circulating bogus 10-cent pieces in East Liberty for the last week, city detectives learned last night from several business men of the district, who have received some of the coins.

The counterfeits are an excellent imitation of the 1925 issue. One merchant found six of them in his store in one day, it was said. Secret service operatives are investigating the case.

ASKS $15,000 FROM CITY FOR SIDEWALK INJURY

For a broken leg received November 7, 1926 when she fell into a hole in a sidewalk in Fifty-second street, Anna Fries, a widow, has entered suit in Common Pleas Court against the City of Pittsburgh, asking $15,000 damages.

CONVICT TELLS OF PLOT FOR STATE

LISBON, O., Feb. 16.—Once convicted of first-degree murder in the death of Don R. Mellett, vice-crusading Canton, O., newspaper publisher, and doomed to spend the rest of his days behind prison walls, S. A. Lengel, former police chief of Canton, is waging a bitter battle for freedom here, under a retrial and change of venue.

Lengel, convicted with four others, was granted a new trial by the Seventh District Appellate Court on the ground that the verdict as to Lengel was against the weight of the evidence. Then Judge E. W. Diehl, of Stark county, granted a change of venue to Columbiana county.

WIDOW TESTIFIES

Late yesterday the widow of the publisher, who came on from Indianapolis to attend the trial, testified how her husband was shot down at the door of his garage, July 16, 1926.

Today the state brought Floyd Streitenberger from the Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus, where he is serving a life sentence in the Mellett slaying, to testify, as in the first trial, that he had informed Lengel of a plot to "beat Mellett up."

The testimony of Streitenberger, former detective of Canton, was to be the high spot for the prosecution, the state contending that Lengel, in assenting to the scheme to harm Mellett, was guilty of the murder which resulted.

2 WOMEN ON JURY

Ten men and two women comprise the jury which will determine whether the one-time police head will have to return to the penitentiary in which he served several months, prior to being granted a new trial, or will go free. Judge W. F. Lones is presiding.

In addition to Streitenberger, Patrick McDermott, of Nant-y-Glo, Pa., and Benjamin Rudner, of Massillon, O., are serving life sentences in the Mellett case. Louis Mazer, of Canton, who pleaded guilty to manslaughter after turning state's evidence, is serving a sentence of from 5 to 20 years.

GROCERS HAILED AS BULWARKS

Chief among the nation's merchants are the neighborhood grocers. Their marts are shrines of patriotism and the mainstays of community business life. Such were the tributes paid last night by the orators at the ninth annual dinner of the Pittsburgh Retail Grocers' Association when nearly 1,000 banqueters gathered in McCreery's dining room.

A feast of gastronomic delicacies, music, beauty and good-fellowship reached its climax in a flow of oratory which exalted merchandising and called for a rally of the men who are closest to the hearts of the people through their daily catering to the American cupboard. James F. Malone, president of City Council, chief speaker, sounded the keynote of the meeting when he declared that the corner grocer is the bulwark of the community, and it echoed back in the declaration of other speakers that a breakdown of the neighborhood merchant meant disaster to nearly all lines of trade.

On the other hand the success of the grocer means a flourishing community and advancement all along the line. If his bills are paid promptly by the people, and if he is given co-operation by the jobber as well as his customers, he then becomes a community oracle for the propagation of the gospel of pure food, good living and good health.

J. V. Loughran, secretary of the association, was toastmaster, and the other speakers were Frank L. Campbell, former general manager of sales of the United States Chain and Forge Company, and J. Howard Devlin, legal counsel for the association. Oratory, however, took comparatively little time on the grocers' program for their mid-winter frolic. Wives and sweethearts joined in the merriment, which was kept going until midnight with an orchestra, a score of cabaret entertainers and a group of beautiful bath girls, sponsored by Pittsburgh wholesale bakers.

Souvenirs were given by the bagful, being the compliments of the jobbers and wholesalers. The donors were Morton Salt Company, Fleischmann's Yeast, Red Star Yeast, Barnes & Keifer, Gold Medal Flour, Ward Baking Company, Pillsbury Flour, Arbuckle & Company, Braun Bros., Hankey Baking Company, H. Leaves Hair Twice as Beautiful

In a few minutes time, your hair is soft, silky and radiant with life, gloss and lustre.

To have beautiful, fresh looking hair is simply a matter of proper shampooing.

While your hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, it cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why discriminating women, everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

It leaves the hair soft, silky and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

A four-ounce bottle lasts for months.

The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have best cough medicine you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this famous home-made cough syrup. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. It tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

3 DAYS IN COURT THAW DAMAGE

What damage did Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., member of one of Pittsburgh's leading families, suffer through an attempted blackmail levy of $5,000 and an armed invasion of her home at 5427 Forbes street and an attack upon a maid, November 12?

To answer this question Mrs. Thaw was recalled as a witness in Criminal Court today by Attorney Ward Bonsall, counsel for Fred H. Wipf, of 355 Craig street, on trial for attempted extortion.

"Do you remember seeing in the papers that Mrs. Thaw filed a suit against a relative for $600,000?" Mrs. Thaw was asked.

"That was a suit against her grandson," she replied.

"What Mrs. Thaw was that?"

"Mrs. William Thaw."

"That was not you?"

"No, it was my mother-in-law."

"In what way, if any, has the action of Mr. Wipf injured you in your personal property, reputation or business?" asked Bonsall, explaining, on objection of Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt, that damage must be shown to support a charge of extortion. Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff allowed the question.

"It brought me here for three days," Mrs. Thaw replied, concluding the examination.

THE DIVORCE MILL

ATE BEST FOOD

George Stojanovitch ate all the best food, leaving scraps for her two children by a former marriage, his wife, Ella, testified before Judge Richard W. Martin in asking a divorce. On one occasion, she declared, the shot he took at "rabbits" passed close to her head.

TOOK THE MONEY

Any questions about other women always provoked a quarrel, Mrs. Eliza M. Fannick, 2011 Preble avenue, testified yesterday in her divorce action against her husband, Anthony, but "dad always had his hand out for money mother made," a son, 10, declared when he took the stand. The Fannicks were married in 1907 and have the one child. Fannick is employed in the North Side Moose clubhouse.

TRAIN USHERS IN STANLEY

The importance of service and refined attention will not be underestimated in the new Stanley Theater, an executive of the company asserts.

"The personnel of our service department," he says, "will be all picked men. Before being placed on the floor the opening night they will be taught a high regard for courtesy, tolerance, loyalty and responsibility. They must come from good families and, before being considered for their stations, will be instilled with a sense of discipline and self-restraint.

"They are the only members of the organization who come into direct contact with the public and we know the importance of their training cannot be overestimated.

"This, we realize, is a distinct departure from the old system of having the patron find his own way into his seat. How many times have we been forced to stand at the head of an aisle waiting to be escorted down. In the Stanley there will be a sufficient staff to provide an escort for every patron. The theater patron pays his money just as the hotel guest does, and is entitled to the same consideration."

The Stanley will have the largest auditorium in the western part of the state, it is said, and one of the largest in the country. Four thousand persons will be seated comfortably.

A selection of pictures from several big producing companies will be shown, musical comedy and concert artists will appear on the stage.

SWORE FALSELY TO CITIZENSHIP

The United States citizenship granted Nicola Fisco, 37, an Italian, of Hermine, on January 23, 1925, was ordered cancelled in a decree signed by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, after he had pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with making a false affidavit in his final application for citizenship. The court ordered him to surrender his certificate to the clerk for the court for cancellation.

In applying for his final citizenship papers on November 18, 1924, Fisco swore he had resided continuously in this country for five years with the exception of a four months visit to the land of his birth. The naturalization authorities learned, it was said, that instead of the brief visit he remained in Italy two years, and while there married and that his wife remained in Italy when Fisco returned.

Fisco came originally to this country in 1913 and has been working as a coal miner at Hermine.

for Coughs

Don't fool yourself any longer!

Let the personal health test show you how to correct this common diet mistake!

MILLIONS make this mistake, and it's not surprising they do. They know that caffein is an artificial stimulant—they naturally suppose that, when they take it with their meals, it has an immediate bracing effect.

Wrong! It's the heat of the beverage you drink that warms you up, gives you an immediate feeling of comfort. The caffein gets in its real work hours later. Then, when you want to sleep, you can't. Then, when you want to relax, your nerves begin jumping, your brain begins pounding.

Try this for relief!

Leave caffein out of your diet for thirty days. In its place, use Postum! You'll not miss a thing in enjoyment! You'll discover in Postum a natural mealtime "pick up"—a hot, hearty drink with a rich, zestful flavor—a flavor millions prefer to that of any other drink. And you'll find it a drink that never results in sleeplessness, nervousness or any of the other evils that caffein causes. For Postum is made of roasted whole wheat and bran—not a trace of any stimulant in it!

At the end of the thirty days, note the improvement in your health! Then decide if you will ever go back to mealtime doses of caffein! Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, prepared by boiling. Order today!

TEN HERBS DID WONDERS FOR HIM

Coraopolis Carpenter Free of Stomach, Liver and Bowel Trouble.

"Although I am 73 years old, and for seven years suffered with various ailments, Ten Herbs did wonders in my case," was the statement of Mr. Alex. McKendry, 1222 Fourth Avenue, Coraopolis, Pa.,

MR. ALEX. McKENDRY

(near Pittsburgh), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine. "I was so nervous I could not sleep at night," continued Mr. McKendry, who is a carpenter. "My liver was inactive. Sometimes I had such dizzy spells I had to hold to the ladder to keep from falling. If I stooped over, I could hardly straighten up.

"My stomach was in very bad condition. Food did not digest properly, but would sour and fill me with gas. I had heart palpitation and could hardly get my breath after walking upstairs. My kidneys were out of order. I had to arise seven or eight times during the night, and in the morning would be stiff and have terrible pains across the back. I was so badly constipated I had to keep taking physics.

"To my great surprise, I had not finished the first bottle of Ten Herbs when I noticed a change for the better in my condition. My bowels became regular, and my nerves more quiet. My liver and kidneys seem to be in good condition. I am free of pains and stiffness and dizzy spells. My appetite is better, and I am not bothered with gas, bloating and shortness of breath like I was. I sleep soundly and do not have to arise more than once during the night. I really feel like a different person. I advise everyone who is suffering, as I did, to give Ten Herbs a trial."

Many others in this section are making similar claims for Ten Herbs. They say it has a surprising effect on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and a cleansing, soothing, correcting effect on the entire system.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

Nurses tell how new cream refines skin . . corrects faults

It was originally designed as a soothing healing remedy for chapped hands, burns, eczema and other skin troubles. Physicians prescribed it extensively for these purposes.

How it became famous as a beauty aid is an interesting story. Nurses noticed how it softened and beautified red, rough chapped hands, so they tried it as a face cream—as a foundation for powder and as a facial massage at night. The results were amazing. Blemishes quickly cleared up; dry, scaly skin and sallow oily complexions took on new, healthy, glowing beauty. Large pores disappeared. Their complexions became soft, fine and lovely.

It is largely due to the enthusiastic recommendations of nurses that over one million women now use Noxzema Skin Cream as their exclusive toilet cream, and its reputation as a beauty aid has spread to the four corners of the earth.

If you have trouble with your complexion, and are keenly anxious to clear away all blemishes and refine the texture of your skin, get a small trial jar of Noxzema this week. It is snow white, greaseless, dainty as the finest beauty cream, yet powerfully healing. Use it for ten days and see for yourself the new beauty it brings.

ALLEGED WIFE DESERTER IS GIVEN UP

Following a hearing on habeas corpus proceedings to obtain the release from the county jail of Freemont G. Redfield, alias John Montgomery, 30, and George Righter, alias George Cooper, 31, in Common Pleas Court today, Redfield was turned over to a Philadelphia officer, and a decision in the case of Righter was withheld until tomorrow.

Redfield and Righter were arrested in their room at 360 South Mathilda street on February 7. They have been held as suspicious characters since then.

Redfield, police say, deserted his wife and two children in Philadelphia. City Detective P. E. Moran, at the hearing today, said Righter had attempted to bribe him, and it was intimated that an information would be made against him on that charge.

POWER PROBE VOTED

'LOBBYISTS' WIN QUIZ SHIFT

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The Federal Trade Commission today was under Senate orders to conduct a public investigation into the so-called power trust and to report to the Senate every 30 days on the inquiry's progress.

The decision to have the commission do the investigating instead of a Senate committee, headed by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, who turned up most of the oil scandals, was reached last night after the most bitter fight of the present session of Congress. Walsh was defeated in his effort to have the Senate make the inquiry. With party lines smashed, the vote was 46 to 31.

Power interests' representatives, accused of maintaining the "greatest lobby in history" to defeat the resolution, filled the galleries when the vote was taken. The power lobby wanted the Federal Trade Commission to get the investigation instead of a Walsh committee.

Charges and counter-charges were bandied back and forth across the Senate chamber during the debate.

She asks a chance to pay and "start all over again."

MRS. CATHERINE STEWART AND JOY NEWELL

All her life Mrs. Catherine Stewart had longed to paint pictures, but until she was 60 the care of a family stood in the way. Then, freed from domestic cares, she took up her brush, and today, at 94, she's still painting. She paints—as a true artist—for herself alone, and never sells her work. Miss Newell is her granddaughter. They are shown with one of Mrs. Stewart's paintings in her New York home.

True Twins Defined, for There Also Are Just Twins—How And Why of Them

Our teeth are on the go, Mr. Dorsey told us in the chapter of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings" in The Sun-Telegraph yesterday. Rarely is a perfect set of civilized teeth to be found. And in our teeth are seen indications of our fish and reptile ancestry—away back. The author called the vermiform appendix a worm. It is like an ape's at birth. The appendix functions only in the lowest monkeys.

Monsters Not Due to Mother's Scare

By GEORGE A. DORSEY, PH.D., LL.D.

CHAPTER 5.

SPEAKING of twins! One in every hundred births is. Ireland averages higher—one pair for every 72 births.

Twins run in families. A mother who has twins is likely to bear more twins. She is called a "repeater." She probably inherits twin capacity—and transmits it. Her anatomy is such that twins are possible. That she bears twins only one-fifth of the time is probably due to her own internal weakness. Twins occur also in other mammals that ordinarily bear but one individual at a time. Triplets occur once in every 7,000 births; quadruplets, only once in every 370,000 births.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

There are two kinds of twins: twins; identical twins. The first type develops independently from two ova that happen to mature at the same time. Each ovum develops its own chorion and placenta—though the two placentas may partially fuse.

They are not true or "identical" twins, merely accidents as to time of birth. Both may be boys or girls, or they may be brother and sister. They vary as brothers and sisters of a family normally vary.

True Twins

Identical twins are always of the same sex: either both boys or both girls. They develop from a single ovum, in the same chorion, and receive food and oxygen through the same placenta, to which each is attached by its own umbilicus.

There need be no doubt as to whether twins are just twins or identical: if identical, they are always of the same sex and there is only one placenta; if there are two placentas, or if they are of different sex, they cannot be true twins.

Sometimes identical twins are so alike that only a string around the thumb, or some such device, will enable the mother to distinguish one from the other.

It was formerly held that identical twins, triplets, quadruplets, etc., resulted from multiple fertilization of one ovum. But twins and monsters can be produced artificially in biological laboratories. Fish monsters can be grown from eggs deprived of enough oxygen. Monsters of all sorts have been grown by separating the young embryo into two or more parts. Perhaps twins have been grown from the two cells of the dividing ovum shaken apart.

How Monsters Form

Human twins, triplets, etc., presumably arise from early separation of the cells into which the original ovum divided. If the division is not complete the result is twin, triplet, or even quadruplet monsters. These may take any conceivable form, from twins bound together only at one spot, to a twin inside the body of the other. An autopsy recently revealed a tiny parasitic twin in an abdominal tumor, carried within its twin brother's body for half a century. He had never known of its existence.

Double monsters may have one head, two bodies; two heads, one body; one head, two necks, one chest, two bodies below the diaphragm. One twin may be fully developed; attached to its body is an arm or a leg of the other. One twin may develop no heart, receiving its blood through its umbilicus; it perishes at birth.

In "Siamese" twins, the embryo divides into two at both ends, but not in the middle; if they share vital organs, they cannot be separated by the knife. The Two-headed Nightingale, Millie and Christina, had two heads, one body, four legs; she (or they) could sing by each head and each head could control two or four legs. The famous Scottish brothers—clever musicians and linguists—were one individual below the waist, above quite distinct except at the back.

Ancestral Abnormalities

Single monsters may have no arms or legs; no abdominal wall; a brain outside the skull or other malformation of brain, skull or face; a Janus face; a Cyclopean eye. There is no end to the range of malformation.

Other abnormalities are only to be understood in the light of man's ancestry. Part or parts stop growth before the normal human condition is reached. They point the road man traveled.

There may be an extra finger or toe, always outside thumb or little finger. Is this an ancestral echo, or did a finger-bud divide? The tenth-of-an-inch-long four-weeks-old fetus' limbs begin as tiny buds and soon look like paddles. Before the buds appear, the fetus is limbless. Sometimes the paddles never develop into arms or legs; they remain mere flaps. Or, the fingers and toes may remain hidden in the flaps. Or, some or all of the fingers or toes may be webbed—as they are in the embryo.

Rabbits are not "hare-lipped," their upper lip is cleft in the middle. Our lip begins as three pieces; if they fail to join, the cleft is between one or both nostrils and the mouth—never in the middle of the lip. A double "hare-lipped" man is shark-lipped.

Marked Child Myth

We can eat and breathe at the same time because our mouth is shut off from our nose by the palate or roof of our mouth. Our palat begins as two bones; they join in the ninth week of fetal life. Sometimes they do not; result: cleft palate, as have frogs, snakes and birds.

Cysts or hollow tumors may be found in any part of the body. When lined with skin, they are called dermoid. They are thought to arise from germ-cells which strayed away from the sex-glands.

Generally, abnormal development is due to disease in the uterus or to such faulty attachment of embryo that its nourishment is impaired. But ova may develop normally in abnormal positions, even outside the uterus. Mothers cannot influence their intrauterine growth by "scares," etc. Possibly her blood altered by fever might upset normal development. It is known that tetanus, diphtheria and typhoid toxins and antitoxins can pass from the host into fetal circulation. It also seems that the germs of typhoid, and possibly tuberculosis, may similarly pass from host to fetus. But it must be understood that there is no interchange of blood between the two, nor any commingling of body fluids or nerve tissue. The fetus is a true parasite.

PLUNKETT REBUKED BY CHIEF

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The failure of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur to attend the testimonial dinner last night in honor of Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett was declared today by Col. E. A. Simmons, president of the American Marine Association and chairman of the dinner committee, to be a "public rebuke" to the admiral's recent warlike speech at the National Republican Club.

Secretary Wilbur had been announced as the chief guest of honor at the banquet, the occasion for which was Admiral Plunkett's retirement from service on his sixty-fourth birthday.

Colonel Simmons, who read Secretary Wilbur's letter explaining his absence as being due to the necessity of appearing before the House Naval Committee, issued a statement charging that the letter was a "smoke screen."

He said the real reason for the Secretary's absence was fear that his presence would be misunderstood, and declared that the Secretary had admitted as much to him in a telephone conversation.

Admiral Plunkett's retirement brought him many expressions of appreciation for his vigorous pleas for preparedness.

In tribute to Admiral Plunkett and his work, the dinner took the form of a marine congress, at which representatives of the farm interests, industrial organizations and labor spoke in advocacy of an extensive merchant marine, as essential to all departments of our national life.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

THE story of Billie Dove's father rejoining the old homestead in Hollywood brings a letter from A. L. Alexander, of Dormont, who tells about running across the father of another famed cinema star in the role of gardener for a family at La Jolla, California. In this case however, the daughter has neglected the old gentleman. If letters come in along this line, we plan a series: "What the Fathers of Famed Cinema Stars Are Doing."

• • •

A VERY important paragraph in the letter from Mr. Alexander runs: "Let me say that I enjoy your Sidewalks column as I did your sporting comments."

It's a pleasure to get letters from discerning readers.

THIS is the first time in two years that your correspondent hasn't been packing at this time ready to make what we used to call the long trek to sunny California with the Pirates. They leave tonight. How does a fellow feel being left behind in this fashion? That seems to be an interesting question in view of the fact that a few thousand persons would like to be hopping off with the Corsairs tonight.

GOING away on a long trip of that kind is not all skittles and beer, and, while it suggests a little the fox who looked up at the unattainable grapes and murmured he didn't like them anyway, the truth here is that missing the trip brings not a sigh of regret.

• • •

IN California at this time of the year, one is forced to walk around in the daytime minus coat and hat to escape the heat. You remember those hot days of last August that we had to put up with in Pittsburgh? Well, just imagine walking into that kind of weather this early in the year.

IS HE GOING TO BE A NEW WAGNER?

BACK home here, while the Pirate party will be sweltering in that hot sun, we can be enjoying that pleasant variety of weather which calls for long underthings in the morning and then lighties in the afternoon. Here we can enjoy the exhilarating drizzle peculiar to this time of the year, the relief from the hot sun, and the charm of overcast skies. Then, just as we are getting tired of these brands, along comes a typical summer day. Contrasted to this is that every morning and every afternoon in California there is the heat.

ONE, of course, may miss the apple pie at Canary Cottage, just across from the Pirate hotel; the bridge session with the Puck-like Mr. Fraser, Pirate scout, and the humor of Mr. Hinchman, but against all this is the fact that in Pittsburgh one doesn't get homesick; one gets better meals, and one doesn't have to get overly excited whether that awful hole in the pitching ranks will be plugged, or whether this new kid from the Sally league has any fatal weakness that will keep him from being a new Hans Wagner.

SAY, WHAT'S JULY LIKE IN THIS PLACE ?

IN being left behind your correspondent has a partner, Mr. James McAfee, who hasn't until this season, missed a training camp trip for something like 16 years. He was the capable baseball reporter for the Tri-State News Bureau whose requiem was sung some months ago.

OF COURSE, only a few are going to believe that tonight, as we shake hands with Mr. Doyle, our correspondent, who moves away with the Pirates, we will be saying: "Well, Charley, wouldn't you like to be staying back here with us?" but it happens to be the oft-scarred truth.

• • •

GOOD LUCK, boys, and may Sam Dreyfuss get out of that habit of making the informatory double when he just as easily could mention his best suit in bridge.

An Automobile Wreck, Roy Jetterson Offers Assistance

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

LILLY LEXINGTON, spoiled daughter of the CYRUS LEXINGTONS, is engaged to marry STALEY DRUMMOND, a rich bachelor much older than herself. She is fond of him, but realizes she does not really love him the day after she accepts him, when she becomes instantly and violently infatuated with a taxicab driver whom she sees downtown when she goes to meet her chum, SUE CAIN. Forgetting all about Sue, she jumps into his cab and he drives her home. She learns that his name is PAT FRANCE and that he owns his own cab in a company headed by his friend, ROY JETTERSON. She marries Pat. Lily tried, and their domestic ship sailed smoothly for a few months. One day Lily met SUE CAIN, an old friend, on the street. Sue invited her to a card party. Lily, without funds, went to a store and tried to charge some clothes to her father. She was informed her mother had left word that "Mrs. Patrick France could not charge things to Mr. Lexington." Drummond pays all her bills. She leaves Pat. When her parents come home they tell her that they are broke. Drummond again comes to the rescue.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

SHE did not take any of the champagne when he passed it to her.

"I thought you were the girl who wanted to be gay and wild tonight," he said, looking at her in surprise. "And now you refuse my champagne."

"There's nothing more gay and wild than champagne," giggled Sue, taking hers. "What's the matter with you, Lily? Anybody who can get champagne these days and doesn't take it is just plain crazy, it seems to me."

Lily did not know, herself, what made her so blue and depressed. After all, what difference did it make to her if Pat's marvelous piston ring wasn't so marvelous as he had said it was? How could it affect her if he did not sell—and if he went broke on it?

He was all through with her—just as she was through with him.

"Ten cents for your thoughts, Lily," Sue called out gaily, startling her from them. "You look as blue as indigo."

But no one could have called Sue blue at that moment. She was just starting to drink her second glass of the wine, and her cheeks were flushed and her eyes twinkled like winter stars.

"This was a great little idea of yours, Staley," she declared, turning to him. "Let's make a night of it, after all. . . . Let's load up with some flasks and go out to the new roadhouse called Zulu Hut. You know, they don't give you any forks and you have to eat chicken and waffles with your hands. . . . Come on, let's go!"

She had forgotten all about the suitcases that she had been planning to pack and to spirit out of the house. She was ready for fun and plenty of it—and the wilder it was the better she was going to like it, so she said, getting up to go.

But Jack refused to budge. . . . What could be sweeter than this, he asked. To sit here in Staley's big, warm, comfortable house, sunk deep in a cushioned arm chair, with drinks at his elbow, and the three best pals a man ever had right here with him? What could be sweeter, eh? He wanted to know, and Sue couldn't tell him.

"Why, we're celebrating our big day in advance," he said to her, and for two hours Lily watched him celebrate it.

For two hours he never moved from the depths of the big sleepy-hollow chair except when he leaned forward to take another glass of the Bourbon that he had begun to drink with ginger ale, or to light a cigaret.

"If he were anybody but Jack Eastman I'd worry about him," Sue said when he finally swayed to his feet and announced that he was ready to go home at half past nine. "But Jack always says that the more he has had to drink the better he can drive his car—and that's the unholy fact."

"I'll go with you," Lily told her, getting up from her chair, too.

"No, I'll take you," Staley interrupted, firmly.

But Lily was twice as firm as he was. She simply was not going to be alone with Staley Drummond that night to "talk things over seriously!" as he said.

She was not ready to talk things over with him. First of all, she wanted to think them over herself. . . . If she married Staley, would all of her evenings be like this one? Either evenings that she spent alone with him, as she had spent the first part of it, or evenings spent drinking and talking rubbish with Sue and Jack Eastman or some other couple or couples?

"I'm going with Sue and Jack," she said again, positively. "If you drive me home you know we'll talk for two or three hours more—and I don't want to. I'm tired. I was up early this morning and I want to go to bed."

She had risen at half past eight, but that was early for her these days, although it would have been disgracefully late down in the neighborhood of the Jettersons and the France family.

And so—as usual—she had her own way about it. She started home with Sue and Jack.

How the accident happened Lily never knew.

Even at the time she did not realize how close the big car was that turned into Montpelier road from a side street about two blocks from Staley's street.

One moment its headlights seemed to be far away, and the next moment they were close to her like giant eyes, blinding her as the car behind them crashed into Jack's roadster.

There was a terrific thud, and Lily felt as if all her bones were twisted tight together, and that her head had been hit with a sledge hammer. There was a sound of splintering glass and the shrill, high scream of Sue close beside her—"O-ooo-ooo! We're terribly hurt!"

She found herself laughing a little. It seemed such a silly thing to say, somehow. Of course they were hurt.

Jack was bent over the steering wheel and his head rested on it. He had not made a sound.

That was odd, she thought, so interested in him that she did not notice the crowd that was collecting all around them.

"Sue—Jack's badly hurt," she said, and tried to make him speak. But he didn't, and Sue did not seem to realize that he was badly injured. She kept crying and laughing and wiping her eyes.

Lily turned to look out of the car and then she saw how many machines had appeared as if by magic. The road was fast filling with people, and a little group of men were standing around the other car—or what was left of it.

"Hurt, ladies?" asked a man's voice, and the handle of the door beside Lily was opened by a short, stocky man whose eye-glasses twinkled in the light from the arch lamp above them.

"We aren't, but the man with us is," Lily answered shakily, wondering why she did not cry. "I think we'd better have a doctor—or rush him to a hospital."

Sue seemed to wake out of her daze at that. "Who?—Jack?" she asked, looking down at him as if she saw the first time that something was very wrong with him. Then she began to whimper, bending down close to see him and touching him with her hands.

The man vanished, promising to call an ambulance right away. Then, in about two minutes, he came rushing back and offered himself and his own car to take Jack to the nearest hospital.

With the help of some other men who had stopped their cars to see the wreck, he got poor Jack into his own automobile. Sue, at the last moment, climbed in after them and Lily was left alone with the car.

An ambulance came clanging up the road and the man who had been driving the other car was picked up from the ground and taken away in it. The crowd began to disperse.

"What will I do with this machine?" Lily called out to a man who passed close to her on his way to a brougham across the way.

He came across the parkroad to her. In the darkness she could not see his face, but something about him seemed to be curiously familiar.

"Better call the automobile club," he answered. "Or, I will send a tow car up for it if you like. I'm in the garage business."

Roy Jetterson! The minute he spoke Lily knew who he was, and she was sure that he must recognize her, too.

"I'll call the automobile club, thanks," she said coldly, and when he was gone she got out of the car and went limping back to Staley's house through the chilly darkness.

"You are going to take me home after all," she said to him. "We've all just been in an accident. "And she broke down, trying to tell him about it, her nerves shaken and shattered.

She cried herself to sleep that night. The accident, somehow, just was the last straw after a miserable day.

"I'm not a bit happy" she sobbed to herself. "I thought things would be the way they were before I married Pat—" But they weren't. Everything was all wrong, and even the people who had seemed so desirable, so entertaining, so funny last year, seemed very stupid this year. In some mysterious way life had chanaged completely.

The next morning she awoke aching in every bone.

Her head felt as big as the dining room itself, as she sat at the breakfast table, trying to eat and to answer all of her mother's questions.

"You're going to be killed, sure as fate, if you drive around with that wild Jack Eastman," said Mrs. Lexington. "He's in the hospital right now, but he'll forget all about this when he's out in a few days."

The front door bell rang and she went down the hall to answer it. In a moment she came back, and she was beaming.

Behind her was Staley, also beaming, and yet with a look of strain around his mouth. "I've brought my lawyer, Myron Manton, to see you about last night," he said quietly. "And about—that other matter, too!"

"What matter?" asked Lily, knowing perfectly well what he meant by what he said.

Mary Keenly Analyzes Eleanor and Prepares to Give Her Battle

AT MY drawling comment that the viewpoint of the young "moderns" of whom she counted herself one was the drollest thing I knew, Mary Harrison shot a startled look at me, in which, to my secret amusement and gratification, I detected distinct chagrin.

I had learned long since from the girls who had attended my classes that a girl who will gloat over her own wickedness imaginged or real, can be stung into altered behavior by the belief that her actions are furnishing someone with amusement, tinged with the patronage that experience frequently bestows upon its antithesis. Upon a sudden impulse, I had used the result of that knowledge as a weapon against Mary's flippancy, and the result was distinctly gratifying, not only to my petty vanity which she had wounded, but to the worthier anxiety I had for the girl's ideas and their translation into her conduct.

She was too shrewd, however, to give any indication of her confusion.

"I suppose I must seem awfully amusing to you," she said, and her tone and the little laugh which accompanied it were perfect things of their kind. No experienced woman of the world could have pointed more subtly her belief that mine was a prejudiced and archaic viewpoint. She was artistic enough, moreover, to keep on talking as if her rejoinder had been an unstudied thing.

"I'll bet there's one person who doesn't consider me amusing," she said with a decided bob of her head, "and that's Eleanor Lincoln; that lady isn't happy unless she's the bride at the wedding and the corpse at the funeral and it doesn't suit her ladyship at all to see her old side-kick, Mr. Jackson, getting Kleig eyes when he looks at your little niece. She hasn't made Noel's eyes do much straying either, so far, and so she's ready to scratch my beauteous orbs out, or will when I get in a little more of my deadly work."

I knew that beneath her extravagance of words there lay a very real animosity toward Eleanor Lincoln because of the very decided penchant for Noel Veritzen which the young mistress of The Larches had betrayed upon her every meeting with him. But my attention did not concern itself with Mary's grievance against our young neighbor. It lighted upon a certain startling phrase in her chatter and fastened itself there.

"Her old side-kick," I repeated involuntarily, staring at my husband's young niece. "You mean—"

"I mean just what you've been thinking," she retorted, tossing her head, "that Miss Lincoln and Mr. Jackson are old acquaintances. I wouldn't be surprised to find that they're childhood friends—brought up next door to each other and all that stuff.

"That's all foam, of course, about that dog," she went on, while I mentally paid tribute to her perspicacity. "It's just a little bit too thick, the excuses she's handing out about once having a dog named 'Fedor,' and being willing to take care of this pup for Mr. Jackson. Of course it's her own hound that for some unknown reason Jackson's been riding her on. But why on earth they should want to pretend they don't know each other, sure gets me. It's deep stuff, Auntie Madge, deep stuff. Of course you've known their spiels were phony from the very first, but you didn't think I was wise, too, did you, now?"

Her eyes were full of mischief tinged with delicate malice as she gazed at me, but my mind was too filled with genuine admiration for her youthful astuteness to have room for any other emotion, and I swept her a flambuoyant obeisance.

"Consider my best chapeau doffed before you, Mary," I told her smiling.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Miss Elizabeth Rhodes to Marry G. A. C. Harder in New York Feb. 25

THERE is going to be a wedding in New York on the twenty-fifth of this month that will prove of great interest both to Sewickley and Pittsburgh society folks. It seems that on that day Elizabeth Rhodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dickinson Rhodes, who live in Thorn street, Sewickley, will be married to George A. Chilles Harder, of Park avenue, New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Harder, of that city.

Mrs. Rhodes and Elizabeth have been in New York most of the winter, and the wedding, I hear, is to take place in the apartment which they have been occupying there. Not many details have been obtainable, as yet, but one is inclined to believe that it will be a very quiet affair since Elizabeth's father and her sister, Mary, and brother, Thomas, are abroad. Her aunt, Miss Rhonda Edwards, also is included in this group, and they are just completing a trip around the world.

Plans announced several weeks ago had Mrs. Rhodes sailing in a short time to join her family in France, so, I suppose, she is going to remain in New York just over Elizabeth's wedding and then leave for Europe.

Sewickley is to have a new young matron this spring—a girl from the Middle West who is planning to live in the Valley after she is married. This future member of Sewickley's younger married set is Jean Wise, who, you know, is now visiting Priscilla Brown in her home in Beaver street. Priscilla gave a party for Jean on Valentine's Day.

The wedding is scheduled for April 14 in Jean's home city of Joplin, and the man in the case is John Joseph Lincoln, of Elkhorn, W. Va. I understand that they are to arrive in Sewickley some time in May. Jean is a Smith College girl, having been graduated in 1925, and her fiance was graduated from Yale in 1924.

Another who has been attracted to Europe this year is Forsyth Patterson, daughter of the Charles Forsyth Pattersons, of Sewickley. She is planning to sail late this month on the Paris and probably will be gone until late April or early May. You remember, of course, that Forsyth is the fiancee of David Meade Gilmore, of Sewickley.

Presiding at the tea table will be Mrs. Ambrose N. Diehl, Dean Mary Bidwell Breed, Mrs. William Mehard Davidson, Mrs. John G. Bowman, Miss Cora Helen Coolidge and Mrs. Will Earhart. Miss Lucetta Burns is chairman for the affair and the guests of honor will be Mrs. Mary J. Cowley and Mrs. Alice M. Carmalt.

Past worthy matrons of Friendship Chapter No. 291, O. E. S., will hold a card party next Wednesday night in the East End O. E. S. Temple. Those in charge are Mrs. Lucy E. Lyons, Mrs. Belle Todd Wilson, Mrs. Jennie S. Hartley, Mrs. Mary M. Banks, Mrs. Ruth W. Palmer, Mrs. Laura R. Metcalfe and Mrs. Edith M. Darr. Mrs. Elisabeth K. Sharps is the present matron. The chapter is planning to give a card party, February 24, in Oppenheim-Collins' auditorium. Mrs. May Foeller is in charge.

FORUM MEMBERS HEAR PHILANTHROPIC REPORTS

That little group of friendly souls who call themselves the Forum Club met together yesterday afternoon in the Congress of Clubs. The chief items of interest at the business session were the reports of the club's splendid philanthropic work, which is the tie that binds Forum members so closely. For the program there were musical numbers and a book review, the latter by Mrs. C. G. Eicher, who chose Thornton Wilder's "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" for her pleasantly-given review. In it she pointed out that each of the five characters had rounded out his or her life before going down with the bridge and that no love is ever wasted.

Mrs. Lena Powell Walkenshaw sang two groups of soprano solos and the Jeffrey sisters, Mary Louise and Dorothy Ann, gave the remaining musical numbers, which were more interesting in their possibilities than for their attainments. The former played several piano numbers and Dorothy Ann, the tiny girl with the tiny voice that is more sweetness than voice, sang.

The club will have a sewing for the Pittsburgh Home for Babies at the home of Mrs. A. K. McMillan, Spahr street, on February 24.

Mrs. H. R. Geib, Mrs. Floyd Wallace, Mrs. Fred Heathcote, Mrs. Chalmers Davies, Mrs. Charles Sinsell, Mrs. Harry Garvey, Mrs. T. I. Cottom, Mrs. John Conrad, Mrs. Thomas Lenfesty, Mrs. George Stewart, Mrs. John Allenspaugh and Mrs. W. A. K. Clarke are in the cast for the play which the Woman's Club of Carnegie will give tomorrow night in Carnegie Library Hall. The Carnegie Club will be assisted by members of the Woman's Club of Rosslyn Farms, who will present "An Evening in Old Virginia" as their part in the entertainment which is a review of the past and present. Dance numbers by Miss Gertrude Balls and others will feature the affair.

Zona Gale's play, "The Neighbors," was given a charming interpretation by members of the Fortnightly Review of Mt. Lebanon yesterday afternoon. The club members met in the home of Mrs. R. T. Charters, Bower Hill road, to see the performance by a cast which included Mrs. J. W. Davis, Mrs. J. V. Gilfillan, Mrs. P. W. Cooke, Mrs. Paul Minton, Mrs. J. W McKelvie, Mrs. A. A. Buehn, Miss Nancy McCormick and Mrs. Charles Porter. In addition to the play there were vocal solos by Miss May John, of the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir, and Mrs. Raymond Wright, both of whom were accompanied by Mrs. Harry B. McBeth.

"Some Changes in School Systems Since the Time of Nicholas Nickleby" will be pointed out by Dr. A. P. James, of the University of Pittsburgh, in his talk before the Dickens Fellowship Study Class Monday night. At the meeting, which will be held in the Fort Pitt Hotel, the class will take up the study of "Nicholas Nickleby" under the direction of Mrs. D. G. Fowler.

The P. M. I. Club will be entertained with an eighteenth century program at its meting in the Pittsburgh Musical Institute next Tuesday night. In addition to costume dances of the period, two one-act plays, "A Minuet," by Parker, and "The Beau of Bath," by Mackay, will be presented with good settings.

The Wednesday Afternoon Club of Wilkinsburg departed a little from its usual custom of meeting in the homes and came to Pittsburgh for its session yesterday. The members lunched in the Congress of Clubs and heard an informative talk by the Congress president, Mrs. Carl E. Coslowsky, who described the work of the various Congress departments.

* * *

A Valentine party will be held tomorrow night in the Congress of Clubs by the Unity Center of Pittsburgh. The program of entertainment will include a short play and musical numbers.

* * *

Dr. Elmer D. Graper, professor of political science in the University of Pittsburgh, will talk on "Men and Issues in the Campaign of 1928" before the Friday Morning Club in Carnegie Music Hall tomorrow morning.

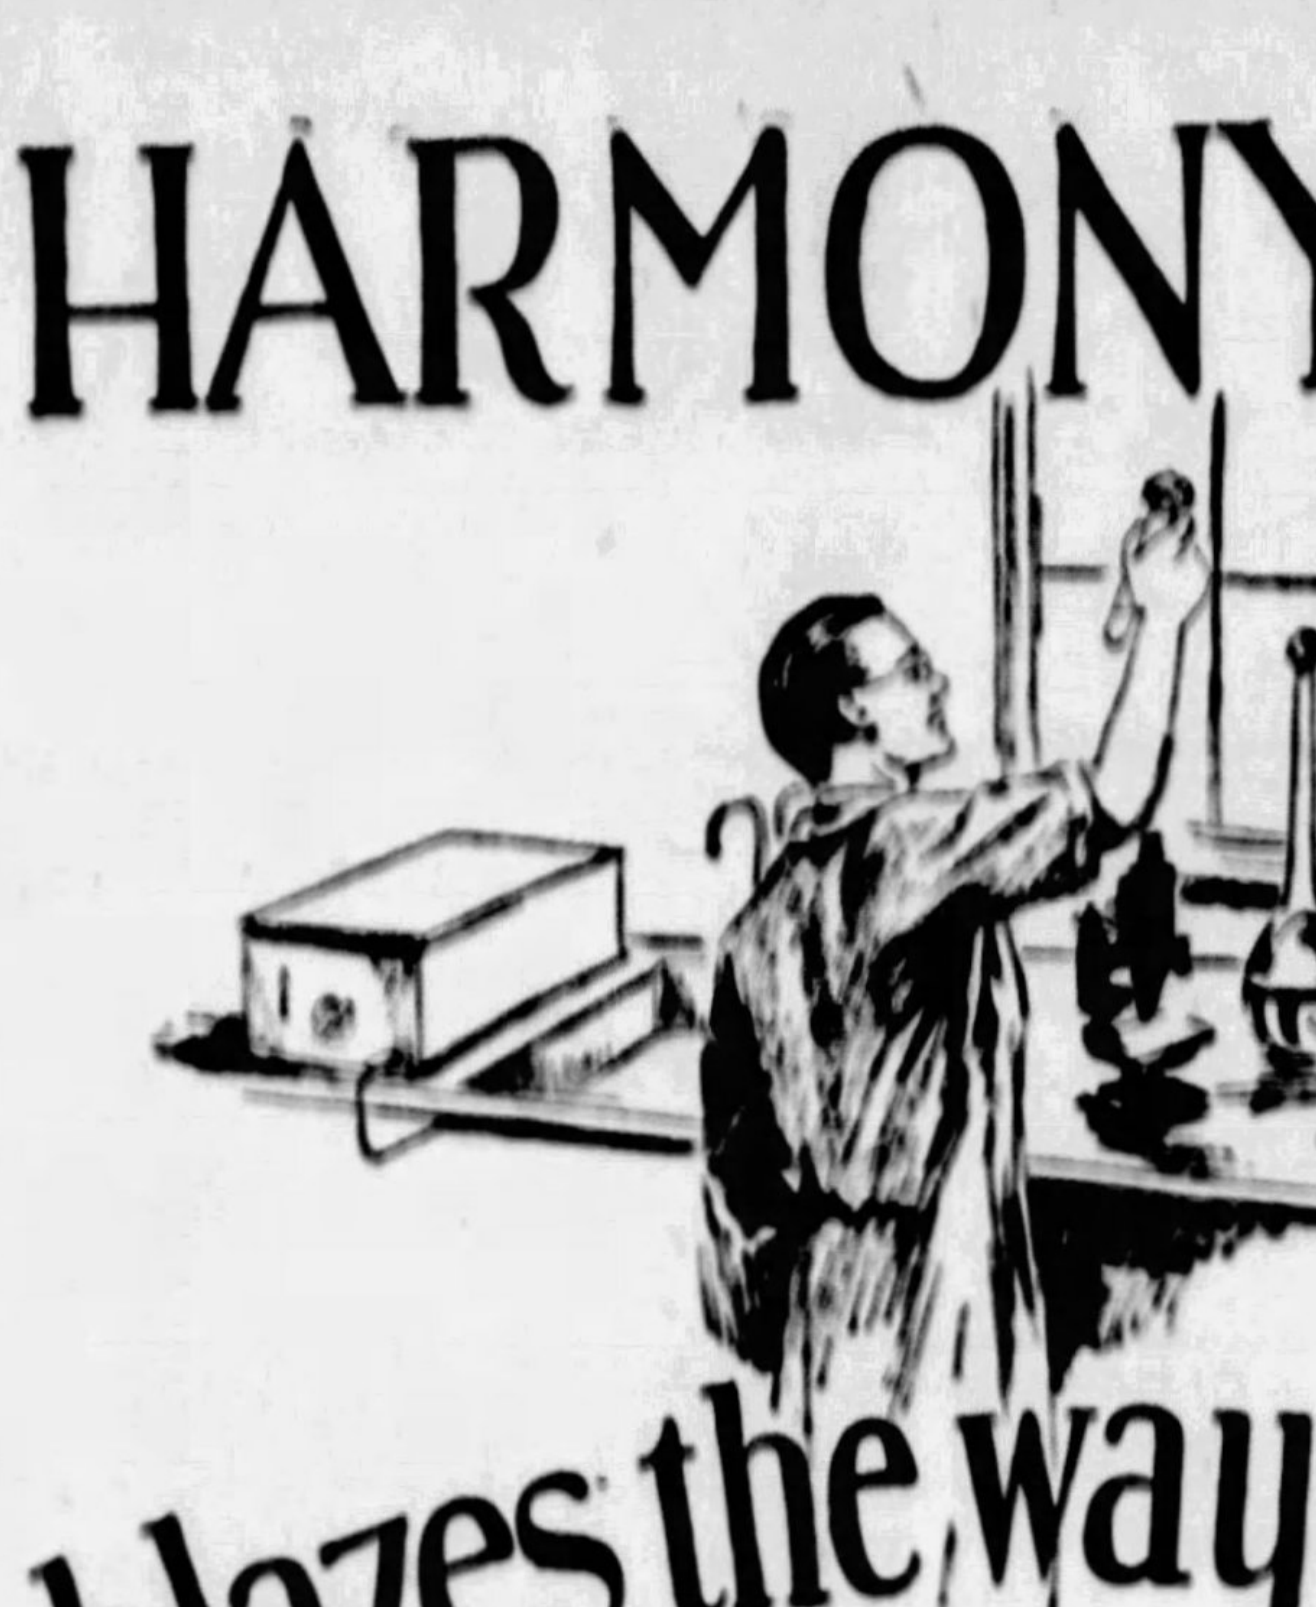
HARMONY



blazes the way to Purity

HARMONY Milk has always been the standard of freshness and purity. While no sensational or radical changes have ever been made in the method of treatment, Harmony leads the way to newer, better methods.

Every development of scientific research that would improve or retain purity has been quietly adopted, until today it is recognized by physicians and scientists as the most consistently pure milk.

Harmony introduced the sterile, glass-lined tank trucks to rapidly bring the milk into the city, where it is pasteurized, bottled, and delivered to the cooler in your neighborhood store. The cooler keeps it at the proper temperature until you need it.

For your own and your family's protection, ask for Harmony Milk and be safe.

George WHITE
America's Greatest Judge of beauty, discloses the secret of SKIN PERFECTION

SHADES of face powder of the same name differ—and it is this difference that makes one face powder more becoming than another—that causes one to bring out and enhance beauty to the full, while another of the same name fails utterly to accomplish its purpose.

Mr. George White, who has demonstrated this fact to some of the most beautiful girls in America who have appeared in his revues, writes:

"I find that the various shades of Houbigant face powder, if properly selected, such as Rachel for the brunette, Naturelle for the blonde, endow women with a degree of beauty not attainable in a powder of any other make."

In six shades and in the loveliest of Houbigant fragrances—75c and $1.50. For purse use in the new double compact—$2.50. For an ideal powder base, the Quelques Fleurs Skin Lotion, 4 oz.—$1.

Bowling Is Good as a Health Exercise

DR. COPELAND

A CINCINNATI reader calls my attention to bowling on the green as a means of exercise for persons who have passed the prime of life. He refers to my article regarding Mr. Coolidge's determination to take a couple of years for whittling. In this I mentioned golf. My correspondent's advice is to recommend bowling instead.

He says this game soothes the nerves. It is delightful as a means of recreation. It is safer and better than golf, the letter insists. The writer wishes I would write an article about bowling.

He will be interested to know that on at least two occasions I have written on bowling. I cannot recall the dates, but it is at least six or seven years ago. I do remember exactly where I was each time.

Once was in Montreal, where I saw a doctor friend of mine and his friends bowling till long after sundown. Electric lights supplied the illumination to finish the games.

The other time was in Leamington, England. I was stopping at a charming little hotel. On the grounds was a very perfect bowling green.

I think I am right in saying it is an English game. I join my correspondent in the belief that bowling is exactly the sort of game men should adopt.

I do feel this way about bowling, however: It is a game which should be begun early in life. While there is no up-hill walking in it, there is a tremendous amount of stooping.

My correspondent tells me that two games of bowling of 15 ends each will require about three hours of time. In that period the player walks about 3,000 feet, but he stoops down low enough to touch the ground 120 times. I would think this repeated stooping was rather hazardous to one who started bowling after his arteries had become more or less hardened.

For men in the prime of life, bowling is an ideal way of spending an afternoon. I have no question that it is beneficial to the muscles, the circulation and to the digestion.

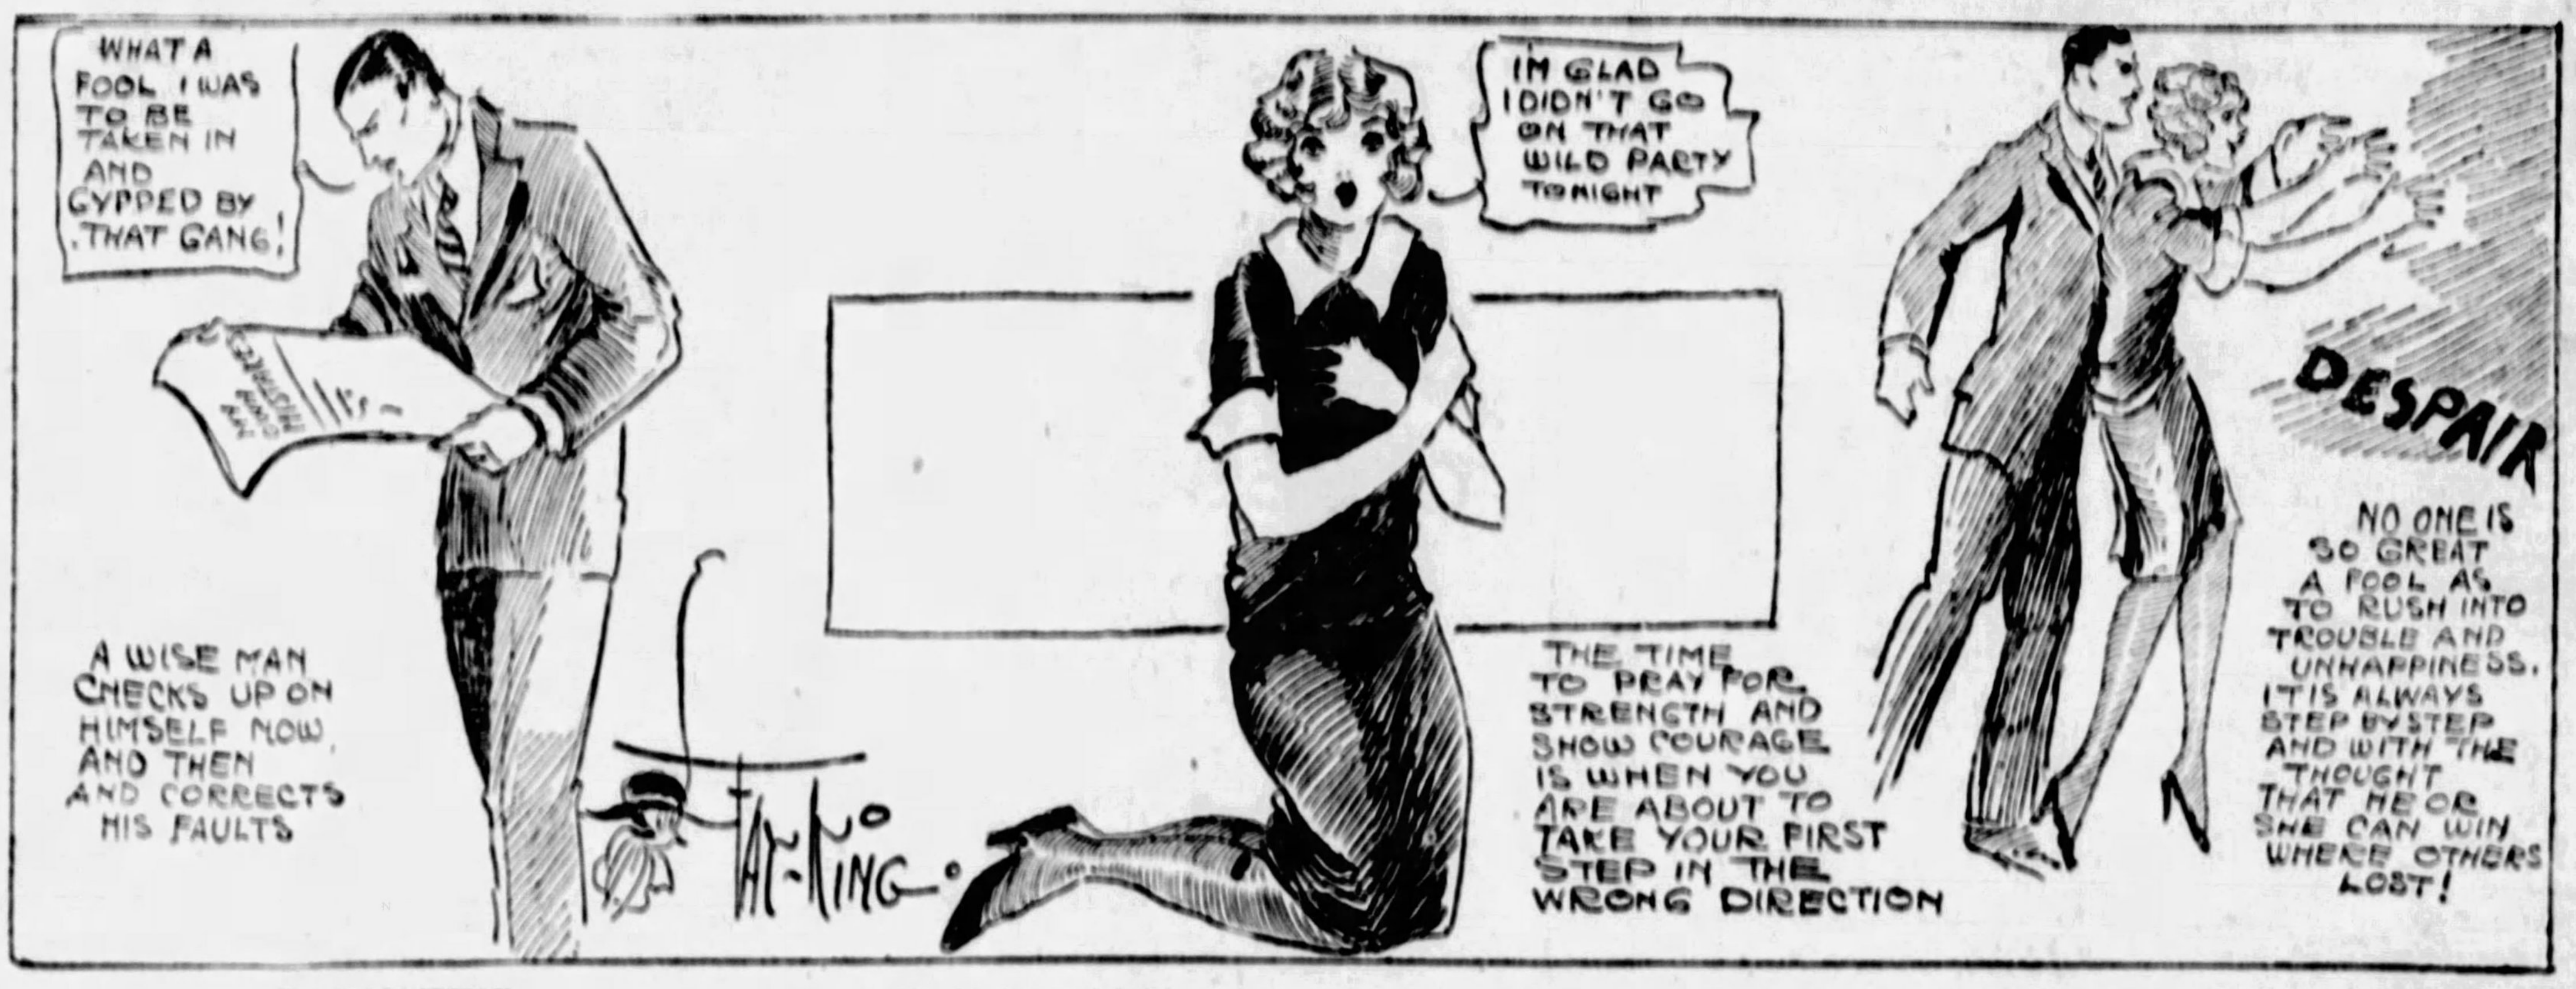
Fay King Warns You About Playing With Fire



WHAT A FOOL I WAS TO BE TAKEN IN AND GYPPED BY THAT GANG!
A WISE MAN CHECKS UP ON HIMSELF NOW AND THEN AND CORRECTS HIS FAULTS
FAY KING
I'M GLAD I DIDN'T GO ON THAT WILD PARTY TONIGHT
THE TIME TO PRAY FOR STRENGTH AND SHOW COURAGE IS WHEN YOU ARE ABOUT TO TAKE YOUR FIRST STEP IN THE WRONG DIRECTION
DESPAIR
NO ONE IS SO GREAT A FOOL AS TO RUSH INTO TROUBLE AND UNHAPPINESS. IT IS ALWAYS STEP BY STEP AND WITH THE THOUGHT THAT HE OR SHE CAN WIN WHERE OTHERS LOST!

By FAY KING

"HE WAS a game loser! He didn't welch! No squawk outta him!"

That's the praise the wise guy gives the sucker after he has fleeced him. He knows that when he talks so finely about one bird that he trimmed to the other he expects to trim, they will remember the high opinion he had of that other fellow and won't squawk either!

But what a stock of scorn the shark has for a sucker too wise to bite his honeyed bait!

How yellow he paints the fellow that hasn't got "guts" enough to squander his hard earned money on his bum tips, or rotten booze.

But the fellow who has courage enough to walk away and laugh it off is made of a lot better stuff than the fellow who doesn't welch after he's been trimmed.

Consolation is a lot easier to take than ridicule. That's why a lot of young persons start off in the wrong direction because they can't stand ridicule.

No one on earth is such a double-dyed fool as to rush into misfortune and unhappiness! Whatever the finish may be, you can bet the start gave no inkling of it!

Even if the past performances of others showed plainly how much easier it was to lose and fail and pay a great price, the thought in the minds of those who do likewise is that they are the exception. They will win.

"Perfect" alibis have been made, "perfect systems" have been figured out to beat the ponies, the bank and the board—but there is only one sure win—and that is DON'T!

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

THE TRUTH ABOUT MEN

ONE of the most encouraging signs of man's regeneration is the perfect riot of gay and cheerful neckties we see blooming on every hand these days.

* * *

Little by little, man is beginning to take a brighter view of himself. Don't STOP him! It is the beginning of his salvaton!

* * *

The truth about man is that he has a colorful soul! And for years and years he has been going around in somber, funeral clothes, against all his natural impulses, and suppressed desires. That is what has gradually crushed all the poetry and romance out of his spirit, and turned him from a debonair lover and adventurer into a dull, plodding money-making machine.

HELEN ROWLAND

One reason why he takes such a morbid pride and tender interest in his haberdashery is because it is only in his cravats and socks and handkerchiefs that he has the nerve to give way to his passionate longings for beauty and brilliant hues.

* * *

It is only around the edges that the Timid Soul dares break from his dull chrysalis and hint at the gay butterfly that he is at heart.

* * *

After all, why SHOULDN'T a man be colorful and beautiful? Why should he look like an ink-spot upon the scenery when he has all the potentialities of an aurora borealis? Why shouldn't he wear flowered waistcoats, gay golf stockings, wild neckties, and rosettes instead of frogs on his silk pajamas?

* * *

Those gay old boys of the Middle Ages, who flaunted lace frills, long plumes, court-plaster patches and lip-rouge were not such molly-coddles. They fought their duels, wrote their own love-songs, and bullied their women much more effectively than they would have done if the spirit of adventure had been crushed out of them by uniformity and conformity.

* * *

A gay and gorgeous necktie peps up a man's arteries, renews his spirit, brightens his wit, and makes the world seem a better place to live in.

* * *

Oh yes, there is a psychology of color! Somehow, a beautiful lavendar cravat, hose and handkerchief have a softening and polishing effect on a man's manners. They lend him self-confidence and savoir faire.

* * *

A red tie and brightly clocked golf stockings worn with white knickers make him feel like a boy again, and put new life and young ideas into him.

* * *

A woman should encourage the timid masculine soul to express himself as gaudily and brilliantly as his heart desires; for if a man feels that he LOOKS romantic and dashing he is much more likely to be a dashing and romantic lover. And, heaven knows, that's what every woman desires!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, February 17

No man can isolate himself from the rest of the Universe.—Ana Muir.

ALTHOUGH affairs may move along at a lively enough pace, according to astral activities, yet there may be need of discretion and precaution in managing these.

There is an augury of fraud and duplicity as well as loss through speculation or ill-advised investment. Safeguard the money from every angle and do not become involved in any manner of hazardous agreement or conspiracy.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to encounter treachery, fraud and subtlety during the year, unless keen, alert and cautious. Safeguard all money, also the employment and beware speculative enterprises.

A child born on this day should be versatile and clever, but disposed to be visionary and credulous, thereby being a victim of subtley and craft. It should have the idea of principle rather than expediency inculcated in youth.

Beauty and Health are often lost at The Danger Line

That fascinating, flashing line where the pink of gums meets glistening teeth! That is The Danger Line, where decay strikes its most treacherous blow. In those almost invisible crevices where gums meet teeth, tiny particles of food collect and ferment. Acids are formed which attack the teeth, causing decay and gum irritation.

That is why leading authorities recommend Squibb's Dental Cream, made with more than 50% of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. Under its mild, beneficent influence, mouth acids disappear magically. Squibb's Dental Cream contains no harsh abrasive, astringent, nothing but cleansing agents, and Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. It protects the beauty of your smile. At all druggists, 40 cents.

RITZY ROSEY is absorbing the fashion news of the day, as regards hair. The paper tells of a coating of colored brilliantine which solidifies and makes one's head look like a china doll's. Another evening fashion, appealing to growing bobs, is that of wearing a chignon which refuses to come off unless the proper spring is touched to release it.

Why Is Fat So Rare?

There's a reason

Do you realize how uncommon are the people with excess fat? At one time there were many times as many. But men and women came to realize that fat blighted beauty, efficiency and health.

One great factor in this change is a discovery made some two decades ago. Research men found a cause of excess fat. It lies in lack of some elements which turn food into fuel and energy. They found a way to supply those elements.

Twenty years ago that discovery was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People began to use them back in 1907. They told others the results. Thus the use has grown to millions of boxes. You can everywhere see the slender figures which today prevail.

Users of Marmola are not forced to abnormal exercise or diet. They combat the cause of obesity. They simply take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. And they gain at the same time new health and vitality.

The formula of Marmola comes in every box. Also the reasons for results. We do this to ward off any fear of harm. You know what you are taking, and why.

Excess fat blights beauty and health and efficiency. If you suffer from it, learn the right way to combat it. Do this now. Order a box of Marmola and let the results tell you how long to continue. You will be amazed and delighted in many ways. And you will learn that excess fat is inexcusable today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out he will get them at once from his jobber.

Donie Bush.

THE first move in Pittsburgh's plan of battle to repeat last year's pennant victory in the National League will be made tonight, when Manager Donie Bush and his advance guard of battery men start on the big jump to the spring training grounds at Paso Robles, Cal.

It's a long time from February 16 to September 29, and there's no telling what the baseball fates may hold in store for the Pirates during that lengthy period, but certainly the fans of this district have every reason to view the outlook with oodles of optimism.

IN ADDITION to the apparent superiority of the local team over all rivals, even the name of the training camp itself may be said to breed confidence.

This is the fifth straight year in which the Bucs have gone to Paso Robles to do their conditioning work, and in the previous four seasons they have won two pennants and one world championship and have finished third twice for the National League flag.

That comes pretty close to what is known as "getting results," and in view of the fine record it is not to be wondered at that the Corsair management declined to change training sites this spring in spite of the overtures made by San Antonio and other places.

BASKETBALL followers of this section will be afforded good chances tomorrow and Saturday nights to get a line on the game as played by the colleges in the Middle West.

This will be made possible not only by watching the crack Notre Dame team in action against Carnegie Tech and Pitt, but also by studying the work of the referee, as for the first time they will see a Western Conference official at work.

THE Western man selected to work here is Fred H. Young of Bloomington, Ill., a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan University, who has for several years held the repu-

IT CERTAINLY is illuminating to to sit in one of those national committee meetings and listen to some of the ridiculous protests that the national body has to wade through. Soccer managers, as in other sports, are not sticklers for the ethics of the game when it comes to handing in or wording a protest.

In the game protested by the Chicago Swedes it was stated that the referee played three minutes short, and robbed the Swedes of victory, as they were just staging a rally.

And also stated that the referee did not want to see them tie up the game, as he blew his whistle for time while the ball was speeding towards the opposing goal. This was the protest in which it was stated the referee was incompetent.

Just how that decision of the late West Penn appeals committee would stand nationally was indicated by the amateur cup committee, when Chairman Patterson, backing up his colleagues, Angus and Smith, stated that it was foolish to question a referee's ability after a number of years' officiating, and that once a referee was assigned it was impossible to talk of incompetency.

That boy Svenson, outside left of the Detroit Swedish-Americans, is rated the greatest winger in the Michigan city. Svenson played havoc with the Workers' defense, but while he is fast and centers well, he has one failing that will hurt him when a good halfback is met. Svenson runs with the ball close between his toes, and practically drags it, then when he centers the ball carries low.

That boy will be duck soup for

Soccer Leader Arrives Here Saturday

Andrew M. Brown, president of the United States Football Association, governing body of soccer, will arrive in Pittsburgh next Saturday morning to investigate soccer affairs in this vicinity.

A meeting will be arranged for either Saturday night or Sunday afternoon when managers of local soccer teams will be given an opportunity to air their various complaints.

SCHWARZER IS NAMED COACH AT MANHATTAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(INS.)—Joseph K. Schwarzer, for eight years the chief assistant of John F. (Chick) Meehan at Syracuse and later at New York University, has been appointed head coach of football at Manhattan College here for 1928.

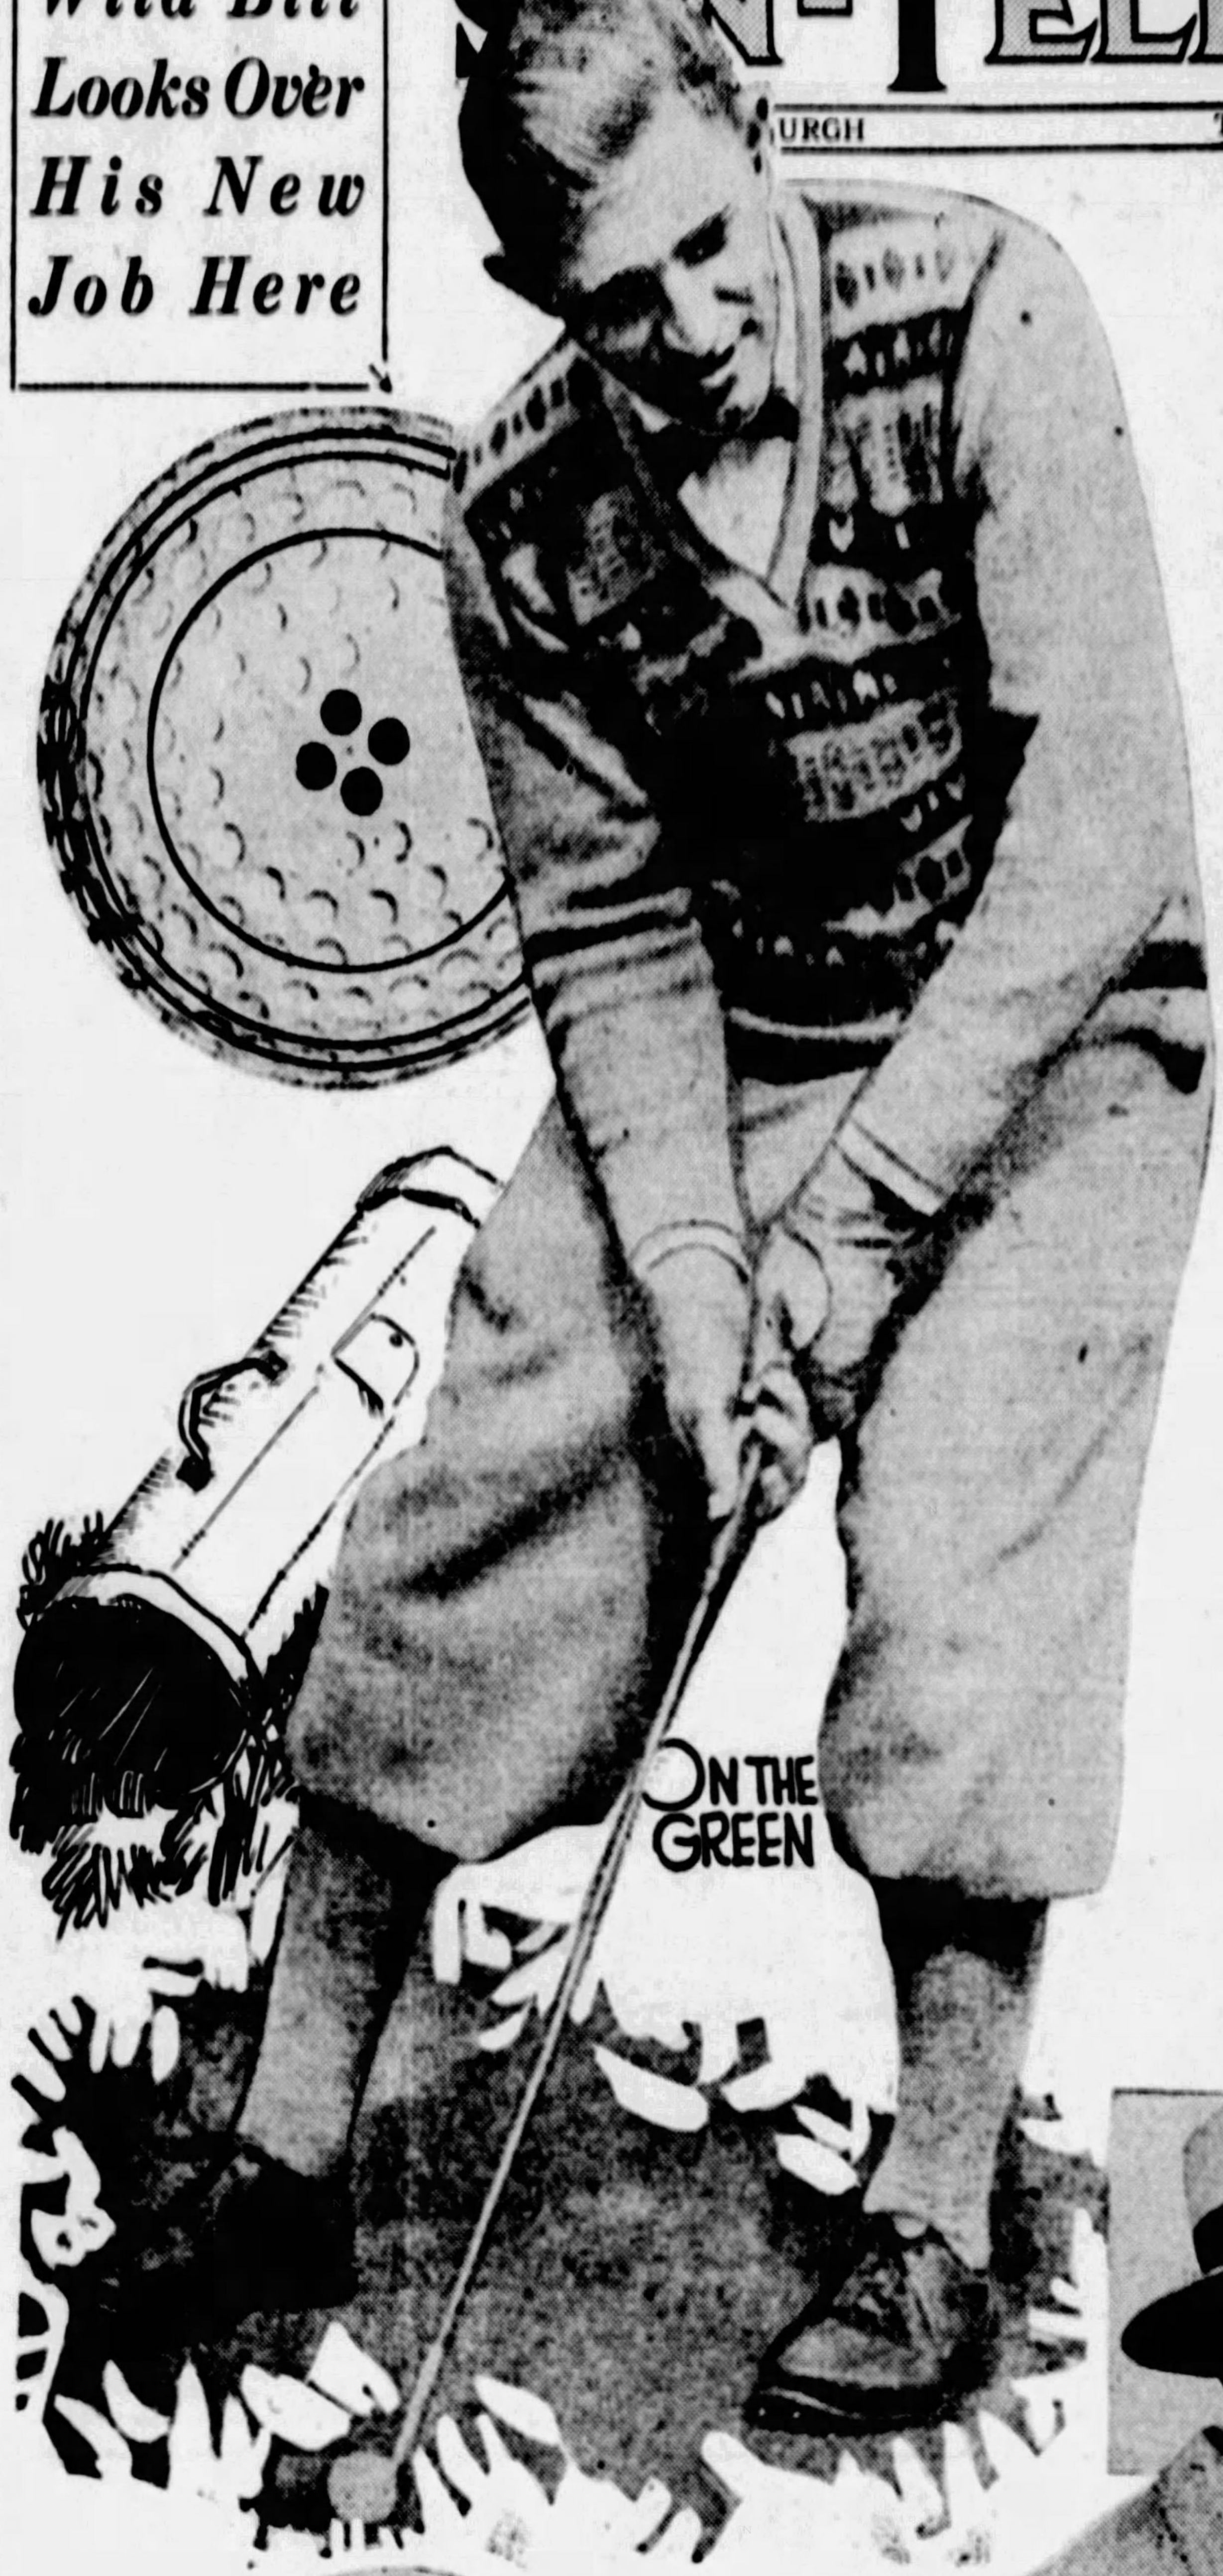
Schwarzer was a star end on the great Syracuse eleven of 1919. As an assistant coach, he is believed to have been responsible for much of Meehan's success.

Announcement of Schwarzer's appointment was made here last night at a banquet attended by 1,200 Manhattan alumni.

GUNTHER LEADS RIVALS

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Feb. 16.—(INS.)—Lloyd Gunther, of Detroit, with a total of 30 points, today was leading all competitors in the Adirondack Gold Cup skating races here. He defeated Eddie Jacobs, of Chicago, in the 440-yard race.

Wild Bill Looks Over His New Job Here



PANTHERS WIN 14TH; TECH BOWS AGAIN

By JESS M. CARVER.

COLLEGE basketball continued along the even tenor of its way here in Pittsburgh last night, as far as the winning or losing of ball games was concerned. There is the usual joy on the Pitt campus today and the usual gloom over at Tech. All of which means that the Panthers walloped Allegheny last night, 56-32, for their fourteenth consecutive victory of the season, while the Skibos took another punch on the lug, losing for the second time to Geneva College, this time by a 34-28 score.

All the joy that is Pitt's today was not brought about entirely by the team's winning from the Methodists. Dr. H. C. Carlson, varsity basketball coach since 1922, is to remain at Pitt for two more years at least (and we sincerely hope for many more), and will not leave at the close of the present season, as it has been rumored that he would.

Prior to the Pitt-Allegheny game, Dr. Carlson put his John Hancock on a new contract, calling for the retention of his services as basketball coach for two more years.

Dr. Carlson took the place of Andy Kerr as freshman football coach and varsity basketball director when Andy went to Stanford. He won three varsity letters while in school.

Duckpin Scores High

A WAVE of high scoring, featured by singles scores of close to 600, doubles marks of better than 1,100 and five-men team tallies that bordered on 2,500, marked the opening of the fourteenth annual tournament of the Southern Duckpin Association on the Club alleys yesterday.

A magnificent one-game score of 235 enabled E. Rightweiser to set the singles pace with 584, and in the doubles, paired with J. Furman, he continued his fine work to put the pair far out in front with 1,168. Hammering the wood for a 2,462 total, the Sharpsburg five-men team hung up a mark that is regarded as a likely tourney winner, while the Brokers' League quintet showed plenty of class in rolling into second place with 2,329.

Hahn to Retire After Olympic Games

FALLS CITY, Neb., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Falls City isn't such a large place that one would expect to pass unnotice for long, and yet Lloyd Hahn, American middle-distance runner and the city's best known citizen, spent several hours here yesterday before his presence became known.

Hahn said his visit would be the last before his retirement from the track. "I'm going to hang the spikes on the wall after the Olympics," he said.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Charles (Buck) Weaver, the largest football player in the Western Conference and the University of Chicago's chief hope in the shotput this spring, has received notice of scholastic ineligibility which will keep him off the track team for at least four weeks. DONIE BUSH IN CHARGE OF PIRATE SQUAD

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

THE consoling touch of baseball breaks on the winter breezes today. More snow may fly in the remaining weeks of the cold season, but the echo of the ball and bat cannot now be stilled, for the Pirates leave tonight to prepare for another big year.

The vanguard out of Pittsburgh is not heavy with famous names; more appropriate, perhaps, is the little cluster of boys who are embarking on their first journey to that fascinating place known as Spring-Training Land.

Nearly every boy, it seems, has an ambition to become a big-league performer. There is a tremendous appeal for a lad in the chance to train with the big-leaguers. In the squad departing tonight are kids who are about to see their dreams come true.

BUSH IN CHARGE

Aside from Manager Donie Bush, who arrived in Pittsburgh this morning to take charge of the party, only seven actual players are in the group that will board the 8:20 train at the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Station.

The players in the party are: Bill Haeffner and Ralston Hemsley, catchers, and Joe Dawson, Charles Walsh, Regis Leheny, John Deming

Pitt Will Fete Grads Here Saturday

Several hundred alumni of the University of Pittsburgh will attend the basketball game here Saturday night between the undefeated Panthers and Notre Dame as the guests of the Pitt athletic council.

The visitors, after meeting with the university athletic officials at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, will be taken on a tour of inspection of the university buildings and the stadium and will be given an opportunity of noting the progress of the preliminary work on the cathedral of learning.

At 5:15 o'clock the alumni will be guests at a dinner at the Faculty Club, after which they will go to the stadium to witness the basketball game.

Quamowahu, the only Indian entrant thus far was born at Oraibi, Arizona, and has competed in many long distance races. C. C. Pyle, promoter of the event, has announced prizes of more than $48,500 for the winners.

F. Ahearn, Kansas Aggie athletic director, announced here today.

BILL MEHLHORN HARRY E. PRETTYMAN

The first man to greet the new Wilkinsburg Country Club professional as he stepped off the train for a brief visit to his new stamping grounds was President Harry E. Prettyman, shown above shaking hands with Mehlhorn. The internationally-known golf professional was very much pleased with the prospects at his new club, and, while he will leave tomorrow for Belleair, Fla., where he will compete in the remaining winter tournaments, expressed an eagerness to get started here. Above, Mehlhorn appears in a characteristic putting stance, a pose that will be a familiar one in local golfing circles this summer.

SMILING BILL ◆

NOTE THE "MUSSY"

Mehlhorn brought a "new face" with him on his short visit here; he is in the midst of growing a mustache, first seen in Pittsburgh yesterday. His smile has won for him the enviable nickname of "Smilin' Bill."

GIANTS IN CAMP

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 16.—The 1928 baseball training season has opened here, 13 Giant pitchers and catchers being engaged in workouts.

FIVE BOUTS ARRANGED FOR LYCEUM SMOKER

Five of seven bouts have been arranged for the amateur boxing show and smoker to be held in the Pittsburgh Lyceum tomorrow night. Jimmy Rooney of the Lyceum and Buck McTiernon of Swissvale have been matched in the main bout. They are 175 pounders. The card thus far completed follows:

175 pounds, Jim Rooney, Lyceum, vs. Buck McTiernon; 160 pounds, Tom Malco, Lyceum, vs. Hugh Fetzer, North Side; 145 pounds, Dominick Proffo, Lyceum, vs. Joe Blair, North Side; 126 pounds, Syl Pastorius, Lyceum, vs. George Laird, North Side; Tom Rescio, Lyceum, vs. Mike Fortunato, Mt. Washington.

Three Out of Ten Is Bill's Aim

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

SMILIN' WILD BILL didn't leave town today as he expected, and will not be on his way South until tomorrow. Mehlhorn, from his apartment in the Morrowfield, said he is going to give his wrenched leg a chance to mend before continuing his journey to Belleair.

Meantime he is resting up in preparation for what he considers one of his biggest campaigns of the winter season.

"Starting with Belleaire, I'm going to play in all of 10 big tournaments before I return—and you can take it from me that I'll be in the money in every one. I only expect to win three.

"How do I figure the winter tournaments? Are they harder than the national competitions? Why, they're much harder by far. In the national open one is playing with only the best of golfers; there is little to worry you from your fellowp layers for they're all good. But in the winter barnstorming tournaments, every chap who thinks he knows how to swing a golf club takes a chance—and you can take it from me that some of those babies often take a spurt of super-golf and ruin the works. Not that these fellows could do it all of the time, it's just an inspiration with them, and they do make it tough on all of us."

Davies-Wolgast Bout Title in Dispute

By HARRY KECK.
Sun-Telegraph Sports Editor.

WILL the bout between Willie Davies of Charleroi and Midget Wolgast of Philadelphia, at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, involve the state flyweight championship?

Nay, nay, says the State Athletic Commission, which has notified the club to refrain from advertising the affair as a titular match.

Yea, yea, say the managers of both boxers, who are tiring of the controversy over the ownership of the bauble.

Yea, yea, say the fans, who recognize in Davies and Wolgast the two leading flyweights of the state.

Yea, yea, says the club, which has all its advertising out, at considerable cost, and cannot recall it successfully in the short time remaining before the show.

A rose by any other name would be just as sweet, and, by the same token, the bout, whether officially or unofficially for a championship, is likely to be just the same. Davies always sets a fast pace and Wolgast won the decisions of one judge and the referee over him the last time they met, in Philadelphia. So,

WILLIAM GREENWOOD'S effort to overhaul Bob Carter in the Pittsburgh three-cushion billiard league race was unsuccessful, and today Carter is out in front by a game and a half. Greenwood lost to Carter in a fine match last night, played before a good-sized crowd on the Kalmer tables by a 45-33 score.

Carter got away to a five-point lead before his rival could score, and then, after some fine play by both men, found himself trailing, 31-30. He pulled up again, however, and finally, after 80 innings, managed to win out.

Carter had high runs of six and five. Greenwood had a string of five to his credit.

Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia, three-cushion billiard champion, is creating quite a furore in the American Three-Cushion League. Last week Otto came to life and won four games, one of his victims being Allen Hall, long-time leader. Willie Hoppe took advantage of the opportunity and forged to the front by a margin of one-half game. Alfred DeOro shares "upset" honors with Reiselt. Although in last place, DeOro has taken more than his share of games from pace-setters.

A feature of the American League race is the play of Hall against Hoppe. Allen has met Willie only four times in league matches, and has emerged victorious in all encounters.

Allain Rengwist, bowling on the Capitol alleys, Homestead, Tuesday night, turned in a total of 671 pins for three games in duckpins. He started with 185, made 256 in his second and finished with 240 in the third. Rengwist finished his second game with nine successive strikes and started his third with six in a row for a total of 15 straight strikes.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16—(AP.)—Welker Cochran, former holder of the world's 18.2 billiard championship, said today that he was on his last tour as a billiard pro. He is now playing a 4,000-point series here with Jake Schaefer, who won the title from Cochran last fall.

At the end of his present campaign next month, Cochran said, he expects to join a New York Stock Exchange firm and retire from billiard competition.

LION DIAMOND VARSITY TO PLAY 19 GAMES

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 16—Nineteen games have been scheduled for the Penn State baseball team for the coming season, Malcolm Gager, student manager, announced today. The schedule includes a southern spring training trip early in April, during which six games will be played. Two eastern trips are arranged for later in the season.

The Lions will play a two-game series at Syracuse in May, meeting the Orange nine on successive days. On the second eastern trip Penn State will meet Penn, Princeton and Holy Cross.

The complete schedule, which was approved by the board of control of athletics, is as follows:

April 2, University of Virginia at Charlottesville; April 3, Duke University at Durham, N. C.; April 4, Wake Forest College at Wake Forest, N. C.; April 5, Elon College at Elon College; April 6, Randolph-Macon at Ashland, Va.; April 7, Georgetown at Washington, D. C.; April 12, Juniata at State College; April 14, Dickinson at State College; April 20, Gettysburg at State College; April 21, Ursinus at State College; April 28, Villa Nova at State College; May 4 and 5, Syracuse at Syracuse; May 12, Albright at State College; May 16, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; May 17, Princeton at Princeton; May 19, Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass.; May 24, Lebanon Valley at State College; June 2, Bucknell at State College; June 11, Alumni at State College.

FREAK BASEBALL GAME STAGED IN BERKELEY

BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 16—Permitting batsmen to take either first or third when the bases were unoccupied, the University of California nine and the Ambrose Tailors yesterday presented for local fans Carl Zamloch's new idea of baseball.

Critics who attended the freak contest were enthusiastic about its success. Among those in attendance were Joe Devine, Pirate scout; Ray Douthit, Cardinal outfielder, and Bill Rogers, manager of the Little Rock Club.

The Tailors, most of them former big leaguers, could not get accustomed to throwing to third base and went down to defeat, 10 to 9.

Thaw Halts Tests Again

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—The Olympic winter sports were resumed today after a day's interruption, Belgium defeating France at hockey, 3 to 1.

After yesterday's warm spell, the ice was in fairly good condition since there was a relatively hard frost during the early morning hours. As soon as the sun rose, however, the ice again began to thaw.

The scheduled hockey match between Germany and Switzerland started on a rink covered with water.

The figure skating for women was held between 10 and 11 a. m., but the sun was too strong and the event had to be abandoned before the program was completed. Miss Beatrix Loughran of the United States made an extremely popular showing.

With their protest against the refusal of the International Olympic Committee to accept the mark made by Irving Jaffee in the 10,000 meter race still unanswered, the United States speed skaters left for Paris today.

As the teams of Norway, Sweden, Finland and Austria had already left, there was no possibility that the race would be run over again.

However, as Gustavus T. Kirby, manager of the American skaters, declared, "As far as we are concerned, we consider Jaffee Olympic champion in the 10,000-meters race."

Jaffee's time went by the board when the referee called off the event, which took place Tuesday. A protest was filed by the Americans yesterday.

It was understood today that the United States delegation would ask the Olympic committee to decide on their protest before the start of figure skating competition at Amsterdam.

tation of being one of the best officials in his territory. He refereed the game that Pitt played at South Bend last season and gave entire satisfaction.

Sykes Reed.

Young will officiate as referee at both the Carnegie Tech-Notre Dame game on the Skibo floor tomorrow night, and at Notre Dame's contest with Capt. Sykes Reed's team in the Panther stadium on Saturday night.

Cal Bolster will umpire the tilt at Carnegie Tech and Beggs Snyder will fill that role in the game at Pitt.

THE appointment of a Western official to referee Notre Dame's games here is interesting to local fans on account of the fact that it may be expected to show the difference between Eastern and Western basketball. The game-goers will have an opportunity to compare the Western foul-calling, etc., with the system followed by officials of this district.

It is said that fewer fouls are called in the West, and that the game is freer and more open. The officials are strict when the play is near either end of the court, but when it is out in the center of the floor they are not so quick to call fouls, and the result is said to be that the spectators are saved much of the tiresome whistle-blowing and are given a better game.

WHILE baseball, basketball and hockey are holding the center of the Pittsburgh sport stage next week, a suggestion of football is going to creep in.

Judge Walter P. Steffen of the Superior Court of Chicago, who, off the bench, is Wally Steffen, head football coach at Carnegie Tech and one of the smartest and most successful gridiron mentors in America, is coming to Pittsburgh from the Windy City next Tuesday for a short visit.

Wally Steffen.

During his stay he will hold a conference with Graduate Manager Buddy Overend and other Plaid athletic officials, during which the preliminary plans for 1928 will be mapped out, and arrangements made for spring practice and other features in connection with the next gridiron campaign.

JOHN MILJUS, Lawrenceville native, who looked like the oft-mentioned million dollars multiplied a few times while performing on the slab for the Pirates last fall, and who is expected to prove one of Donie Bush's most effective defense guns this year, has just won another honor.

John Miljus.

He has been chosen for the pitcher's berth on the all-star Pacific Coast League club of 1927.

A ballot taken among the critics of the circuit to pick the all-star team of the coast loop for last season resulted in the following selections:

Of these, Miljus is now with the Pirates, O'Doul is with the Giants and Reese and Lary have been bought by the Yankees for 1929.

WHEN recent comebacks in the fight game are being discussed, don't overlook Willie Harmon, Jewish welterweight, who is well known to Pittsburgh fans by reason of his having fought in Motor Square Garden a number of times.

Willie Harmon

Before his engagements here near the end of 1927 Harmon was said to be slipping, as he had been beaten by Vince Dundee, held to a draw by Tommy White and had given seven other disappointing performances.

However, Willie's success in beating Young Sailor and Jack Zivic here appeared to give him a new start, and he has since been traveling at an impressive clip. His win over Canada Lee in New York Monday night lengthened his string to six straight victories.

Willie himself said while here for the Zivic fight that he figured he would be good for only one year more in the ring, but his present pace indicates that his retirement is a much greater distance in the future.

one in football, basketball and baseball. He was football captain in 1917.

Pitt now has something aside from football and basketball victories over which to cheer.

In the Tartan-Geneva game, the Skibos neglected to outscore Geneva in the second half, as they did Pitt and Penn State, and so lost the ball game. They were behind one point at half time, trailing 17-18, but in the second 20-minute period Geneva tallied 16 points to Tech's 11, more than enough to win.

GENEVA GOOD

Bo McMillin has a pretty good basketball team, one that will give most any club a battle. Rubenstein and Friedman, the forwards, are both good players, Friedman showing with especial brilliance. Moy is handicapped to a great extent with a bad, bad knee.

Capt. White tied hard to win for Tech, and so did Brown. White sunk five baskets, Brown four. The rest of the team was just so-so, more so-so than ever, perhaps, in that their passing was away off and their defense very spotty. Julian Bond, handicapped with a pair of bum legs, played a creditable game.

Reed, Wrobleski, Hyatt and Zehfuss, Pitt's scoring aces, accounted for the majority of the Panther points against Allegheny. Reed was the leading scorer, with seven baskets and three foul points for a total of 17 points. Nesbitt, Allegheny center, matched Capt. Sykes' basket shooting, sinking seven goals of his own.

Pitt led, 20-13 at half time.

SOCCER NEWS

Joe Fagan should they meet. Of course, neither Heidelberg or the Swedes may enter the next round, but Heidelberg will probably meet this outfit in the Western final. Detroit is looking forward to River Rouge Scots meeting the Swedes.

STAND BY REFEREES

Pressed for an opinion regarding the action of the West Penn delegates in suspending the president and secretary of the local body, quite a number of the big wigs of soccer in Cleveland Sunday felt that there was nothing new in the action of the local league. Impeaching soccer officials has been done in the past and will be done in the future, stated one well-posted soccer man.

"Who puts the officials in those positions?" asked the same man. "The leagues of course. Then why cannot they also remove the same appointees from office if they fail to function. No one in the West questions the legality of the movement, and nothing could be done by the officials except to appeal to the newly-formed council for a rehearing of the case."

The fact that some one on trial does not put in an appearance does not lessen the evidence. But, on the other hand, tends to give the impression that fighting the evidence would disclose other matters.

Now that the leagues have fully indorsed and backed H. H. Fairfield to finish the season as president, and P. J. Donohoe as secretary, another meetin— should be called of the entire body to study all committees and find just how many active workers there are in the ranks. And incidentally John Watson should be able to get the proper support from his cup committee.

The new members are going to have a tough row to hoe until the end of this season. With the change goes the Olympic fund trouble. And then Ohio wants to come to Pittsburgh for a Sunday game, and there is little doubt that this game will be staged.

There are more than friendly feelings between Ohio and West Penn just now, and the officials of both wish the good feelings to continue.

There seems to be considerable dissatisfaction in the Monongahela section regarding the scheduling of both junior semi-finals at the Heidelberg grounds.

In this connection, Jimmy Stark, 100 per cent booster of upriver soccer, kicks in with a letter regarding the reconsideration of the venue by the committee.

Stark points out that one of the contesting teams is from the upriver league and therefore is entitled to some consideration, and also that it is not giving the fans from the upriver division an opportunity to see the big cup tie games.

Gallatin is suggested by the upriver representative and the writer admits that Gallatin would draw just as good a gate as can be drawn at Heidelberg when junior games are played.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—(INS.)—With the receipt today of the signed contract of Outfielder Al Tyson, only seven members of the Brooklyn Robins remain unsigned. Tyson played with Buffalo last season, following his release by the New York Giants. Last spring Tyson led the National League in batting for a spell.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—Babe Ruth has hit upon a new reducing plan. The Yankee slugging star motored out to Kennett Square where he went fox hunting with his team mate, Herb Pennock, Yankee southpaw hurling ace.

Miller May Get Coaching Post At F. & M.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16.—(INS.)—Following a luncheon engagement here between Dr. Theodore Appel, president of Franklin and Marshall College, and Jonathan K. (Poss) Miller, freshman football coach of the University of Pennsylvania, it was freely reported today that Miller would be appointed football mentor of the Lancaster institution following a meeting of the athletic committee this week.

Miller will assume the post in time to hold football practice this spring, according to the reports. Neither Dr. Appel nor Miller would confirm or deny the report that only the approval of the athletic committee was needed to complete the deal for Miller's services. It is known F. & M. officials have long been trying to secure Miller.

TIERNEY OUT TO REPEAT IN BUERMEYER EVENT

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—(AP.)—Joe Tierney of the New York A. C., former Holy Cross star, hopes to equal the feat of Ted Meredith by winning the Buermeyer 500, feature event at the New York A. C. indoor track games here next Monday night.

Meredith has been the only athlete to win the Buermeyer 500 twice in the 10 years it has been in competition. Meredith was victor in 1915 and 1916. Tierney has one leg on the trophy as a result of winning the event in 1924 while competing for Holy Cross, when he established the present world's record of 58 seconds for 500 yards.

LAMBART, CREW STAR, REPORTED MARRIED

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(INS.)—An unconfirmed rumor swept the Columbia University campus today that Eric Lambart, captain of the Blue and White crew, which won the intercollegiate championship at Poughkeepsie last year, had been married and will not return to college. Lambart has been visiting in Chicago since the end of the term and will be ineligible if he does not register for the next semester by day after tomorrow.

Columbia students take little stock in reports that the star stroke is piqued because he was not re-elected captain for this year.

LOCAL GOLFERS LOSE IN FLORIDA TOURNEY

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16—Pittsburgh received a triple setback in the second round of match play in the South Florida amateur championship golf tournament here yesterday, when J. H. Witman, L. E. Sikes and W. H. Arnold were eliminated from the competition.

A fire-fighter is as good as his muscles

7 out of 10 fire-fighters questioned use this to avoid muscle lameness

A FIRE-FIGHTER has to keep his muscles always strong and supple. He must be able to climb and spring with the sureness and swiftness of a cat—to perform almost superhuman feats of strength.

And yet think of the conditions under which he works! Out in all kinds of weather, drenched for hours with the spray from the big hose, he is constantly exposed to the chilling that causes stiffness of the muscles, rheumatism, chest congestions. And his heavy muscular strains—the risks he takes—cannot but bring a certain amount of lameness and numerous minor injuries.

We went right to the fire-fighters themselves and asked them how they ward off the results of chilling—what they use for lameness, stiffness, congestions, injuries.

Out of hundreds questioned, 7 out of 10 said they use Sloan's.

All workers who face exposure and strain praise it

In every walk of life where men and women work hard—face exposure—run the risk of accidents—you'll find Sloan's Liniment the standby. It saves them hours of pain, days of lost time.

Read this statement from a lifeguard at Coney Island.

"I have been a lifeguard for the City of New York for many years, and sometimes after being out on the beach all day in rainy weather, I come home aching all over with muscular rheumatism. But as soon as I apply Sloan's Liniment the pain goes away. I also find it good for a rub down after a long swim or a rescue, and I always carry Sloan's Liniment in my first-aid kit." Walter C. Menyhart, 918 Gravesend Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

And this from a policeman: "I have had Sloan's Liniment give me great relief when all others fail. I recommend Sloan's for all pains in the back and legs. I do a lot of walking and am exposed to all kinds of weather." W. R. Christy, 1933 Master St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Sloan's is sure—quick

What makes Sloan's Liniment relieve pain where all other liniments fail?

Simply because Sloan's works by stirring up the body's own powers to heal itself. It doesn't just deaden the pain. It gets at the cause. It stirs up the circulation—breaks congestion—clears out germs and poisons. The pain stops because the trouble is gone. You can get a bottle that will last a long time for 35 cents at any druggist's. Use it for:

Rheumatism — Lame muscles
Sciatica — Stiff neck
Lumbago — Colds and congestions
Neuralgia
Sprains and bruises

One of the fire-fighters questioned. 7 out of 10 told us that they use Sloan's to protect them from exposure and strain

The company doctor of one of the biggest industries of the country says of Sloan's: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

SHOTS and PASSES

by Julius Levin

THE Corry Keystones, one of the leading professional basketball teams in Western Pennsylvania, will make its first appearance in this section Saturday night when they clash with the McKeesport Cyclers on the McKeesport Y. M. C. A. floor.

The Keystones are one of the few teams in this section to score a victory over the famous New York Celtics, champions of the American Professional League. Other strong clubs which have suffered defeat at Corry this year were the Duquesne Lafayettes, champions of the Allegheny County League and the Enoch Rauh Club.

Manager Lefty Saunders of the Cyclers has been dickering with the Corry management for a game in McKeesport ever since the floor campaign got under way and the announcement that he has finally succeeded in arranging a contest has struck a popular chord with the followers of the Tubers.

NEXT Saturday night the Young Men's Hebrew Association varsity and reserve quintets will strive to survive elimination in the annual A. A. U. tournament when they face tough opponents on the Kingsley House floor, a neutral court.

The varsity quintet has drawn the strong Webster Hall passers of the West Penn League as their opponents, while the reserves are scheduled to meet the crack Penn Five of the Central League in the preliminary.

Although Webster Hall defeated the Bellefielders earlier in the season, the Y passers feel confident they will turn the tables on their rivals next Saturday.

In stacking up against the Penn Five of Sharpsburg the reserves face what many consider one of the strongest quintets operating in this section this winter. The Penn Five is entered in the two leading classes of the A. A. U. tournament, being scheduled to meet the strong North Side Community House passers in the first-class division on the One Hundred and Seventy-sixth Field Artillery floor tomorrow night.

WITH the withdrawal of Braddock as a member and Butler threatening to follow suit, the Allegheny County League may have only four franchise holders remaining when the third round of play is opened.

The County League, with only a few exceptions, has been encountering difficulties in making professional basketball a paying proposition this season and the action of Braddock comes as no surprise to the followers of the league.

The Rauhs and Lafayettes appear to be the only clubs drawing good crowds to their games. Broadway Club has one of the best teams enrolled in the loop, but has been unable to make a showing owing to its inability to muster its full strength for league games. The majority of the Broadway Club regulars play with the McKeesport Cyclers.

STRENGTHENED by the return of Malcolm and Smith, regular guards, who were unable to play against the Sianos last Monday night, the McKees Rocks Business Men are confident they will turn the tables on the Columbus Temple team tonight when they clash in a P. & O. League battle on the Hamilton school floor.

The McKees Rocks team was handed a neat lacing the last time they met the Sianos and will be out for revenge tonight. The Sianos, however, still are in the running for the P. & O. League title and will strive to avert elimination tonight.

DRIBBLES

Defeated by the St. Michael's Sokols of Homestead Tuesday night, the Goldensons will attempt to get revenge tomorrow night when the two clubs meet in a return game at the Market House. The Goldensons have been playing good basketball despite the fact they have been losing consistently.

Mickey Gross is playing a fine game for the Broadway Club in the Allegheny County League this season. A heady player who knows what to do on the court, Gross is one of the best guards enrolled in this loop this winter.

Followers of junior basketball are eagerly awaiting the first game of a three-game series between the Lou Gordon Juniors and the Red McMahon Club of the South Side, scheduled to start a week from tonight at Columbus Temple. The game will be the preliminary to the Somerman attraction at Columbus Temple. Both teams rang among the leaders in their class.

The Connellsville Kaceys, including in their lineup Dick Schrading, of Webster Hall, and Clem Crowe, former Notre Dame star, want games at home and abroad with teams in this section. Write J. R. DeTemple, Box 31, South Connellsville, Pa.

Hill Top Y and the Lancer Club clash at Kingsley House Saturday night to determine which of the two clubs enters the semi-finals of the A. A. U. tournament.

The annual Tri-State junior and senior basketball tournament will be held in the Washington Gardens, Washington, Pa., on Friday and Saturday, March 15 and 16. Entry blanks may be obtained by calling Washington 79-.

LARGE CROWD TO SEE MINERS' FUND BOUTS

A capacity crowd is expected at the benefit boxing bouts to be staged in the General A. J. Logan Armory in Oakland Saturday night for the benefit of the destitute families of the miners. The fights are being held under the auspices of the One Hundred Seventy-Sixth Field Artillery and are sanctioned by the A. M. A. of the A. A. U.

Ten bouts, which will bring together the cream of the amateur fighters of Western Pennsylvania, will be staged. The first bout will begin at 8 o'clock.

Yale Put Out Of Floor Race

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 16.—(INS.)—Yale today is out of the running in the Eastern Collegiate Basketball League race. The Elis, who won their first two league contests, were beaten again by Cornell here last night and have now dropped three championship games.

By winning Cornell gained undisputed possession of third place. The Ithacans took the lead early in the game and triumphed by a score of 29 to 18, Masten scoring 19 of the winners' points. The league standing:

Team.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Penn	3	1	.750
Dartmouth	2	1	.667
Cornell	3	2	.600
Princeton	2	2	.500
Yale	2	3	.400
Columbia	1	4	.250

Bucs Favored Over Champs

OTTAWA, Ontario, Feb. 16.—The Pirates wind up their road trip playing the world champion Ottawa Senators here tonight. The visitors are on a victory spree that has carried them into a play-off berth, and, if their work of the last few weeks is kept up tonight, the outlook for a local triumph is gloomy.

The titleholders, however, are not in the least alarmed at the spurt of the Pirates. They have been resting for a week and are primed for the invaders.

Darcy Larochelle, the new Pirate obtained from Les Canadiens on Monday, will make his debut against the locals. It is the intention of Manager Cleghorn to put the newcomer on the secondary line of offense. The probable lineup:

Pirates.		Senators.
Worters	G	Connell
Burke	D	Clancy
McCaffrey	D	Boucher
Milks	C	Nighbor
Darragh	W	Finnigan
Cotton	W	Kilrea

Pirate spares—Drury, White, McKinnon, McCurry, Smith and Larochelle. Ottawa spares—Denneny, Broadbent, Godwin, A. Smith and Grosvenor.

The Pirates will leave Ottawa tomorrow morning and will arrive home Saturday morning to take on the stubborn New York Americans Saturday night on the Duquesne Garden ice. The fact that the Bucs are in the money and the appearance of Lionel Conacher and his bespangled mates promises to bring out the largest crowd of the season.

MONTREAL, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—The Flying Frenchmen of Montreal's Canadiens, Howie Morenz and Aurel Joliat, are setting a burning pace for scoring honors in the National Hockey League. Statistics including games of February 12, released today, place the superlative Canadien pair well in the lead of all other puck chasers in both the American and Canadian divisions.

Morenz has shot 24 goals and has assisted in counting 12 others for a total of 36 points. Joliat has dented the draperies 20 times and has aided in piling up six other scores for a mark of 26 points. The best showing in the American division was made by Hay, of the Detroit Cougars, who shot 12 goals with 10 assists to tie the third men in the Canadian ranks, Carson, of Toronto, and Gagne, a teammate of Joliat and Morenz.

Shore, husky Boston checker, outclassed both divisions in getting into trouble on the ice. His record of 114 minutes in the penalty box left Johnson, of the New York Rangers, a poor second with 95 minutes. Joliat, with 63 minutes of penalties, ranked high among the Canadian division's "bad men." Duncan, of Toronto, led the parade to the sideline in that division with a mere 71 minutes out of action.

FORMER CHAMP ASSISTS RING KING

Gene Tunney started work at Miami Beach, Fla., the other day for his second bout since becoming heavyweight champion of the world. He will meet the winner of the current elimination series in New York in June. He evidently thinks Jack Sharkey will be that foe, for he has engaged Jack Britton, former welterweight champion and one of the cleverest ringmen of modern times, to assist him in his conditioning work. Sharkey is the best boxer of the surviving contenders.

BEATTY MEETS SOLMEN

Professional boxing shows are scheduled at McKeesport, Johnstown and Meadville tonight and amateur cards are billed at the Y. M. H. A. and the St. Nicholas Lyceum in Masonic Hall, North Side.

Three eight-round battles and a six-rounder make up the McKeesport program, which will be headed by a clash between Allen Beatty, Negro sensation of Uniontown, who now makes his home in the Tube City, and Mickey Solmen of New Castle, a protege of Jimmy Dime and Eddie Weygant.

Jack O'Connell, Cleveland middleweight, and Linn Jordan of Johnstown will box the semi-final and Andy Nanci and Andy Tomosky will meet in the other feature event, with Jack Wells of Wellsburg, W. Va., and Elmo Clark of New Castle boxing the opener.

Johnny Hahn of Oil City will clash with Al Delmonte of Buffalo and Louis Severo of Meadville will box Scotty McAleer of Erie.

The McKeesport Club has a local rivalry match in the making between Phil Scello and Teddy Welch, Tube City lightweights.

ESTERBROOK MEETS ROZGALL

Mike Rozgall of Omaha boxes Tedy Esterbrook of Niles, O., in a 10-round bout at Chicago tonight.

The referee of the Eagles' Club in East Liverpool, O., writes that the Freddie Boylstein-Walter Dickerson bout there last Monday night was not a draw, as reported, but resulted in a clean-cut victory for Boylstein, who won all of the six rounds.

Rudy Coder boxes Johnny Roberts in a 12-round battle at Charlotte, N. C., tonight.

A change has been made in the location of the reserved seat ticket window at Motor Square Garden. Instead of being on Trade way, between Baum boulevard and Center avenue, this entrance will be from Baum at the corner of Trade way. Under the new arrangement it will be possible to handle the crowds with considerable more dispatch than in the past. The reservation window will be open throughout the week.

Matty First Hurler To Save His Arm

By FRANK S. MENKE.

THE advent of Christy Mathewson into major league balldom practically ended the practice of pitchers devoting their greatest energy toward fanning a batsman.

Before Matty's time, a moundsman considered it a rather vital thing to strike out an enemy swatsmith. But Matty, making no supreme effort to achieve strikeouts, developed into a brilliant success just the same, and one day, when he was asked all about it, he answered:

"I believe in using the support that is given me. I have one man back of the plate to help—seven other men back of me ready to help. What then, is the logic of my trying to strike out every batter and thus put a heavy strain upon my arm when it is much easier to put the ball where the batter can hit it—INTO THE HANDS OF MY TEAMMATES?"

There was no denying the common sense viewpoint of "Big Six" nor was there anything but approval for his added reflections:—

"I consider it rather foolish for a pitcher to go out on to the mound and try to do all the work himself. Why let the seven infielders and outfielders remain idle? Such a program shortens a pitcher's career by many years. Futhermore, when a pitcher practically throws his arm out in every game, he is not very effective.

"A smart pitcher will save his arm from strain for the moments of absolute emergency. When I pitch I never try to strike out the batsman until such a feat is absolutely necessary to win or save a ball game. Therefore, by taking it easy with my arm during the greater part of the game, I have a lot of reserve energy stored up and usually am successful in either striking out the batter or forcing him to hit the ball for an easy out.

"The rest of the time I put the ball where the batsman can hit it, but try to put it there in such a way that when he does, he isn't hitting it too often into safe territory."

Before Matty's time, nearly all the pitchers had a long list of strikeouts as their chief ambition. But Matty taught them that to WIN the ball game, and save the arm at the same time, was the saner and smarter act.

And so the others began to follow Matty's example. Beyond Walter Johnson, Rube Waddell and Dazzy Vance—men with blinding speed—none of the pitchers in the past 20 years have flashed strikeout records like those in the earlier seasons.

But, by the same token, the pitchers of the last 20 seasons, as a group, have lasted longer in big league harness and pitched more consistent baseball all during their careers than did the majority of them prior to Matty's time.

So to Christy Mathewson must go the perpetual credit of revolutionizing pitching to a point where the value of strikeouts faded and control and the saving of the arm became the greater things.

Bar Philly Racer From Speed Events

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP.)—The huge 36-cylinder triplex racing machine, owned by J. M. White of Philadelphia, has been barred from competition in the twenty-fifth annual speed carnival which opened yesterday, because it does not conform to the rules of the American Automobile Association.

The machine was barred because it did not have a clutch, differential or reverse gear, as provided by rules of the association.

White has accepted the decision amicably and will make an individual effort to break the existing record either during or after the regular speed tests, but that should the monster machine exceed the record of 203.7 miles an hour made by Maj. H. O. D. Segrave in his Mystery Sunbeam it would not be recognized officially by the A. A. A.

White's elimination leaves only Frank Lockhart, American racer, and Malcolm Campbell, a British driver, to try in the competition.

PIRATES

and Roy Mahaffey, pitchers. The entire group totals 16 persons, including Treasurer and Mrs. Samuel W. Dreyfuss, newspapermen, Trainer George Asten and Caleb McCarey, clubhouse boy.

The advance party is due to reach Cleveland about midnight. At the Ohio metropolis their cars will be switched from the Erie depot to the New York Central tracks, after which they will rush on to Chicago.

Arriving in Chicago tomorrow morning, the party will be augmented to the extent of six others. Those slated to join in at that point are: Coach Oscar Stanage and Carmen Hill, Ervin Brame, Walter Tauscher, Glenn Spencer, Lester Bartholomew and Burleigh Grimes.

A layover of six hours is carded for Chicago. The two groups will go into a huddle at the Santa Fe Station in time to be ready to board the train that will carry them all the way from Chicago to Los Angeles.

The flyer is due to reach Kansas City shortly after midnight. Keeping the vigil at that mid-western point will be Coach Jewel Ens and Earl Smith and Claude Linton, catchers. This trio will hop on and in less than 30 minutes the train will head out for the far stretches of the Southwest for California.

There will be no additions to the squad from the time the train leaves Kansas City until it reaches Los Angeles. In the City of the Angels three pitchers, John Miljus, Fred Fussell and James Lindsey, will anxiously await the train.

The Santa Fe Flyer is scheduled to reach Los Angeles Monday morning at 7:35. At this point the players move from the Santa Fe to the Southern Pacific Station, where they will make a quick connection for Paso Robles. Most of the day will be taken up in the ride northward to the training site. The squad is due to each the town at 4:42.

Five other members of the family will be in Paso Robles to greet the big squad. Remy Kremer and George Peery, pitchers; Pete Scott, outfielder-catcher, and Coaches Chic Fraser and Joe Devine have been instructed to report at camp on Monday.

The first practice session is carded for Tuesday morning.

CUBS IN FIRST DRILL

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—Pitchers and catchers of the Cubs were ready for their first day of spring drill at Catalina Island today, with the word from Manager Joe McCarthy that, for a while, the daily toil would last only an hour or so.

"If the boys want to play golf after that," said McCarthy, "that will be fine. Some golf will do them good."

When he went down to the pier to meet his athletes yesterday McCarthy confessed that the high wind that morning had caused him to lose a dozen balls on the first nine holes.

BOB, BRIDE CONFIDENT

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 16.—Bob O'Farrell, star catcher and former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, was married here yesterday to Miss Arolene Edwards of Chicago. "Play good ball," the clergyman admonished the couple. "We will," the newlyweds chorused.

The Whole Pacific Coast Is An Awakening Giant.

By B. C. FORBES

IN THE NORTHWEST, Feb. 15. THE city of Portland reminds me, first, of Toronto, then of New England. It is staid, solid, conservative. It is almost unwestern. Rather, it used to have that atmosphere.

On this trip I noticed a change. It impresses one as more progressive, more hustling, more wideawake, more enterprising, more aggressive, more ambitious.

And it certainly has grown. I had thought of it as a rather slow-moving, slow-growing city, well satisfied with itself, a bit proud, viewing the bustle of other cities as somewhat cheap, somewhat bizarre, somewhat beneath the dignity of the substantial, beautiful city of roses.

WELL, Portland today is up and doing. It is not satisfied to sit on the sidelines and see the procession go by. It has jumped into the procession. It is fighting its way toward leadership. The smug rich, content to keep things exactly as they used to be, have been pushed aside. A different type—a more essenially western type—is in the saddle.

The result is manifest on every side.

WHEN the Lewis and Clark exposition was held in 1905, Portland had only 90,000 population. It now has 350,000 or more. It has increased almost 100,000 since 1920.

It now has some 1,200 manufacturing plants, including the second largest furniture establishment in the United States.

Its plant for making bathing suits is a revelation. The girl in the red bathing suit pasted on the windows of so many automobiles in the East and elsewhere comes from this factory. It exports pretty much all the bathing suits America sends to other countries.

BUT the most phenomenal development has been the expansion in its port facilities and activities. Think of this: Exports through Portland have risen from 227,000 tons in 1918 to 1,800,000 in 1927, surely a national record. Again, only 82 foreign ships entered the harbor in 1920; last year, 295.

The vast agricultural hinterland is pouring more and more of its wheat and other products through this magnificent gateway, a gateway reached without the awkward, costly necessity of climbing over mountain tops.

Portland's port is an inspiring example of what man can do. Nature did not provide a ready-made deep-water port. It had to be created. It reminds one of what Los Angeles and Houston have accomplished in the same direction.

Did you know that Portland has been selected by the United States Army as its supply base in case of war—"in case of emergency," as it is now politely called? "Its location back from the ocean, but still having a harbor that can care for large ocean steamers and being a great railroad center, makes it the logical point for a depot," says the official announcement.

ONE significant development is the establishing of woolen plants. Sixty per cent of American wool is raised in Portland's "tributary territory." Just as the South has become a vital factor in cotton manufacturing, the Pacific aspires to become a great wool manufacturing country. More and more we are going to see heavy industries located near the main sources of raw materials, especially where cheap water transportation is available.

Similarly, there are springing up here and in Seattle many enterprises based on the lumber supply. Portland, for example, ships more than half a million doors a year—mostly to the United Kingdom. Window sash and frames, veneer, box shooks, barrel staves are other products rapidly growing in volume.

"There is adjacent to Portland," you are assured, "approximately one-third of all the standing timber in the United States. In Oregon alone it is estimated that there is 295,000,000,000 feet."

YES, this whole Pacific coast is an awakening giant.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The raw sugar market was easy early today, and although no sales were reported, sugars were available at concessions of 1-32c or on the basis of 4.19c.

Aside from a little steadiness at the start on covering and some buying for European account, raw sugar futures were easy under heavy March liquidation and continued hedge selling of the later positions. The market opened 1 point higher to 1 point lower, but soon weakened, and at midday showed net losses of 2 to 3 points on active positions. The continued liberal offerings in the spot market, even on declines seemed to have discouraged fresh commitments and led to the more or less general liquidation.

Business in refined sugar continued of a hand-to-mouth character, with the trade not inclined to buy very extensively in view of the lower prices for raws. Prices were unchanged at 5.70c for fine granulated.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 2 to 5 points. Some selling was reported on reports of rain or snow in the Southwest, but offerings were readily absorbed by a renewal of the recent covering movement, evidently promoted by relatively firm Liverpool cables.

Trading was comparatively quiet at the start, but became more active, the market selling up to 18.24c for May and 18.14c for October, or about 16 to 19 points net higher by the end of the first hour.

Private cables reported hedging and further liquidation had been absorbed by local buying and trade calling in the Liverpool market and moderate business in light cotton cloths for India, with improved demand for cotton yarns.

The advance extended to 18.29c for May and 18.19c for October later, making net gains of about 20 to 24 points. In addition to a renewal of covering some trade and commission house buying was reported, but the buying slackened somewhat at the higher figures, and prices eased off some 5 or 10 points from the best toward midday under realizing.

STOCKS HEAD DOWN AFTER UPTURN

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—The stock market following a brief upturn after the opening today, began to head downward, and various oil, motor, rubber and miscellaneous shares retreated into new low ground for the year. The early strength was based on buying of public utilities on the Senate's rejection of the Walsh proposal of a Senatorial investigation of superpower projects.

When prices began to slip, however, in many groups, more attention began to be paid to less favorable trade reports, as well as to the monetary outlook. The reported falling off in new buying of steel was an important factor, and traders again turned wary eyes toward the statement on brokers' loans, which will be issued after the close of the market. There were indications that the credit strings were being drawn a little tighter, and that banks were scrutinizing more searchingly the collateral offered for loans.

Pools which had been successful recently in pushing up their favorites, appeared to be backing away from offerings as a number of closely controlled issues showed recessions of 2 to 5 points. The general retreat was orderely, however, and confined to a point or so in most of the high-grade industrials, such as U. S. Steel and General Motors.

A drop of 9 points was recorded by Midland Steel Products preferred, and weakness involved some of the dividend paying railroads. Nickel Plate lost more than 3 points. Few of the earlier strong public utilities were able to retain their gains when the selling gathered force in other sections of the list.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Sharp advances and active buying both in wheat and corn took place early today, with wheat affected by a surprise upturn in Liverpool quotations. Unfavorable weather for the corn crop movement continued, and July corn jumped above $1, the first time since October for any future delivery. Opening ¼c to 2¼c up, wheat held near to initial figures. Corn started ⅝c to 1½ higher and displayed persistent strength. Oats were firmer. Provisions inclined downward.

At noon wheat was 2¼@2¾c net higher and corn at ¼@⅝c advance.

Buying in the wheat market today appeared to be based not only on an unexpected advance at Liverpool but also because of assertions that the market had gone stale on the bear side, and that higher prices were in order. Furthermore, advices at hand said weather in France was too wet and European crop prospects in general less favorable, with smaller shipments forecast from Argentina.

A big market was again under way in corn today, outside trade showing a decided increase. Emphasizing widespread notice adverse weather for the crop movement, practically no country offerings of immediate delivery corn were in evidence. Profit taking, however, around 99 cents for May and above $1.00 for July tended at times to bring about setbacks.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP.)—The bond market appeared to drift in an aimless manner today, with trading again in reduced volume. New offerings were not large and were reported quickly taken by dealers. Bond observers believed that little change in the market was likely until the development of some major influence, such as new financing by the government or a marked change in the money market.

Foreign issues were less active than in recent sessions. Finnish issues showed more resistance to selling, but continued to ease off. Italian and French liens were quiet.

Rather heavy offerings of Erie 5s and Chesapeake Corporation 5s appeared on the market, but recessions were small. Other rails and most of the public utility and industrial mortgages received little attention.

There was only nominal activity in federal government issues, prices of which were steady.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Senate Action Helps Utilities.

The Senate's resolution blocking the Congressional investigation of the public utilities as proposed by Senator Walsh of Montana, helped the utilities issues in the early market today. Prices of several of the high grade utilities moved up easily in the first hour, but the advance did not carry through all day. Uncertainty in other quarters dampened the enthusiasm created by the Senate's action. Sporadic selling of some of the high-priced specialties which have been the objects of bullish activity in the past several months brought about some rather sharp declines, but failure of the twin market leaders, Steel and General Motors, to break under the weight of offerings encouraged many of those long of the market to hold their position a while longer, at least. Oils went down a little further, but gave the appearance of having been wrung dry. Standard of New Jersey reached new low ground for many months. Reduction of low gravity mid-continent crude by Magnolia Petroleum, a Standard of New York subsidiary, accentuated the bleak outlook for the oil shares at the moment.

Richman Earnings Up.

Richman Bros. Company reports for 1927 net profits were $5,276,927 after all charges, compared with $3,893,932 for 1926.

Soil Pipe Advanced.

Universal Pipe and Radiator Company has reduced discounts on soil pipe from 72½ per cent to 60 per cent, which is equal to an advance of $12.50 a ton, making the new price $49 a ton, Birmingham.

B., R. & P. Net Slumps.

Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railway net income was only $1,277 for year ended December 31, 1927, as compared with $1,329,294 in 1926.

Cities Service Earnings.

Cities Service Company reports for year ended January 31, 1928, net income of $29,202,734 after interest and discount on debentures, but before reserves, as compared with net of $23,035,663 in the preceding 12 months. January net was $2,669,991, against $2,620,933 in January, 1927.

Mackay Shows $6.55 a share.

Mackay Companies report for year 1927 net income of $4,627,417 after charges, equal after preferred dividends to $6.55 a share on the 412,304 common shares, against $4,426,172 or $6.14 a common share in 1926.

Loading of revenue freight for the week ended February 4 totaled 926,294 cars, the American Railway Association announced. This was an increase of 23,872 cars over the preceding week, increases being reported in the total loading of all commodities. It was, however, a decrease of 39,169 cars under the same week in 1927, but an increase of 11,713 cars compared with the corresponding week two years ago. Miscellaneous freight loading totaled 319,924 cars, 8,347 cars under the corresponding week last year, but 2,347 cars above the same week in 1926. Coal loading amounted to 190,634 cars, a decrease of 38,440 cars under the same week in 1927, but 4,672 cars above the same period two years ago.

The Seminole area for 24 hours ended at 7 a. m. Wednesday produced 316,031 barrels of crude oil, against 319,274 barrels Tuesday and a peak of 527,400 barrels July 30, 1927. Yesterday's output was the lowest since April, 1927.

United States 1927 Exports.

Latin America and the Far East bought fewer American goods last year than in 1926, but this decline was much more than offset by increased sales to Canada, Africa and parts of Europe, the Commerce Department announced today. "Exports to Canada totaled $826,000,000—a value only slightly less than that of exports to the United Kingdom, which has always been our leading customer," the department said. "The increase of $97,000,000 over the previous year was chiefly the result of larger shipments of grains, automotive products and machinery. The United Kingdom, our largest export market, reduced its purchases from the United States $133,000,000, or 14 per cent, and exports to France and Italy declined 13 per cent and 16 per cent, respectively. Smaller shipments of cotton, meats, coal and gasoline were important contributing factors to these declines. On the other hand, most of the other leading European countries took larger quantities of our exports, the increase in shipments consigned to Germany alone amounted to $117,000,000, or 32 per cent. This gain in exports to Germany was attributable in part to larger purchases of cotton, copper and automotive products."

Utah Copper.

Utah Copper Company earned $9.68 a share in 1927 on profit of $15,740,764 compiled from quarterly reports. This compared with $15,357,028, or $9.45 a share in 1926. Fourth quarter profit was $4,212,735, or $2.59 a share. The Utah company is 96 per cent controlled by Kennecott.

Steel Price Situation.

Steel stocks were fairly well taken again today, but there was more nervousness evident than in yesterday's market. The improvement in the steel industry, according to one official, is due entirely to the decision of the corporation to advance prices a month ago. At that time there was little reason in actual demand for such action. The advance, however, along with the announcement therewith that gave indication of even higher schedules caused consumers to rush in to place orders ahead of time. There was further talk of a dividend on Bethlehem soon, but those most familiar with the affairs of the company expect no such development for several months.

Nickel Plate "Rights."

The Nickel Plate Railroad will issue 33,785 shares of common stock to be offered at par to common stockholders in ratio of one share of new for each nine shares held, also 33,785 shares of cumulative 6 per cent stock to be offered at 108 to common holders at ratio of one share of preferred for each nine shares of common held, all subject to approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Freeport Shows Big Gain.

Freeport Texas Company net profit was $3,825,001 for year ended November 30, 1927, after depreciation and tax reserve, against $1,800,040 the previous year. These earnings equaled $5.24 a share on 729,844 shares, against $2.48 a share in the previous year. For the quarter ended November 30 net income amounted to $1,121,685, or $1.54 a share, compared with $1,102,727, or $1.51 a share in the preceding quarter and $729,961, or $1 a share in the November, 1926, quarter.

Delaware and Hudson.

The report of Delaware and Hudson for the year of 1927 will show that for the first time in five years the road failed to earn its full year's dividend of $9. In 1926 the road earned net equal to $18.29 a share. For the first nine months of 1927 it showed net equal to only $2.98 a share.

Radio Corporation.

The forthcoming report of Radio Corporation of America for 1927 is expected to show a satisfactory year. The usual generous write-offs are looked for, and with these impending the financial district does not anticipate any immediate action on the junior shares.

Epic Battle in General Motors.

General Motors remained the battleground for the greatest fight between bulls and bears ever staged on the exchange. The run-in of shorts that has been promised several times recently again failed to materialize and there was no aggressive buying. The 1927 earnings statement of General Motors will be published tomorrow and is expected to show between $13 and $14 per share earned for the year. It is expected that the current quarter will prove to have been a highly profitable three months for the company.

Mathieson Profits Larger.

Mathieson Alkali Works net income for year 1927 was $1,832,916 after depreciation, depletion and federal taxes, equal after preferred dividend to $11.60 a share on 143,057 common shares, against $1,679,465 or $10.65 a share on 141,257 shares in 1926.

Farm Prices Above Last Year.

Farm prices on January 15 averaged the same as during December at 137, and 11 points higher than January a year ago, the Agriculture Department announced today. The figure is based on a pre-war index of 100. Thus the relative exchange value of farm prices at 137 and non-agricultural prices at 151, remains at 91. No material change is expected during the next month or two, the department said. The report showed that slightly higher prices for grains and apples were offset by lower prices for hogs and eggs. Other prices changed but little from those of December. Compared with prices a year ago, cotton, cattle, corn, barley, horses and apples were considerably higher, while prices for hogs, hay and potatoes were lower.

Guenther Law Enters Europe.

The Rudolph Guenther-Russell Law, Inc., financial advertising agency announces the completion of arrangements for an international advertising service, which, through correspondents in London and Paris, gives the agency representation in Great Britain and Europe, in addition to its present connections on the Pacific Coast and its branches in Chicago and Philadelphia. The growth in number of European investors in American securities in recent years and the interest aroused by the post-war volume of foreign borrowing in the American market necessitated this extension of the agency's services.

Royal Typewriter.

Royal Typewriter Company in 1927 earned $6.45 a common share, against $6.55 the previous year.

India Tire Reports Loss.

The India Tire and Rubber Company reports for the year 1927 net loss of $113,136, compared with net profits of $173,131 for 1926.

Baldwin at 29 Per Cent.

Philadelphia reports say Baldwin Locomotive Works is operating around 29 per cent of capacity, the same as in January. Company received orders for over 100 engines in December, but since then there has been a lull in buying. The work of removing the plant from Philadelphia to Eddystone is proceeding and will be completed in July. No plans have been made regarding the disposal of the Philadelphia property.

The privilege of depositing the stocks and bonds of the old Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul for the securities of the reorganized Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific expires today.

Pennzoil Acquires 125 Stations.

The Pennzoil Company, with headquarters in Oil City, Pa., has acquired a controlling interest in the Columbia Refining Company, operator of 125 gasoline stations in Northern Ohio. It is planned to spend more than $400,000 for extensions and improvements during 1928.

Beet Sugar Parley Flops.

Conferences which have been in progress between Great Western Sugar Company and representatives of beet farmers concerning provisions of 1928 beet sugar contract have been without an agreement. The company offered a minimum guarantee of $7 per ton of beets, which would be increased 49 to 50 cents a ton, depending upon the level of sugar prices. Farmers demanded 21 to 22 cents more than the company was willing to pay.

Local Steel Activity.

Steelmaking units in the Pittsburgh district are operating at fully 80 per cent and the average may reach 81 per cent shortly. Pittsburgh Steel Company has started two open-hearth furnaces at Monessen, making 10 of 12 active, and a Midland, Pa., interest expects to add one open-hearth this week, to make 8 out of 12 active, with probable addition of another later. The American Steel and Wire Company, at Donora, Pa., has all 12 open-hearths active.

Butterick Notes Offered.

Increase in the working capital of the Butterick Company will be effected through proceeds of $2,000,000 2-year 5 per cent notes being offered today by Halsey, Stuart & Co. at 99.50 interest, to yield 5.24 per cent.

January Pipe Line Deliveries.

Deliveries by 11 pipe lines of the Standard oil group in January amounted to 14,161,330 barrels, a decrease of 246,134 barrels from December. Runs from wells, exclusive of those of Prairie Pipe Line Company, were 1,443,311 barrels, a gain of 28,638 barrels. Daily average of deliveries was 456,817 barrels in January, against 474,446 in December, and runs from wells 33,461 barrels, against 33,608.

Copper Production Declines.

Production of copper in January by countries which furnish about 95 per cent of the world's output was 140,546 short tons, against 148,341 in December and 143,287 in January, 1927, the American Bureau of Metal Statistics reports.

Giannini Admits Negotiations.

That negotiations are now under way for the acquisition of a substantial interest in the Financial and Industrial Securities Corporation by the Giannini affiliated interests, was admitted today in New York by A. P. Giannini, president of Bancitaly Corporation. Whether the negotiations eventually meant an attempt to secure control of the Bank of America and merger later with Giannini institutions could not be learned, though this idea is scouted in well-informed quarters, where it is pointed out that the present stage of negotiations hardly warranted any such assumption. The Financial and Industrial Securities Corporation has substantial stockholdings in the Bank of America.

Magnolia Cuts Crude Oil.

Magnolia Petroleum Company has reduced mid-continent crude oil below 30 gravity to 75 cents a barrel; 30 to 30.9 gravity to 90 cents, and 31 to 31.9 gravity to $1.05. Previously Magnolia paid $1.05 for below 30 gravity, $1.14 for 30 to 30.9 and $1.19 for 31 to 31.9. All other grades are unchanged.

TRUMBULL TO O. K. MERGER TODAY

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 16.—Stockholders of the Trumbull Steel Company, at a special meeting today in Warren, are expected to ratify the proposed merger with the Republic Iron and Steel Company, though some opposition is expected to develop. Over 90 per cent of the Trumbull stock has been deposited for transfer, under the merger agreement.

Yesterday afternoon at Warren a suit was filed against directors of the Trumbull company and partners in Otis & Co., Cleveland, charging that $775,000 of the steel company's funds were wrongfully turned over to the brokerage company for stock manipulation.

The suit alleges the money was illegally appropriated, and "was subjected to undue risk, and that the action was for the purpose of misleading stockholders and to inspire confidence in steel company merger proposals."

BIG BOOST GIVEN COKE OUTPUT

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 16.—The Courier says: The resumption of another large operation of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, which increased the number of active furnace ovens to 1,118, was the principal factor in giving a boost of 4,690 tons to coke production last week. This was the largest gain in any single week since the advent of 1928, although the first week of the new year showed a gain of 3,760 tons, or but 930 tons short of last week's increase.

The estimated production of coke during the week ended Saturday, February 11, was 52,790 tons, divided between the two districts as follows: Connellsville, 16,150, an increase of 2,430 tons; Lower Connellsville, 27,350, an increase of 1,250 tons or a total increase of 4,690 tons, as compared with a net increase of 720 tons during the week preceding.

The market is quotable as follows:

Spot foundry	3.75@4.25

NAB OHIO ENGINEER AS AUTO KILLS CHILD

STEUBENVILLE, O., Feb. 16.—Harry Williams, 22, mining engineer, was held in jail here today on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Ruth Weinman, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Weinman, killed last night in front of her home by an automobile. Williams, it is alleged, took the child to a hospital and then disappeared. The girl died. After a six-hour search, Williams was arrested, and Miss Mary Blean, 28, said to have been with him, was detained in jail as a material witness. Williams is married.

STANDARD SAN. SELLS OFF

The advance in the Standard Plate Glass issues carried through to a new high mark in the eastern market today, but there was very little trading in the stocks on the Pittsburgh exchange.

Standard Plate prior preference shares came into the trading at 31 this morning, an advance of 6 points over the last previous price. A subsequent transaction was recorded at 32. Today's sales of the stock were the first recorded since the middle of last December, when it sold at 25. The common and preferred stocks both made new highs on the movement in New York, but each met selling and reacted from the best level. Current gossip in connection with the advance in the Standard Plates is that the company's labor troubles at Butler are clearing up. A rumor was heard that the striking employes had agreed to return to work at a reduced wage provided the company discharged the workers now employed. This, according to the rumor, the company refused to do, but the reported change in the strikers was construed nevertheless as a bullish item in regard to the stocks.

The general list here was a little hesitant. Standard Sanitary Manufacturing slipped back to a level more than 2 points under yesterday's high, while there was a further recession in Pittsburgh Plate Glass.

Arkansas Gas was down to within a small fraction of $8 a share as compared with a $10 level reached just prior to the announcement of the company's hook-up with the Cities Service interests in the Louisiana-Arkansas-Texas territory. Lone Star Gas was steady but very quiet.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—(AP.)—Trading on the curb market today was of a mixed character. A number of stocks became prominent because of pressure of heavy liquidation which might be connected with conditions in the money market. A large number of issues, however, held strong, the greatest importance being attached to the renewed accumulation of the public utility shares.

Puget Sound advanced about 4 points, American Gas and Electric rose over 3 points and Electric Bond and Share moved up over 2 points, while a number of other issues, including American Superpower, Electric Investors, United Gas Improvement and American Light and Traction were bid for in large volume at advances.

Deere & Co. had the widest range in the specialties, first advancing over 7 points and then dropping over 9. Firestone Tire, which was in supply at intervals yesterday, lost over 8 points before mid-day, bringing it down to 200. Pittsburgh Plate Glass, after showing strength in recent trading, dropped 4 points. Sparks-Withington continued strong, moving up about 2 points, and Auburn Motor advanced a point. St. Paul issues were in supply, declines being sustained in both classes of preferred stock and in the Adjustment 5s.

Prairie Pipe Line was the leading feature in the oil group, making a further gain of a point to a new high record above 211. This stock is understood in financial circles to have been acquired by the same interests that have long been active in Houston Oil. Stories of a split-up were in circulation, but did not come from official sources.

Bancitaly started with a gain of 2 points and then reacted, while Celanese rallied after a fractional loss. Continental Oil had a further decline of ¼ to ⅜, and Standard Oil of Indiana reached its previous low for the year on a fractional decline.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (000 omitted in sales column in bond list):

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Frances E. Roberts, who died one year ago today, February 16, 1927.

Many times our thoughts have wandered,
To a grave not far away,
Where we laid our dearly loved one
Just one year ago today;
A bit of grief, a shock severe
To us to part with one so dear.

Sadly missed by her husband, sons and daughter.

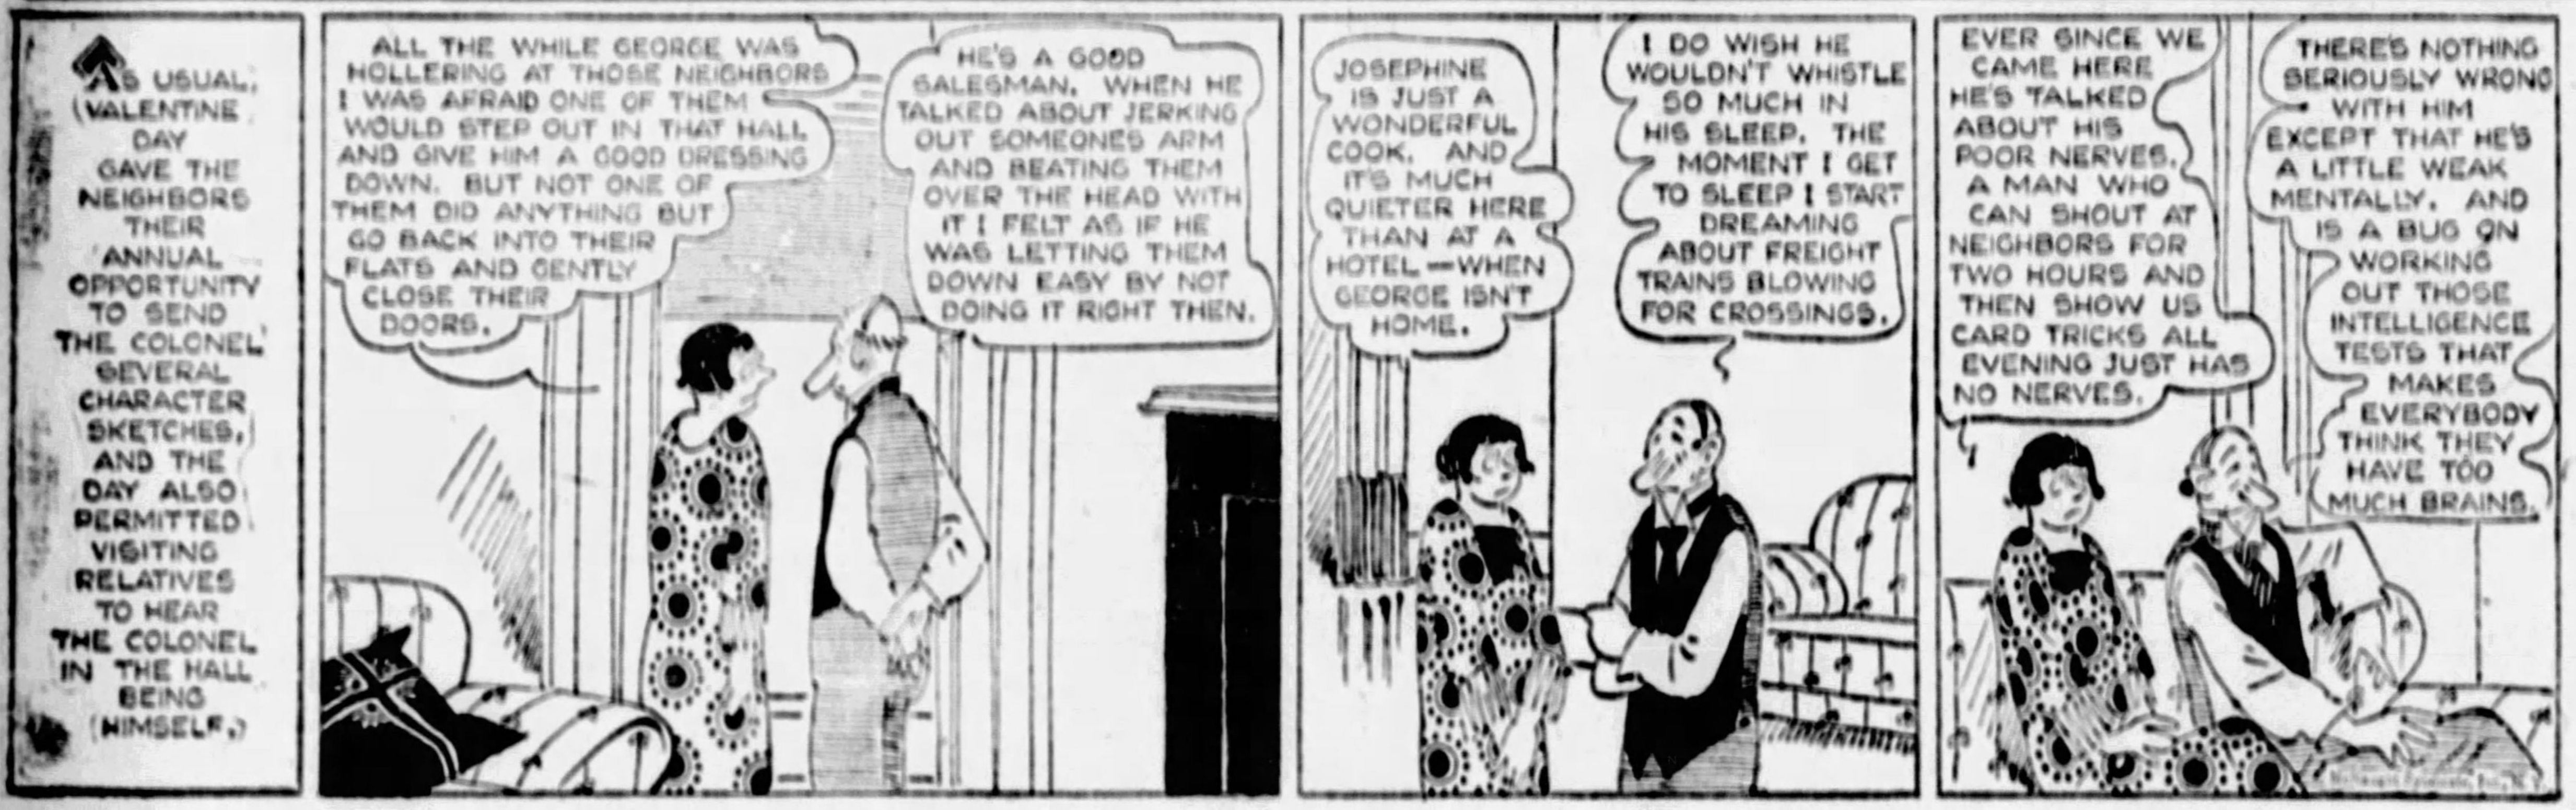
THE BUNGLE FAMILY . . . . Poor George and Josephine



AS USUAL, VALENTINE DAY GAVE THE NEIGHBORS THEIR ANNUAL OPPORTUNITY TO SEND THE COLONEL SEVERAL CHARACTER SKETCHES, AND THE DAY ALSO PERMITTED VISITING RELATIVES TO HEAR THE COLONEL IN THE HALL BEING HIMSELF.
ALL THE WHILE GEORGE WAS HOLLERING AT THOSE NEIGHBORS I WAS AFRAID ONE OF THEM WOULD STEP OUT IN THAT HALL AND GIVE HIM A GOOD DRESSING DOWN. BUT NOT ONE OF THEM DID ANYTHING BUT GO BACK INTO THEIR FLATS AND GENTLY CLOSE THEIR DOORS.
HE'S A GOOD SALESMAN. WHEN HE TALKED ABOUT JERKING OUT SOMEONES ARM AND BEATING THEM OVER THE HEAD WITH IT I FELT AS IF HE WAS LETTING THEM DOWN EASY BY NOT DOING IT RIGHT THEN.
JOSEPHINE IS JUST A WONDERFUL COOK, AND IT'S MUCH QUIETER HERE THAN AT A HOTEL—WHEN GEORGE ISN'T HOME.
I DO WISH HE WOULDN'T WHISTLE SO MUCH IN HIS SLEEP. THE MOMENT I GET TO SLEEP I START DREAMING ABOUT FREIGHT TRAINS BLOWING FOR CROSSINGS.
EVER SINCE WE CAME HERE HE'S TALKED ABOUT HIS POOR NERVES. A MAN WHO CAN SHOUT AT NEIGHBORS FOR TWO HOURS AND THEN SHOW US CARD TRICKS ALL EVENING JUST HAS NO NERVES.
THERE'S NOTHING SERIOUSLY WRONG WITH HIM EXCEPT THAT HE'S A LITTLE WEAK MENTALLY, AND IS A BUG ON WORKING OUT THOSE INTELLIGENCE TESTS THAT MAKES EVERYBODY THINK THEY HAVE TOO MUCH BRAINS.

Poor girls in Chicago are being offered a course at the Y. W. C. A. on how to attract men.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Dear F. N.—

Last evening I met an old school chum of mine from the hills of Kentucky. I invited him out to the house for dinner and during the course of the meal my wife asked him if he cared for some corn. Imagine my embarrassment when he passed his glass.

By MARCELINE d'ALROY

ON "GIVING HIM ENOUGH ROPE"

MAN is a creature of HABITS. Mostly BAD.
Yet, in spite of that, the MAJORITY of men are Quite HARMLESS.
In fact, if women only Realized it, the MORE bad Habits men are ALLOWED to Have at home in PEACE,
The TAMER they get, and
The less TROUBLE they cause
Outside.
After all, if a man WON'T
Come to his MEALS while They are HOT, evidently
He does not MIND them
Cold. If he wants to THROW
Ashes all over the place,
READ the paper at breakfast,
Eat CRACKERS in bed
At night, or drink buckets
Of black COFFEE all day,
LET HIM!
When WIVES COMPLAIN it is Not that they usually CARE
That he is RUINING his Digestion; it is That he is spoiling THEIR Pleasure. And men, being SELFISH, resent it knowingly.

THIS WAGGISH WORLD

by Roy K. Moulton

ARE YOU SUFFERING FROM PERSONALITY?

I HAVE just been reading a magazine artice on "Why Not Be a Personality Plus Engineer and Make Big Money?" Well, for one reason, we don't want to make any of that kind of big money and another reason is anything savoring of this stuff they call "personality" gives me a sharp triangular pain. It seems there are a lot of people who are suffering from personality minus.

WHILE fooling around for several days with doctors and hospitals and X-rays, I have been up against every kind of an examination except an examination for personality. I told the old family Doc, who has been escorting me through the mystic mazes of Aesculapean folderol, that he could go ahead and find out anything he wanted to about me and I would co-operate with him and try to get well unless he found me to be suffering from personality.

If any of the tests disclosed any traces of personality plus he could notify me at once and I would give up the battle.

A great many gentlemen have called at our town house trying to do us good, such men as plumbers, hydraulic experts, electrical engineers, etc., but as yet we have not received any card from Dr. Aloysious P. Hoopgarner, Personality Plus Expert.

If he does show up he will be shot before he gets up the front steps.

Personality is the one thing we have no use for. There is so much personality in our profession now that some of us may have to go to work for a living.

What I want is not personality, but "It" and I expect to learn about that from Madam Glyn.

THESE personality engineering conncerns send their specialists around nowadays to cure sick personality. For instance, the other day I was standing in the lobby of a large hotel and a man came to me and handed me a card and said: "I am the specialist sent for to come and put the personalities in your hotel on their feet. You will see by my card that I am the hotel specialist." The card read as follows:

Hornblower & Toot.
Personality Engineers.

"Well, my name is Mr. Snipe, now who shall I start on? Shall I start on you?"

"No, donn't start on me." Then he said, "Isn't your personality sick?"

"My personality never has been sick but it is rapidly becoming so."

"Well, may I ask you why you sent for me?"

"Yes, I think it would be a very good thing to ask. Go ahead and ask it."

"Why then did you send to a great concern like Hornblower & Toot to make a survey of your great hotel?"

"As a matter of fact, I did not send for Hornblower & Toot, either one, and don't care if I never see them."

"Well, well, isn't this your hotel?"

"No, this is not my hotel. As a matter of fact, I just came in to wait for a man."

"Well, psychology must be all wrong today, he said. "Do you happen to know who does own this hotel?"

"No," I replied, but that fat man over by the cigar stand may be the one. He looks kind of sick and as though he needed a shot of personality in the arm."

THE last I saw of Mr. Snipe he was lining up the bell hops, baggage men and clerks and giving them treatments and so far as I know the hotel is still running.

That is the only piece of personality engineering I have ever seen put into practice.

A British Gibe

American dramatic critics are noted for their devastating frankness. An alleged comedy was produced in New York a short time ago, and one criticism concluded:

"Laughter coming from the rear rows indicated that somebody was telling a joke back there."

Abnormality

The inspector was paying a hurried visit to a slightly overcrowded school.

"Any abnormal children in your class?" he inquired of one harassed-looking teacher.

"Yes," she replied, with knitted brow; "two of them have good manners."

Doubting Thomas

"Tommy, didn't your conscience tell you that you were doing wrong?"

"Yes, but I don't believe everything I hear."

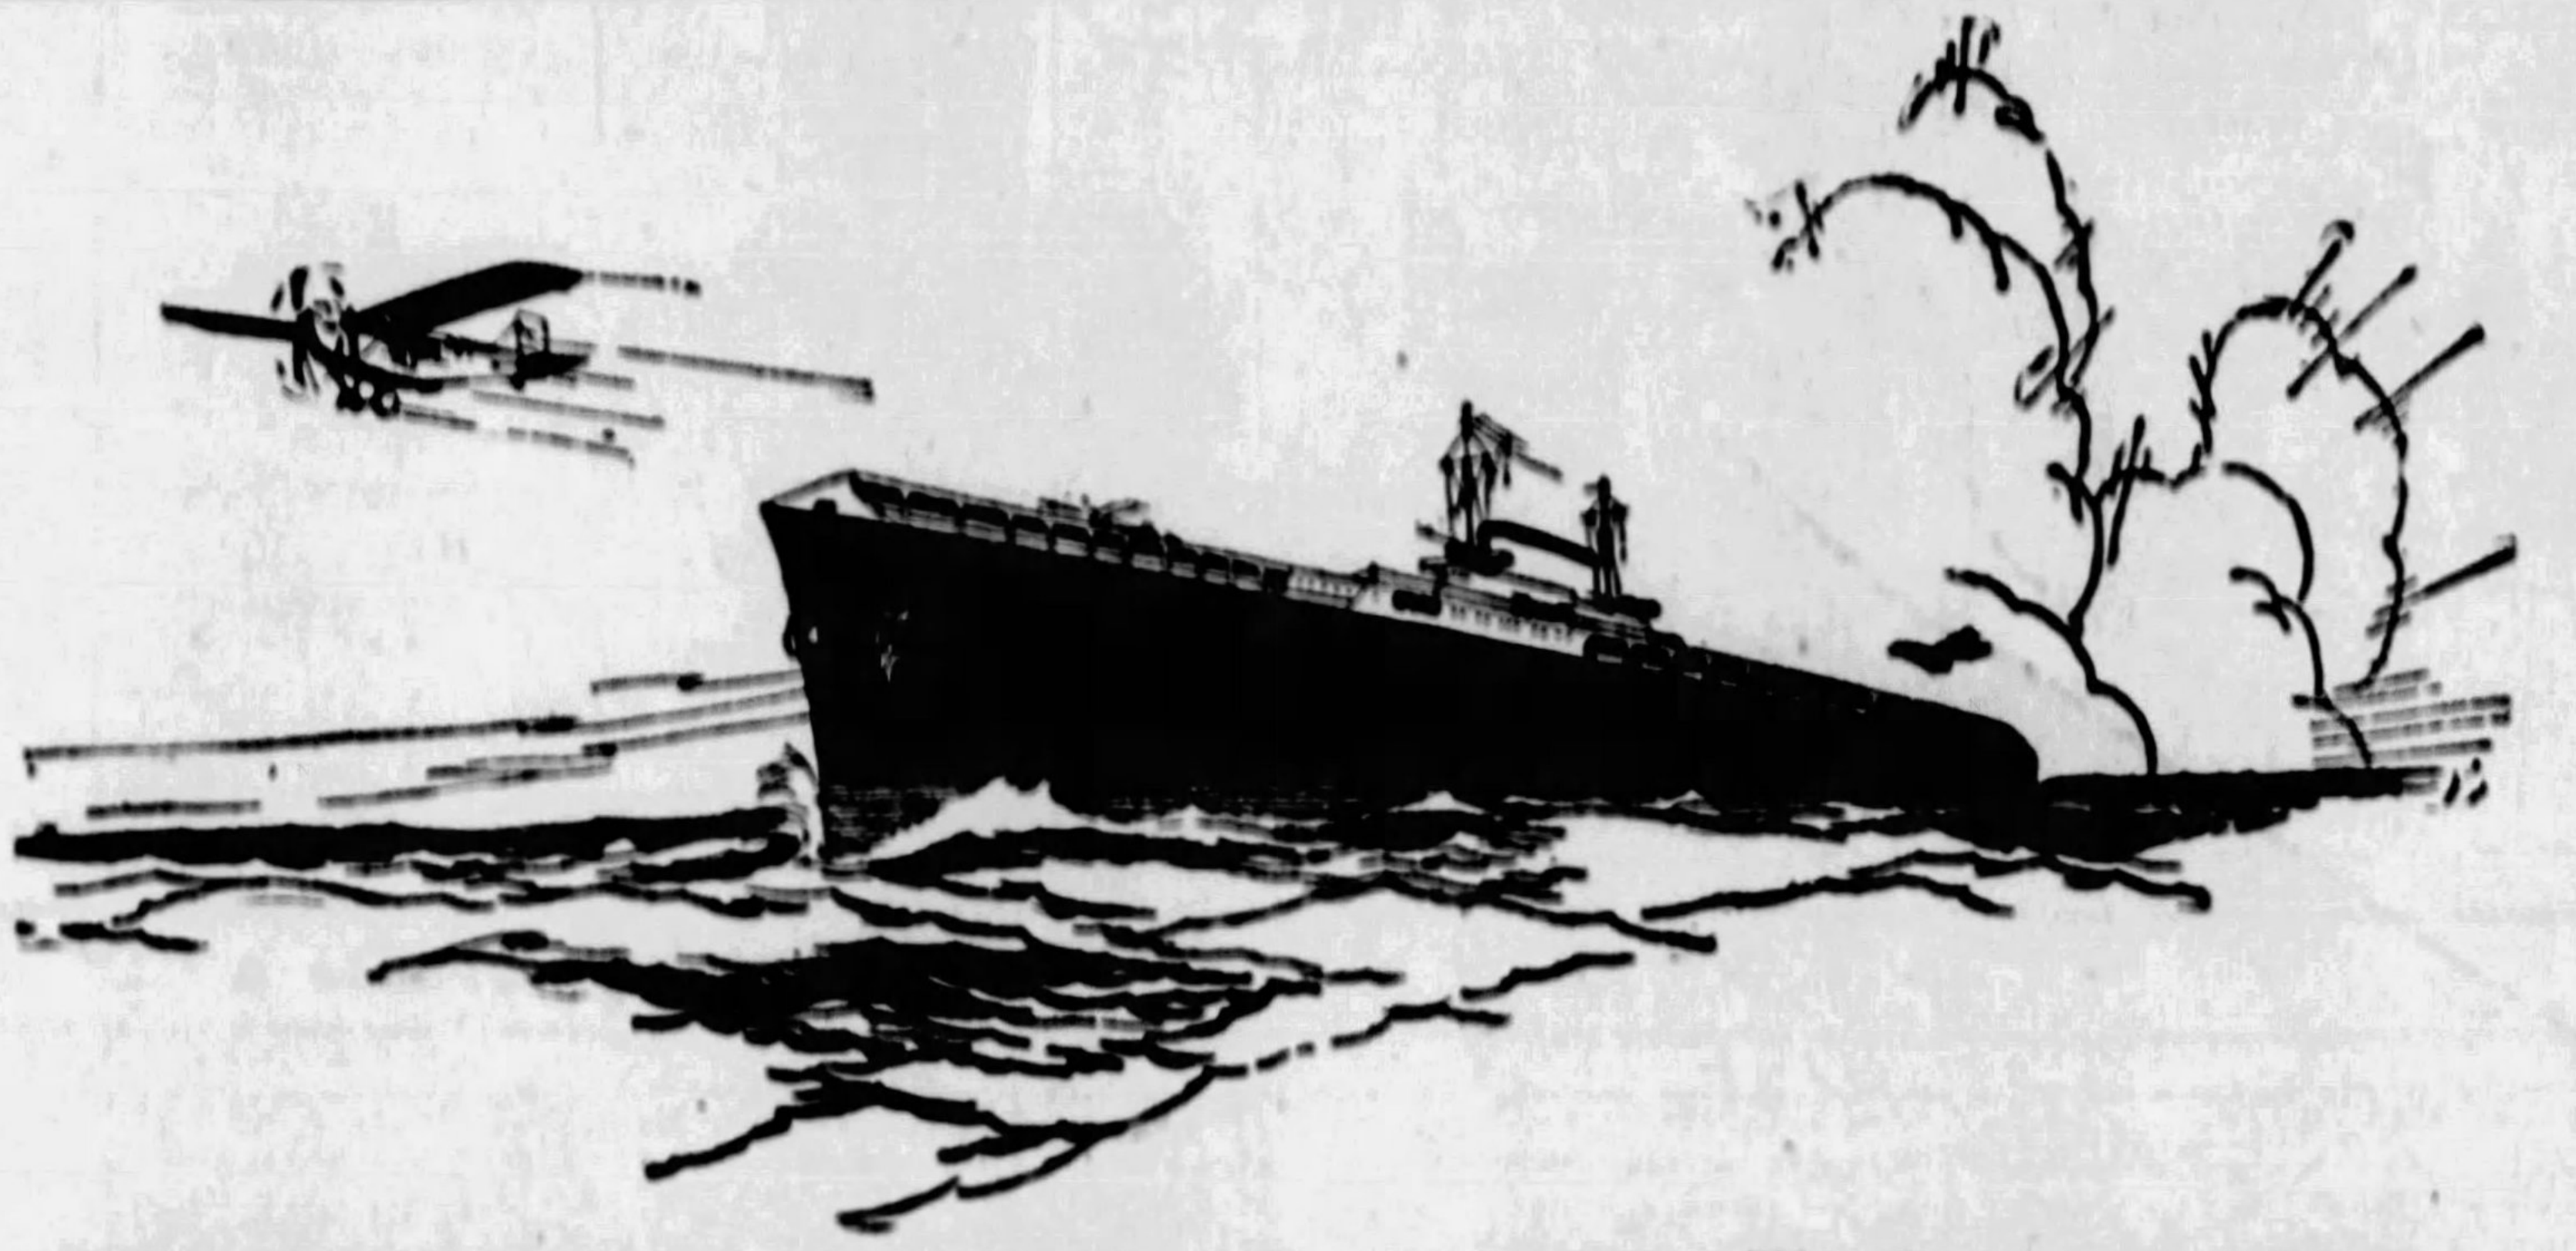
American Finance Ready to Aid Merchant Marine



Type of Fast Ship Proposed for Four-Day Service Between This Country and Europe.

SIX passenger vessels like the one pictured here are to be constructed by the Transoceanic Corporation of the United States under a plan submitted by the corporation to the Shipping Board last week.

The ships will be 35,000 tons each, will run between thirty-three and thirty-five knots an hour and make the passage across the Atlantic in four days, carrying eight hundred first-class passengers and a thousand tons of cargo.

There will be sailings every second day in each direction to and from Montauk Point or some other port in the vicinity of New York City, where special railroad trains can come alongside the ship.

Each ship is also an airplane carrier. Its uppermost deck is clear for the use of planes, like the Saratoga and Lexington, new airplane carriers of the Navy. Normally, each of these ships will carry twenty-four planes, but the number can be increased to one hundred in war time. The ships will thus be the most available kind of naval auxiliaries.

In regular commercial service, mail planes will supplement the steamship service, assuring three-day crossing for mail and for rush passengers.

An appealing feature about the plan is that it does not require a huge government subsidy. It asks for a loan of $94,500,,000 from the Shipping Board at the government rate of interest, covering three-fourths the cost of building the vessels. The government in return will get a first mortgage on the ships. Private capital is ready to put up $50,000,000 for the additional cost of building ships and terminals.

It is a plan that should get sympathetic consideration from the Shipping Board and from Congress.

It is a good and encouraging sign when American finance thus comes to the aid of the American Merchant Marine, without asking a huge subsidy, abolition of our seamen's law, or any other impossible condition.

Commodore Herbert Hartley, two weeks ago, resigned as commodore of the Shipping Board's United States lines, and as commander of its flagship, the Leviathan. He intended to go into the manufacturing business on shore. Now he is returning to shipping as chief operating official of the ships pictured here. He says:

"The dream of my life has come true. This means a declaration of our maritime independence. If I had been offered any other position connected with the sea I should not have accepted it."

The Shipping Board and Congress can not fail to be sympathetically inclined to the proposed loan, making—of course—proper provision that the ships shall belong to the naval reserve and that they shall not be sold from under the American flag.

Honest Elections Demand Heard by Commission

One thing developed at the hearing before the elections commission, made up of men from various parts of the state, held in the rooms of the Bar Association, is that the demand for honest elections is widely extended. Lawyers, educators and representatives of civic organizations made various suggestions to insure purity of the ballot, and pleas were made for the installation of voting machines at the earliest possible date.

An illuminating suggestion was made by State Senator Frank J. Harris. He reminded those within his hearing that the way to obtain election reform legislation was to elect legislators favorable to laws that would give the decent voter what he wanted.

There is much truth in what he says. Were the various crusaders for honest elections to unite in making a big fight for what they want, they might get it. Anyway, their chances would be better.

With Loan Limit Known, Let Project List Come

Now that the county bonding power has been made known through a report on the county debt and provisions made to care for it, furnished by County Controller Robert G. Woodside, based on findings of the accountants auditing the financial standing of the county, let preparations for county improvements go forward more rapidly.

It is shown that bonding power through county commissioners' initiative is at least $14,172,012, with a possibility of its being greater. The extent of borrowing capacity with consent of the voters is placed at $103,580,984.06.

This is a most satisfactory working margin, revealing the county to be in a good position as far as using its credit is concerned. It is the first result to show the wisdom of conducting an audit. Knowing exactly how we stand is much better than guessing.

Meanwhile, there are many citizens eager to know what improvements are to be listed in the voters' bond issue to be decided at the polls in April. The county commissioners are receiving suggestions from various "booster" organizations backing their own pet projects. Properly, they are proceeding cautiously, but it should be remembered that the voters at large should have plenty of time to consider matters of such importance. And April is not far away.

Family Doctor Again

Two eminent physicians have recently noted with appreciation the fact the general practitioner of medicine, once eclipsed by the drift into specialization, is coming back into favor.

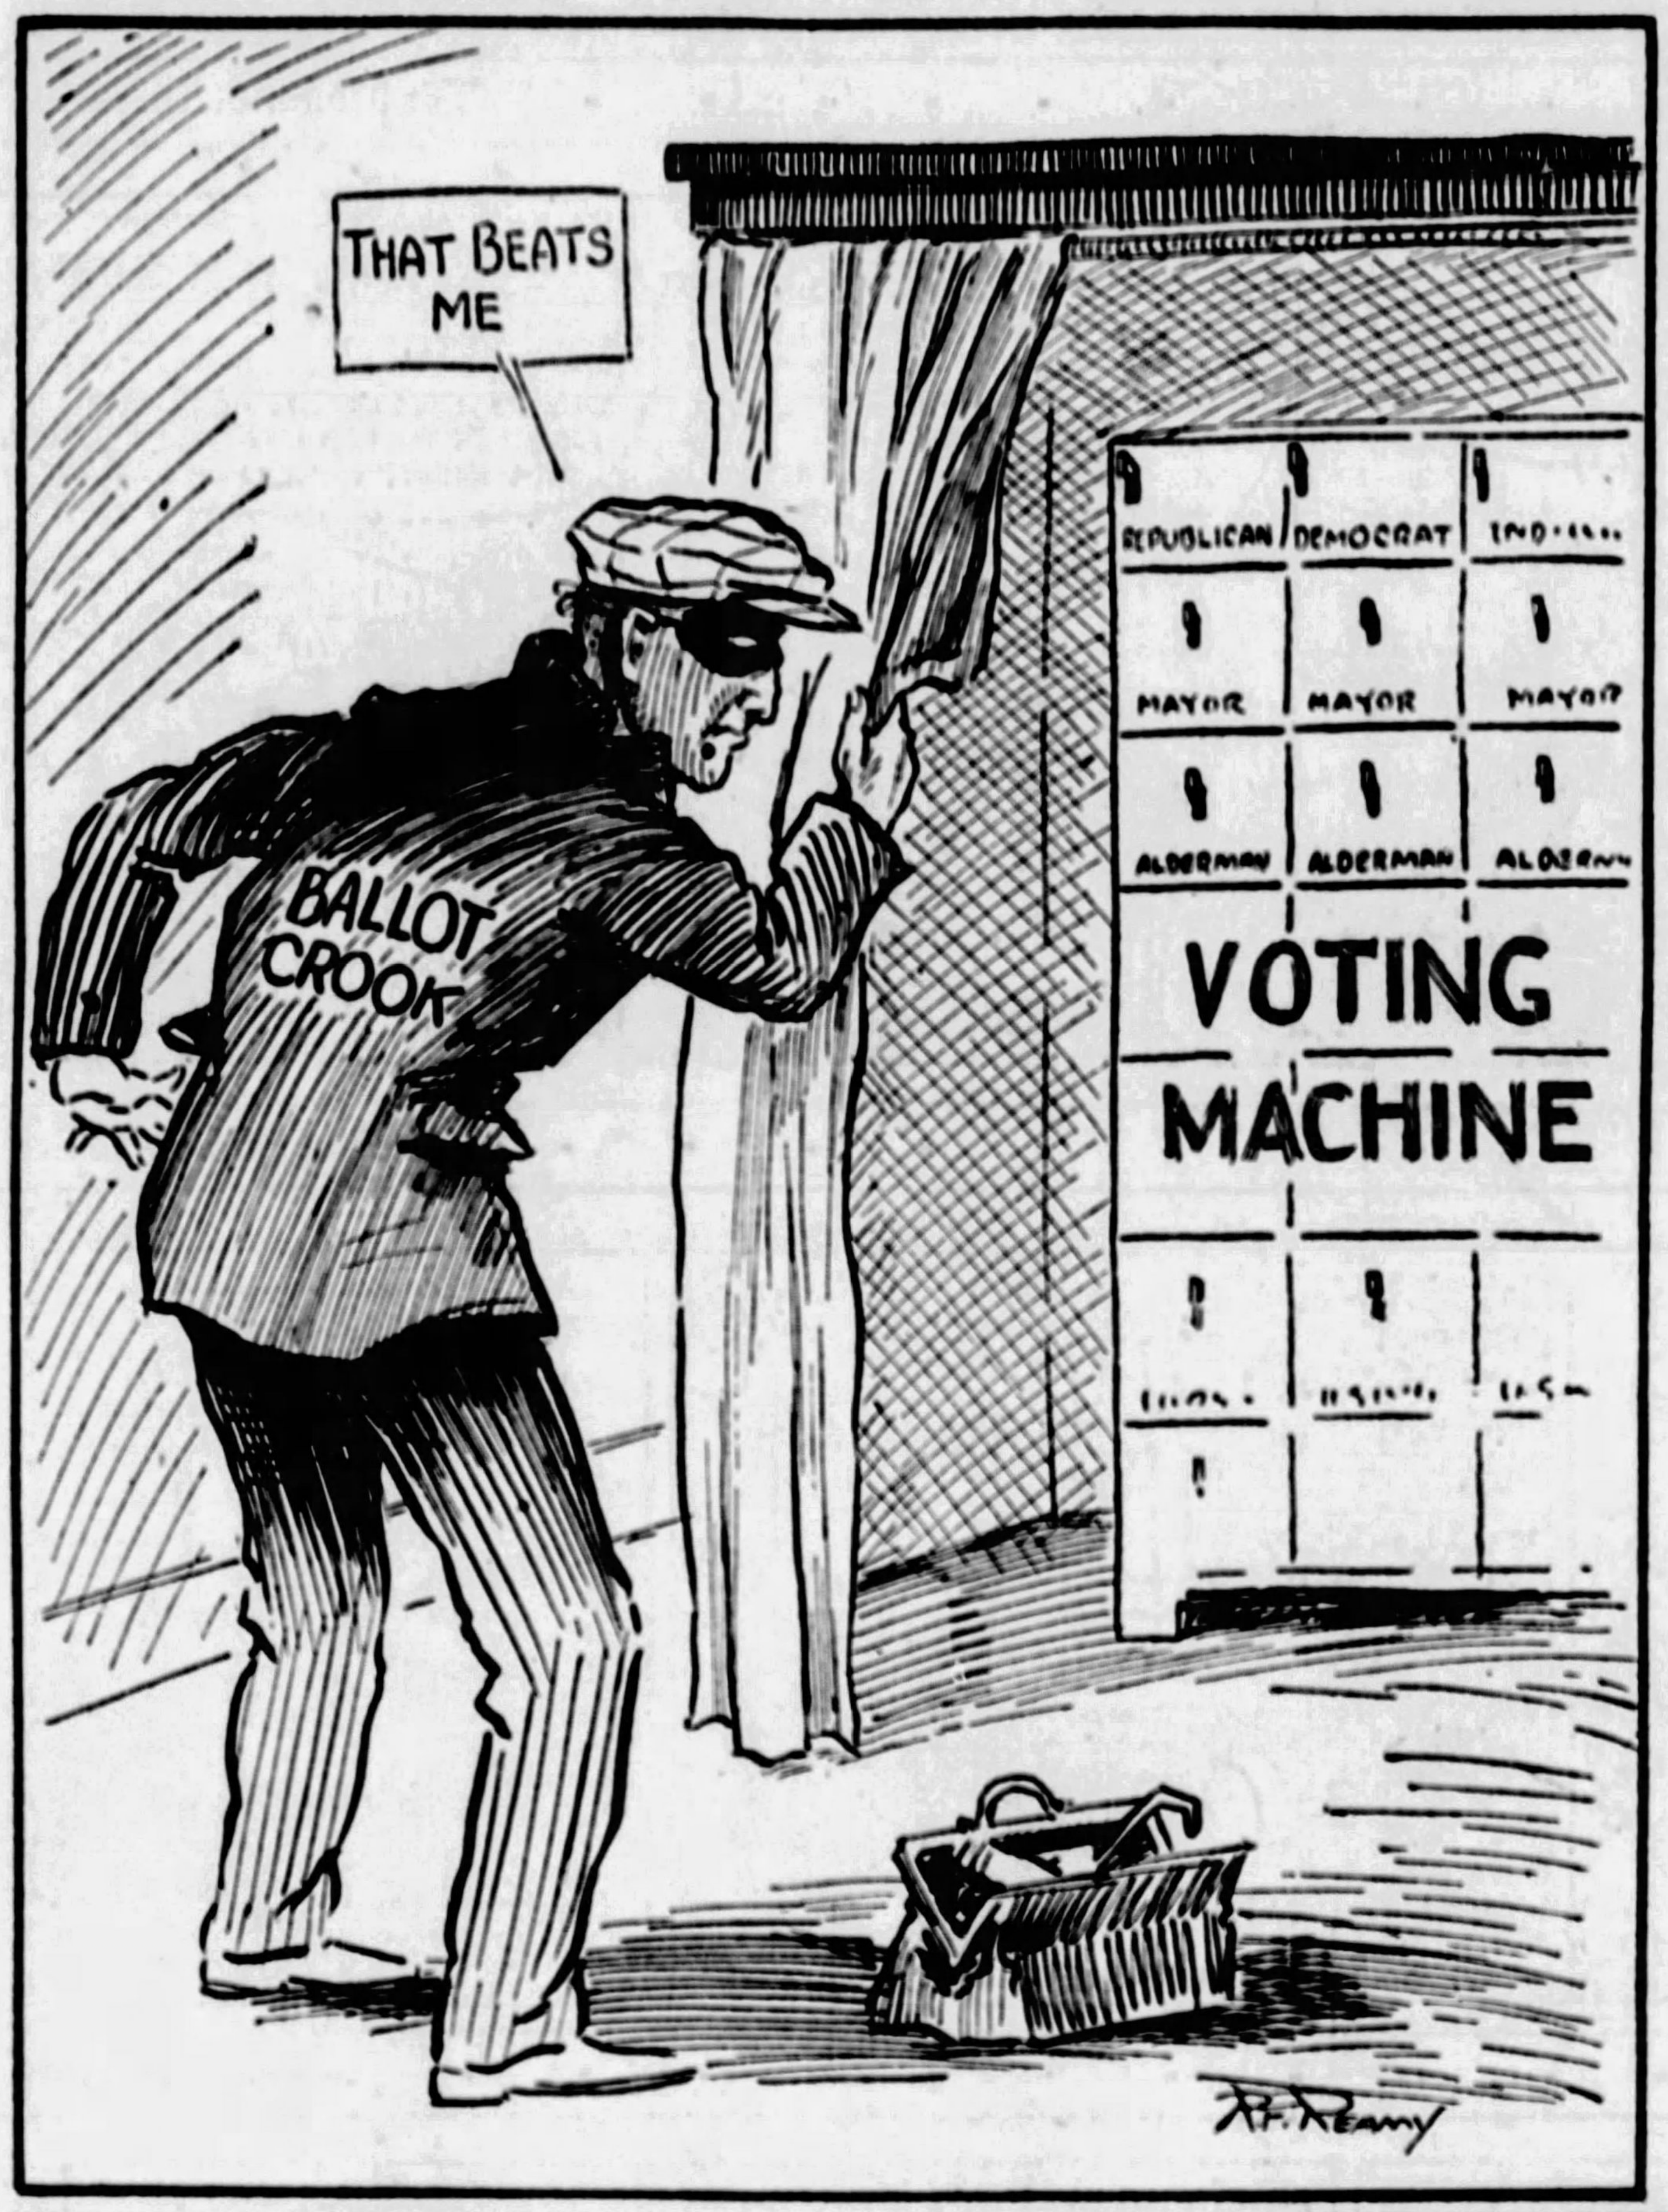
There will always be need of specialists. But since no part of the human organism is unrelated to the other part, and since a large proportion of the ailments of man are psychic as well as physical, we cannot spare the sympathetic family doctor.

He ushers our young into the world. He carries smilingly many of our worries. If doubtful of his own knowledge or skill in an emergency, his recommendation gives us confidence in the specialist. And when death enters the beloved circle, his role is more than that of the man of science; his heartbeats attune with our own.

He may not always have the latest jargon, contraptions or fads of his profession. But he is invaluable as a guide, philosopher, friend. He is a very present help in time of trouble.

Service so necessary is worthy of honor and reward. If the family doctor is coming back, it is a reason why the public should be congratulated.

THE WAY TO CONVINCE HIM



The Chambers of the South

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

"Which maketh Arcturus, Orion, Pleiades and the Chambers of the South."—Book of Job.

EVERY amateur astronomer, and many readers who do not count themselves among astronomers, must remember the astronomical adventures of Sir John Herschel in South Africa from 1834 to 1838, which resulted in not only great discoveries but in the awakening of wide popular interest and enthusiasm for astronomy. How deeply the imagination of the public was stirred is shown by the success of the celebrated "Moon Hoax," written and published in New York by Richard Adams Locke, a kind of ante-Jules-Verne romance, purporting to be based upon revelations made by Herschel's great telescope near the Cape of Good Hope. But the actual results of Herschel's "Cape observations" far exceeded in genuine and enduring interest anything that ingenious fiction could produce and astronomers still today read with delight the fascinating pages of which they are recorded.

In the "Southern Cross," the southern Milky Way," the strange "Magellanic Clouds," the gloom-hooded "Coal Sacks," the curious nebulae, the great star clusters, the remarkable variable stars, and hundreds of other celestial objects and wonders that he studied, he gave to the world its first scientific knowledge of the austral firmament.

Herschel went to South Africa, taking with him his father's "Twenty-foot" telescope, for the express purpose of completing the survey of the heavens which his father had begun in the northern hemisphere. The work was done with the thoroughness that characterized its doer in all of his activities. But, we are living in a later age, and science does not stand still. "These are the latter times, these are not better times," but they are times better endowed and presenting vastly widened opportunities. So it comes about that other astronomers are now going to South Africa for adventures supplemental to Herschel's and that may prove equally absorbing when they have been completed and told.

Conspicuous in this new austral invasion of the astronomers is the establishment of the South African Station of the Harvard Observatory. A permanent site for this has just been purchased covering the summit of a "kopje" near Maizelport, 14 miles from Bloemfontein. With three 60-inch telescopes—Herschel's "Twenty Foot" had a mirror only 18 inches in diameter—and with its other equipment it is said that this observatory, in the land of diamonds, will "house more operating telescopes than any astronomical plant in the world."

What would not Herschel have given for such an outfit 90 years ago!

The Milky Way, with its variable stars and its new stars, will be constantly photographed, in order to secure an uninterrupted record which, in the manner of a phonographic record, will enable astronomers in future years to reconstruct the past, and, as it were, to hear the songs sung by the morning stars at their birth. So observational astronomy marches on to continually increasing achievement, while its strong-winged sister of theory surveys the advancing column like a scouting plane.

While winter stalks down earth's

For I have little love of pageantries

Stand robed in splendor. So a

Size Not Important

IF you are a small man, don't try to assume an important air to offset your size physically.

If you are a big man don't try to bulldoze your way through the world in order to create the impression of importance.

In either case the offender becomes amusing as well as ridiculous.

Stature does not signify the measure of mentality.

The person who considers the man of small stature as inferior, is so small himself that the undersized man should not be annoyed by his opinions.

It is not necessary for the little man to do anything for the avowed purpose of making himself appear intellectually big.

If he is gifted with a good mind, knows his line of endeavor, he does not have to make special effort to present this fact.

The large man, with little more than his size to recommend him, will not get far on it.

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Big department stores have reduced shoplifting to the minimum. The heaviest losses are suffered by small specialty shops with few clerks and practically no protection. But the profession as a whole has become unprofitable.

There are no more celebrated shoplifters like Katy Adair, who was adroit enough to carry off entire bolts of silk or walk out with two expensive fur coats under the one she wore in. She played tag with the law for eight years before she was trapped.

Several large stores, aside from the sprinkling of private detectives, have hidden towers where an all-day vigil of customers goes on. A shoplifter is never arrested in the store. He or she can explain the stolen article was merely being carried until another purchase was made.

They are always tapped on the shoulder when they reach the sidewalk. Women who are strangers in a store and wear loose wraps are under constant surveillance, as are also women with capacious handbags. The greatest annoyance of the big store is the "lock in."

The "lock in" hides himself in some part of the store before it closes. He is then comparatively free to pillage all night and make the escape when the store fills with customers the next day. It is his job to avoid burglar alarms and night watchmen.

Big stores are targets for kleptomaniacs. Many of these are people of social and financial standing. If they are known, they are not molested, for their thefts are always immediately made good by those eager to save them from disgrace.

There was discovered in a New York suburban town a man whose wife had never been outside of their five-room cottage since they were married 11 years ago. "I just never cared to go out," was her explanation. Just a homebody.

* * *

And New York has many husbands who never leave their homes after they go there from work in the evenings. Not so long ago a feature writer discovered a man who had never seen Broadway lighted up at night. He lived only a 15-minutes' walk away.

* * *

It has been my observation that the longer a man lives in New York the less inclined he is to mix with the herd. The infinite variety stales. What once seemed high spots of gaiety become the lowlands of monotony. A seasoned old dramatic critic once told me the theater had the same depressing effect as a cemetery. He went to it night after night as one might go to a temporary inquisition. He got so he despised all actors. The people who love New York most are rarely seen in pleasure markets. They see the beauty in its magnificent progress and the stirring of its ambition. Their life outside their business affairs becomes almost as cloistered as the farmer's. And Broadway, the night clubs, the opera, the cafes and such become as alien to them as to the North Dakota plainsman. With only New York to support them, most of the gay places would perish in a few months, as you have probably heard.

* * *

"Quit this drivel and come over to Room 828. We are opening a box of tacks." That message which I put in quotes was written here during a temporary absence from my typewriter. All of which goes to show the privacy of New York, and how many temptations there are to lure the industrious from their work.

Mere curiosity drew me to Room 828. By the time I arrived six roysterers were grouped in a hyena-like semi-circle, singing "S'wonderful." And, as anyone knows when a group begins quartetting and sextetting, something has been opened besides tacks. They did insist upon me sharing rather generously of what they called a hyacinth cup. I don't know what it was, but I do know I have no inclination to work. In fact I feel as though I might be in love again.

Eternal Children

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Somebody said that a man has four ambitions: to plant a tree, to write a book, to build a house and to beget a son.

There is something peculiarly satisfying to a man when he has a son. It may be a survival of the old feeling that one must have an heir to inherit his estate.

In China they sometimes drown the girl babies because they do not want so many girls around, and prefer boys.

The affection between a man and his son is peculiarly tender. It is not the same kind of feeling that he has for his wife or for his daughter.

Somehow the son seems to carry on his own personality and when he looks at him he feels that his life has not been in vain.

A man at a banquet the other day got up and said:

"I am lonely. Nearly every man here tonight has his son with him. I have only the memory of mine."

Then he disclosed the fact that his son was somewhere in France either in an unmarked grave or lying unidentified near some wire fence or in a ditch.

The father wanted to go, but he was too old; they wanted young men. The son never came back.

It may be a faint consolation, but this boy has one advantage in that he will always be a boy.

We lose our children in two ways. They either die or grow up. In either case they separate from us.

The eternal children are the ones who die. They always linger in our memory as children. We expect to see them in the next world as children. They will always be children.

But those who grow up and develop their own personality and individuality swing away from us.

Perhaps after all the loneliest person is the one who has seen his loved ones grow away from him, rather than the one who has lost them by death.

The latter has them always with him in his memory, but to the former that memory is clouded by the reality.

Charm

THE Chicago doctor who told Philadelphia hairdressers that the entry of women into business had made them less neat and natty must have been seeing things not visible to the average eye.

Testifying for Pittsburgh, we may say that the typical woman in business is quite as spiffy in appearance as the most be-dolled idler—and a good deal more useful.
